1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Accounting Practices

The financial statements of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina (BCBSNC or the Company) have been prepared in conformity with accounting practices and procedures prescribed by the North Carolina Department of Insurance (NCDOI).

The NCDOI recognizes only Statutory Accounting Practices (SAP) prescribed or permitted by the State of North Carolina for determining and reporting the financial condition and results of operations of an insurance company, and for determining its solvency under the North Carolina Insurance laws, regulations and general administrative rules. The NCDOI has adopted the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' (NAIC) Accounting Practices and Procedures manual (NAIC SAP) as a component of prescribed or permitted practices by the State of North Carolina (NC SAP). There is no deviation from the NAIC SAP. There were no differences between the statutory practices prescribed or permitted by the State of North Carolina and those prescribed or permitted by NAIC SAP which would materially affect the statutory basis net income or surplus.

B. Use of Estimates in the Preparation of the Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with SAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. The Company uses estimates and assumptions based on analytical and/or actuarially accepted quantitative methods in determining contract reserves and claims incurred but not yet reported, valuation of pension and other benefit plans, deferred income taxes, fair value of investments, other-than-temporary investments, and other valuation accruals. Actual results could differ materially from those estimates.

C. Accounting Policies

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less and not restricted to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates fair value due to the short maturity of these assets.

BCBSNC maintains a general depository account into which certain subsidiaries and BCBSNC receipts are deposited and upon which disbursements are drawn. The net activity is netted with amounts receivable from subsidiaries in the Statements of Assets, Liabilities, Capital and Surplus.

Short-Term Investments

Short-term investments consist of readily marketable securities with maturities greater than three months but less than one year at the time of purchase. These investments are recorded at amortized cost.

Investments

Bonds rated 1 and 2 by the NAIC are stated at cost adjusted for amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts using the scientific amortization method. Bonds rated 3 through 6 are carried at the lower of amortized cost or fair value with the change recorded in capital and surplus, net of applicable taxes. Common stocks, excluding common stock of subsidiaries, are stated at the estimated market value provided by the Securities Valuation Office (SVO) of the NAIC or are based on quoted market prices. Estimated SVO market values are based on published quotations of the SVO. However, for certain investments for which the SVO does not provide a value, BCBSNC uses the amortized cost amount as its estimate of market value in accordance with prescribed guidance. Mortgage-backed and other asset-backed securities rated 1 and 2 by the NAIC are adjusted for unamortized premiums and discounts, which are amortized using the scientific method over the estimated remaining term of the securities, adjusted retrospectively for changes in anticipated prepayments. Prepayment assumptions are determined by using broker data. Common stocks of subsidiaries are stated in accordance with SSAP 97. The Company has no preferred stocks. The Company has no derivative instruments. The Company does not have any mortgage loans.

Realized gains and losses are included in income, net of tax and net unrealized gains and losses on securities are reflected in capital and surplus, net of tax. Realized gains and losses on investments sold are determined on the specific identification basis. Interest and dividend income is recorded on the accrual basis.

Declines in the fair value of invested assets below cost are compiled on a monthly basis and reviewed quarterly to assess whether any other-than-temporary impairment loss should be recorded. Various thresholds are used to identify those securities which are at the greatest risk of an other than temporary impairment. Impairment losses for declines in value of fixed income investments and equity securities below cost attributable to issuer-specific events are based upon all relevant facts and circumstances for each investment and are recognized when appropriate. Some, but not all, of the factors considered in evaluating financial condition are earnings trends, industry outlook, negative cash flows, profitability, capital, the length of time below book value, downgrade of debt ratings and asset quality which could lead to an other-than-temporary impairment of any security. U.S. Treasury securities with unrealized losses are deemed to be temporarily impaired, with unrealized losses due to interest rate changes and not due to credit related factors. For fixed income investments with unrealized losses due to market conditions or industry-related events and where no specific evidence of deterioration of the issuers' credit exists, if the Company does not intend to sell the fixed income security and management does not consider it to be more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before a market recovery or maturity, declines in value below amortized cost are not assumed to be other-than-temporary.

If any investment security experiences an other-than-temporary decline in fair value, a realized loss is recorded in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses. Fair value is determined by quoted market prices where available. For securities not actively traded, fair values are estimated using values obtained from independent pricing services or quoted market prices of comparable instruments. Management judgment is involved in evaluating whether a decline in an investment's fair value is other-than-temporary. The discovery of new information and the passage of time can change these judgments. Impairment judgments are revised when new information becomes known and any resulting impairment adjustments are made at that time.

For loan-backed or structured securities, factors considered by management in determining whether an other-than-temporary impairment exists include the Company's stated intent to not sell, the Company's ability to hold such investments until the fair value recovers, and the discounted cash flows of the security based on the yield at the date of acquisition. If the Company intends to sell or if the Company does not have the ability and intent to hold the security for a period of time sufficient to recover its amortized cost basis, an other-than-temporary impairment exists, and the security is written down to fair value with the amount of the write-down recorded as a realized loss. If the Company does not intend to sell the security and has the ability and intent to hold the security for a period of time sufficient to recover the amortized cost basis, the Company calculates the cash flows expected to be collected. In this calculation, the Company compares the present value of cash flows expected to be collected, discounted at the security's effective interest rate at date of purchase, to the amortized cost basis. If the present value of cash flows is less than the amortized cost basis, a realized loss is recorded for the difference. The present value of cash flows then becomes the new cost basis.

BCBSNC's investments in its wholly-owned unconsolidated subsidiaries are recorded at BCBSNC's equity, adjusted to statutory basis if applicable, plus the remaining unamortized goodwill balance in the underlying net assets, with the net income or losses of the subsidiaries recorded directly to unassigned surplus.

Real Estate and Electronic Data Processing Equipment

Real estate and electronic data processing (EDP) equipment and software are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and encumbrances. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets: 5 to 40 years for buildings and leasehold improvements and 3 years for data processing equipment.

Market values for real estate reported in Schedule A are based on recent appraisals. Property and equipment retired from use is classified as held for sale and is carried at the lower of its depreciated cost or fair value, less estimated costs to sell. The Company ceases depreciating these assets when they are classified as held for sale.

Revenue Recognition (Premium Income, Uncollected Premiums and Unearned Premiums)

Premiums written are earned over the period of coverage on a pro rata basis. Premiums billed to policyholders are recorded as uncollected premiums when the coverage period begins. Payments received in advance of coverage are recorded as premiums received in advance until earned. Delinquent uncollected premiums are charged directly to reserves and unassigned funds once delinquent for 30 days and 90 days for non-group and group subscribers, respectively.

The Company participates in the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program (FEHBP) with other Blue Cross Blue Shield plans. This program includes a fully-insured experience-rated contract, commonly known as the Federal Employee Program (FEP), between the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and Blue Cross Blue Shield Association (BCBSA), which acts as an agent for the participating Blue Cross Blue Shield plans. In addition, each participating plan, including the Company, executes a contract with BCBSA which obligates each participating plan to underwrite FEP benefits in its service area. Premium rates are developed by BCBSA and negotiated with OPM annually. These rates determine the funds that will be available to the participating Blue Cross Blue Shield plans to provide insurance to Federal employees that enroll with the Blue Cross Blue Shield FEP. The excess of gross premiums for the life of the program over the charges for the life of the program on an accrual basis is accounted for as a rate stabilization reserve (commonly referred to as the special reserve), as required by the contract between OPM and BCBSA. Each year, OPM also allocates a portion of the premiums to a contingency reserve which may be utilized by the participating plans in the event that annual premiums paid to the insurance carrier are insufficient or the rate stabilization reserve falls below certain levels prescribed by OPM. Premiums paid to the carrier and available to each participating Blue Cross Blue Shield plan, including the special reserve and the contingency reserve, are held at the U.S. Treasury, including amounts unused from prior periods. Any premiums that remain in the rate stabilization reserve upon termination of the BCBSA contract after the claims run-out and reimbursement of allowable administrative expenses would be returned to OPM for the benefit of the FEHBP. The FEP contract renews automatically each year unless written notice of termination is given by either party.

In accordance with the FEP contract, premium funds that exceed daily operating needs are held on behalf of the Company in letter of credit accounts at the U.S. Treasury to provide funding for claims, administrative expenses, and other charges to the contract. The Company, along with other Blue Cross Blue Shield plans who participate in the FEHBP contract, has an unrestricted right to draw funds being held in the U.S. Treasury, other than those allocated to the contingency reserve, for any valid claim or expense. If the balance of the special reserve is exhausted or falls below certain prescribed levels, OPM will transfer funds from the contingency reserve to the special reserve to the extent that funds are available in the contingency reserve. Amounts incurred in excess of the total reserves held at the U.S. Treasury for the FEP would not be reimbursed to the Company. Amounts incurred in excess of the total reserves held at the U.S. Treasury for the FEP would not be reimbursed to the Company. The unaudited amounts being held in the special reserve are $5,960,422,756 and $5,951,828,207 as of September 30, 2013 and December 31, 2012, respectively. The unaudited amounts being held in the contingency reserve are $9,270,691,177 and $8,110,074,831 as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

The Company has recorded its allocable share of the special reserve funds held in the U.S. Treasury as an asset, with an equivalent amount recorded as a rate stabilization reserve. These amounts are $7,625,904 and $6,783,957 as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively, and are included in assets and liabilities in the accompanying Statement of Assets, liabilities, Capital and Surplus. Additionally, the Company has recorded a mandatory statutory reserve for its FEP business. These amounts are $24,063,001 and $15,198,962 as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively, and are included in cash and liabilities in the accompanying Statement of Assets, liabilities, Capital and Surplus.

FEP represented approximately 58.2% and 90.3% of accounts receivable as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. FEP represented approximately 15.4%.and 16.6% of net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

The Company serves as a plan sponsor offering Medicare Part D prescription drug insurance coverage under a calendar year contract with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). Payments from CMS under this contract include amounts for premiums, risk corridor adjustments, reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies and prospective payments under the coverage gap discount program (CGDP).

The CMS contract is subject to audit and adjustments identified are recognized in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses as they are reviewed and agreed to by the Company. As of December 31, 2013, years 2007 through 2013 remain open to financial examination by CMS.

The payments received monthly from CMS and members represent amounts for providing prescription drug insurance coverage. The Company recognizes premium revenues for providing this insurance coverage ratably over the contract period for providing insurance coverage. Pharmacy benefit and administrative costs under the contract are expensed as incurred. As a result of the Medicare Part D product design, the Company incurs a disproportionate amount of benefit costs in the first half of the contract year compared with the last half of the contract year.

Funds received as “Reinsurance Payments” and “Low Income Subsidy (cost-sharing portion)” are accounted for as reimbursements (or advance payments) for uninsured claims under a partially uninsured plan in accordance with SSAP No. 47, and hence are not recognized as premiums. These funds are amounts paid by the Government for a portion of claims above the out-of-pocket threshold or relate to the prescription drug plan (PDP) payments for all or a portion of the deductible, the coinsurance and the co-payment amounts for low-income beneficiaries.

The Company’s CMS payment is subject to risk sharing through the Medicare Part D risk corridor provisions. The Company recognizes a risk sharing payable or receivable based on year-to-date activity. The risk corridor provisions compare costs targeted in the Company’s annual bid to actual prescription drug costs, limited to actual costs that would have been incurred under the standard coverage as defined by CMS. Variances exceeding certain thresholds may result in CMS making additional payments to the Company or require the Company to refund to CMS a portion of what was received. The Company estimates and recognizes an adjustment to premium revenues related to these risk corridor provisions based upon pharmacy claims experience to date as if the annual contract were to terminate at the end of the reporting period. Accordingly, this estimate provides no consideration to future pharmacy claims experience.

In addition, payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursement of prescription drug costs for which the Company is not at risk and is recorded as a payable when received. Reinsurance subsidies represent reimbursements for CMS’s portion of prescription drug costs which exceed the member’s out-of-pocket threshold, or the catastrophic coverage benefit level. Low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursement from CMS for all or a portion of the deductible, the coinsurance and co-payment amounts from the out-of-pocket threshold for low income beneficiaries. The Company recognizes risk sharing receivable or payable based on year to date activity. Monthly prospective payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies are based on assumptions submitted with the Company’s annual bid. This payable is reduced when reinsurance is utilized and subsidies are provided by the Company. This activity is accumulated and when the net balance for each contract is negative, it is recorded as a receivable. The Company does not recognize premium revenues or claims expense for these subsidies as the Company does not incur any risk with this part of the program.

A reconciliation and related settlement of the final risk sharing and low-income cost sharing and reinsurance subsidy amounts is performed following the end of the contract year. As of December 31, 2012, the net estimated risk sharing payable was ($48,229). The Company did not have a risk sharing payable at December 31, 2013. The net estimated subsidies receivable from CMS was $6,443,840 and $7,844,466 at December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. Any estimated receivables related to either the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in amounts receivable related to uninsured plans. Any estimated payables related to the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in liability for amounts held under uninsured plans.

Our Medicare Advantage premium revenues are subject to periodic adjustment under CMS' risk adjustment payment methodology. The CMS risk adjustment model provides higher per member payments for enrollees diagnosed with certain conditions and lower payments for enrollees who are healthier. The Company and other health care plans collect, capture, and submit available diagnosis data to CMS within prescribed deadlines. CMS uses submitted diagnosis codes, demographic information, and special statuses to determine the risk score for most Medicare Advantage beneficiaries. CMS also retroactively adjusts risk scores during the year based on additional data. In previous years, we did not believe we had the ability to estimate the value of this payment with sufficient accuracy to support an accrual. In working with our vendor, we concluded that this amount is reasonably estimable and probable such that it would be appropriate to record an accrual. The Company estimates risk adjustment revenues based upon the data submitted and expected to be submitted to CMS. The amount of the receivable is $58,950,000 and $0, at December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

Claims Payable

Claims and claims adjustment expenses are expensed as incurred. The claims unpaid liability includes management's estimate of the ultimate cost of the claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not yet reported.

The process of estimating reserves requires a high degree of judgment and a number of factors are taken into consideration. The Company actuarially estimates the liability for claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not reported based on the most current historical claims payment patterns, changes in number of members, changes in products and benefits, and estimates of health care trend changes (cost, utilization, and intensity of services). Management also estimates the amount of claims adjustment expense needed to settle claims by determining the total administrative cost incurred to process claims as a percentage of total insured claims expense and applying that percentage to total claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not yet reported.

Estimates for the claims unpaid liability are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur, and revisions are accordingly reflected in the hospital and medical expense line of the Statement of Revenue and Expenses in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. Changes in the medical cost trend and claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of claims unpaid and unpaid claims adjustment expense. These estimates may change as actuarial methods change or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based change. There have been no significant changes to our actuarial methods in the last two fiscal years.

Income Taxes

Effective January 1, 2012, the Company adopted SSAP No. 101, Income Taxes, as a replacement of SSAP No. 10R and SSAP No. 10. The cumulative effect of this change in accounting principle is $65,240,114 and is recorded as an adjustment to surplus.

The amount reported in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses as income tax expense represents an estimate of taxes due or refundable after computing the current year's tax return filing. This amount may also reflect impacts from prior years, which are properly reported through the Statement of Revenue and Expenses. Also, deferred income taxes are recorded for temporary differences between the admitted basis of assets and liabilities and the respective tax basis. The change in gross deferred income tax, excluding deferred taxes related to unrealized gains (losses) and additional minimum pension is reported as a separate component of surplus. Gross deferred income tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance if the Company determines it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the gross deferred tax assets will not be realized. Finally, as discussed in more detail below, the gross deferred tax asset is subject to an admissibility standard, which requires an annual computation of the admitted gross deferred tax asset. All computations are made on a separate company basis.

Adjusted deferred income tax assets are limited to (1) the amount of federal income taxes paid in prior years that can be recovered through loss carrybacks for existing temporary differences that reverse during a timeframe corresponding with IRS tax loss carryback provisions, not to exceed three years, plus (2) the lesser of the remaining gross deferred income tax assets expected to be realized within three years of the balance sheet date or 15% of capital and surplus (subject to certain limitations), excluding any net deferred income tax assets, electronic data processing equipment and operating software and any net positive goodwill, plus (3) the amount of remaining gross deferred income tax assets that can be offset against existing deferred income tax liabilities. The remaining deferred income tax assets in excess of the above are non-admitted. Deferred income taxes do not include amounts for state taxes.

Retirement Plans

During 2012, the NAIC issued SSAP No. 102 Accounting for Pensions, A Replacement of SSAP No. 89 and SSAP No. 92 Accounting for Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pensions, a Replacement of SSAP No. 14. Under these SSAPs, the statutory accounting standards will be similar to U.S. GAAP accounting standards. These SSAPs will require the pension and other postretirement benefit liabilities to include the unfunded projected benefit obligation and unfunded accumulated postretirement benefit obligation, respectively, including non-vested participants. These new requirements are effective January 1, 2013.

Certain events, such as changes in employee base and changes in actuarial assumptions, result in a change in the benefit obligation which results in a corresponding change in the gains and losses. The result of these events is amortized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income) over the average life expectancy (average working lifetime was used until June 30, 2013) of the participants, provided such amounts exceed thresholds which are based upon the benefit obligation or the value of plan assets. Plan amendments impact prior service cost and are amortized over the average remaining lifetime of all plan participants.

The measurement of benefit obligations and net periodic benefit expense (income) is based on estimates and assumptions approved by the Company's management. These valuations reflect the terms of the plans and use participant-specific information such as compensation, age and years of service, as well as certain assumptions, including estimates of discount rates, expected return on plan assets, rate of compensation increases and mortality rates.

The Company records expense for defined contribution plans for the Company's contribution when the employee renders service to the Company, essentially coinciding with the cash contributions to the plans. The expense is recorded as general administrative expense.

Risks and Uncertainties

Unfavorable economic conditions could materially and adversely affect our revenues and our results of operations. For example, high unemployment rates could cause lower enrollment or lower rates of renewal in our employer group plans. Unfavorable economic conditions could cause employers to stop offering certain health care coverage as an employee benefit or elect to offer this coverage on a voluntary, employee-funded basis as a means to reduce their operating costs. In addition, unfavorable economic conditions could adversely impact our ability to increase premiums or result in the cancellation by certain customers of our products and services. All of these could lead to a decrease in our membership levels and premium and fee revenues and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Our investment portfolio may suffer losses, which could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Market fluctuations could impair our profitability and capital position. Volatility in interest rates affects our interest income and the market value of our investments in debt securities of varying maturities, which comprise the vast majority of the fair value of our investments as of December 31, 2013.

We also allocate a proportion of our portfolio to equity and alternative investments, which are subject to greater volatility than fixed income investments. General economic conditions, stock market conditions, and many other factors beyond our control can materially and adversely affect the value of these investments and may result in investment losses.

There can be no assurance that our investments will produce total positive returns or that we will not sell investments at prices that are less than their carrying values. Changes in the value of our investment assets, as a result of interest rate fluctuations, changes in issuer financial conditions, illiquidity or otherwise, could have an adverse effect on our equity. In addition, if it became necessary for us to liquidate our investment portfolio on an accelerated basis, it could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations.

Substantially all of the Company's cash and cash equivalents are held in either deposits at financial institutions or in commercial paper with a high quality investment grade rating. Credit losses are not anticipated. All fixed income securities are rated investment grade at the time of purchase by nationally recognized rating agencies, and the credit ratings are continuously reviewed by management. The portfolio is diversified by limiting each individual non-government issuer concentration to no more than 5% of the portfolio.

The inability to bring a scalable and flexible information technology infrastructure to support and deliver on the current and anticipated future needs of the business in an efficient, cost effective and well-controlled manner could impact results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Topaz is intended to provide enrollment and claims-processing services, initially for the individual and small-group markets. A key goal of Topaz is increasing speed to market for new products and product enhancements. Completion of this project could favorably position the company to capture exchange-related business and other business from some of its national competition. However, execution risk is present and the cost of this initiative is substantial and may increase, while the business and operating cost-reduction benefits are unproven.

In addition, federal and state regulatory agencies may further restrict our ability to implement changes in premium rates or impose additional restrictions, under new or existing laws, such as minimum medical loss ratio requirements or restricted definitions of costs to be included when calculating medical loss ratios under such definitions. Our ability to secure sufficient premium rates, including regulatory approval for and implementation of such rates on a timely basis, may be restricted by changes in federal and state regulations or by the application of existing federal and state regulations. A limitation on our ability to increase or maintain our premium rates and more restrictive medical loss ratio requirements could adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

In addition, during a prolonged unfavorable economic environment, state and federal budgets could be materially and adversely affected, resulting in reduced reimbursements or payments for federal and state government health care coverage programs, including Medicare, Medicaid and CHIP. A reduction in state Medicaid reimbursement rates could be implemented retrospectively to payments already negotiated and/or received from the government and could indirectly affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. In addition, the state and federal budgetary pressures could cause the government to impose new or a higher level of taxes or assessments for our commercial programs, such as premium taxes on insurance companies and health maintenance organizations and surcharges or fees on select fee-for-service and capitated medical claims, and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

During 2010, the U.S. Congress passed and the President signed into law the health care reform. The health care reform legislation is far-reaching and is intended to expand access to health insurance coverage over time by increasing the eligibility thresholds for most state Medicaid programs and providing certain other individuals and small businesses with tax credits to subsidize a portion of the cost of health insurance coverage. The legislation includes a requirement that most individuals obtain health insurance coverage which began on January 1, 2014 and that most large employers offer coverage to their employees or they will be required to pay a financial penalty [note this employer requirement to offer and report coverage was delayed until January 1, 2015]. In addition, the new laws encompass certain new taxes and fees, including an excise tax on high premium insurance policies, an annual fee to fund comparative effectiveness research, limitations on the amount of compensation that is tax deductible and new fees on companies in our industry which may not be deductible for income tax purposes.

The legislation also imposes new regulations on the health insurance sector, including, but not limited to, guaranteed coverage requirements, prohibitions on some annual and all lifetime limits on amounts paid on behalf of or to our members, increased restrictions on rescinding coverage, establishment of minimum medical loss ratio requirements, a requirement to cover preventive services on a first dollar basis, the establishment of insurance exchanges and essential health benefit packages and greater limitations on how we price certain of our products. Some provisions of the health care reform legislation became effective in 2010, including those that bar health insurance companies from placing lifetime limits on insurance coverage, those related to the increased restrictions on rescinding coverage and those that extend coverage of dependents to the age of 26. Provisions related to the establishment of minimum medical loss ratios were effective for certain of our businesses in 2011. In 2012, requirements to include specific women's preventive care services at no cost share and the implementation of uniform summaries of benefits and coverage went into effect. Lastly, other significant changes, including the annual fees on health insurance companies, the excise tax on high premium insurance policies, the health insurance Exchanges (aka Marketplaces), the guaranteed coverage requirements and the requirement that individuals obtain coverage, become effective in 2014.

During the beginning of the initial annual enrollment period for Individual and Family Coverage that met the requirements of the health care reform, the Federally Facilitated Exchange had significant technical challenges that delayed or prevented some consumers from enrolling in coverage. As a result, the Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services made several last minute changes to the requirements and related timelines including changing monthly enrollment deadlines and payment dates for January 1, 2014 effective dates. Perhaps most significantly, the Administration announced a new transitional policy option for Individuals and Small Groups (who had coverage in effect as of October 1, 2013) that enabled them to keep their prior plan. As a result many members and groups were able to stay on their 2013 plan by renewing the coverage into 2014. The changes presented many operational challenges and forced Issuers to identify new solutions in order to offer these options to consumers. The announcement of the transition policy option was made after healthcare reform rates were filed and approved. Since these transition policies will retain a large portion of the healthier, medically underwritten pool, premiums in the health care reform pool are more likely to be inadequate. If the program is extended beyond 2014, rate increases in future years will be higher to cover higher expected costs in the health care reform pool. Moving forward, it is certainly possible that Issuers will see additional changes from CMS as we approach the end of open enrollment in March 2014.

Health care reform also presents a challenge to insurers with respect to cash flows. In the pre-health care reform environment, an insurer would collect almost all premiums in advance of paying claims. However, the health care reform has created new reimbursement timelines for insurers as government subsidies (which are comprising over 70% of on-Exchange premiums) are not paid until more than 20 days into the coverage month. In addition, health care reform-related reimbursement payments to insurers to offset higher-than-expected or higher-than-average risk are not made until the April following the coverage year.

The Company continues to face uncertainty impacting the health insurance industry with the ultimate implementation of key provisions of the Affordable Care Act, including the timing of when certain provisions become effective and legislative challenges proposed concerning targeted provisions or the law in totality. There is also uncertainty related to whether there will be adequate funding levels for certain programs and our ability to estimate the impact of these programs, which could impact our financial performance in future periods. The Company will continue to monitor any changes to the implementation requirements or timeline but at this point cannot estimate the ultimate impact of these changes, if any.

Contract Reserves

Contract reserves are established for policies where, because of the policy's design, future benefit costs increase because of factors which the plan cannot reflect in the premiums. The liability, established when a portion of the premium collected in years prior to the valuation date is meant to help pay for claim costs arising in later years, represents the present value of future benefits paid to or on behalf of policyholders and related expense less the present value of future net premiums. Contract reserves are actuarially estimated using methods that include assumptions such as interest rates, claim trends, persistency, and other assumptions based upon experience modified as necessary to reflect anticipated trends. The assumptions include a provision for possible unfavorable deviation. Contract reserves are established for Blue Advantage, NAIC Medicare Supplement, and individual Blue Options HSA products.

These estimates may change as actuarial methods and/or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based, change. The net level premium methodology is used. There were no significant changes to our actuarial methods in the last two fiscal years. Included in aggregate policy reserves are the contract reserves and unearned premiums on these policies. Aggregate policy reserves also include the liability for Federal Employee Program (FEP) rate stabilization reserve.

Estimates for contract reserves are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur. Changes to the valuation basis are reflected in capital and surplus in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. . Changes in the medical cost trend or in claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of contract reserves and would be recognized in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses. During 2013 and 2012, the Company adjusted contract reserves through capital and surplus by 27,769,220 and ($1,198,235), respectively, as a result of updated experience and a refinement of assumptions.

Pharmaceutical Rebate Receivables

The Company's pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) contracts with pharmaceutical manufacturers, some of whom provide rebates based on the use of the manufacturers products by the PBM for the Company's insured and self-funded customers. The Company accrues the rebates receivable monthly based on the terms of the applicable contracts. The PBM bills these rebates to the manufacturers on a quarterly basis. The Company is reimbursed primarily quarterly. The Company records the rebates attributable to insured customers as a reduction to claims and medical expense. The rebates attributable to self-funded customers are accrued as rebates receivable as well as a corresponding payable to self-funded customers in accordance with their contracts. Of these receivables, $28,872,566 and $39,195,461 at December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively, were nonadmitted because they were outstanding in excess of 90 days.

E. The Company had no net capital loss or net operating loss carryforwards. The following are income taxes incurred in the current and prior years that may be recouped in the event of future net losses:

	Ordinary	Capital	Total
Year-to-date 2013	(30,722,526)	15,183,442	(15,539,084)

F. The Company's federal income tax return is consolidated with the following entities:

ACS Benefit Services, Inc. (ACS)
Corium, LLC (Corium)
NobleHealth, Inc. (Noble)
Mosaic Group Services, LLC (Mosaic)

Current taxes are allocated among all affiliated companies based on a written tax sharing agreement. Allocation of taxes is made primarily on a separate return basis. Payment for losses and other tax items occurs once a company could have utilized the items in a separate return and the group has utilized the items in the consolidated return. This is referred to as the wait-and-see method. Inter-company balances are settled annually within two months of filing the consolidated return.

In November 2000, BCBSNC established the Blue Cross Blue Shield of North Carolina Foundation, formerly The North Carolina Health Foundation, (Foundation), a separate, independent, private, non-consolidated not-for-profit organization in North Carolina. The purpose of the Foundation is to provide financial support to improve the health and well being of North Carolinians. The Company received $550,754 and $449,898 from the Foundation for salaries and benefits related to certain BCBSNC employees that provide services to the Foundation for the years ended 2013 and 2012, respectively. In 2013, BCBSNC contributed $10,000,000 in appreciated securities and donated services of $557,997, which were included in operating expenses. In 2012, BCBSNC contributed $0 in appreciated securities and donated services of $557,997, which were included in operating expenses. The Foundation is not a subsidiary of BCBSNC and the financial results of the Foundation are not consolidated with the Company's financial statements. We have no current legal obligations for future commitments to the Foundation, nor are we responsible for losses that may emerge in the Foundation.

In December 2011, BCBSNC established Topaz Shared Services, LLC ("Topaz") as a partnership. Its purpose is to develop a technology-enabled and market-competitive business solution to address the individual and small group health insurance markets. The initial focus of Topaz will be the delivery of a shared technology solution based on The TriZetto Group's software for administering business in the retail marketplace, including individual (less than 65 years old) and small group (defined as up to 100 lives) health insurance products. This solution is anticipated to be expanded to serve all lines of business in the future. Additionally, Topaz may expand the scope of its service offering to include certain health plan operations, such as enrollment, billing, claims administration and other business process services.

Topaz is owned by Noble and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas City ("BCBSKC"). The initial capital contribution of Noble was $5,000,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The initial capital contribution of BCBSKC's subsidiary was $5,000,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The Company and BCBSKC are funding Topaz and its development of a software infrastructure. Once operational, the Company and BCBSKC will additionally become customers of Topaz.

During 2013 the Company and BCBSKC entered into discussions regarding the withdrawal of BCBSKC from Topaz as an owner and customer. These discussions culminated in a Settlement Letter Agreement and Release that became effective January 23, 2014. As a result of this transaction, Noble owns 100% of Topaz after closing. The Company intends to continue funding the development of Topaz.

Topaz is a variable interest entity because its capital contributions are not sufficient to fund the development of its software infrastructure. Funding sources other than capital contributions are required to accomplish this endeavor. Additional funding is in the form of investments in research and development. The Company anticipates it will recover these additional investments through reduced billings from Topaz when it becomes operational. The Company has concluded that it is not the primary beneficiary of Topaz, because it does not hold the power to direct the activities that most significantly impact Topaz, since it shares a voting interest on a 50% - 50% basis with BCBSKC. Accordingly, the investment in Topaz is accounted for as an equity method investment. Effective January 23, 2014, with the execution of the Settlement Letter Agreement, prospectively, Noble will consolidate the operations of Topaz based on its 100% ownership. The Company has evaluated this and it does not have a material effect on the operations of the Company.

As of December 31, 2013, the Company's total funding is $92,429,100 comprised of $11,789,260 of investments in equity, $68,186,945 of investments in research and development and $12,452,895 paid in 2011 for certain license agreements classified as expense. During 2013, an equity loss and research and development expense of $5,630,172 and $2,053,085 respectively, were recognized.

11. Debt

In November 2013, BCBSNC established a line of credit totaling $100,000,000 which will expire in December 2015 with an interest rate of LIBOR plus fifty basis points and an unused fee of ten basis points quarterly on the amount undrawn. During 2013, no amounts were drawn under this line of credit and at December 31, 2013 there were no amounts outstanding.

BCBSNC must maintain certain covenants including limits on indebtedness to capital, indebtedness to EBITDA, liens, and dispositions. As of December 31, 2013 the Company was in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements.

The Company does not have any reverse repurchase agreements.

A. FHLB (Federal Home Loan Bank) Agreements

The Company did not have any FHLB Agreements at December 31, 2013 and 2012.

12. Retirement Plans, Deferred Compensation, Post Employment Benefits and Compensated Absences and Other Postretirement Benefit Plans

A. Defined Benefit Plan

The Company has a non-contributory qualified defined benefit retirement plan covering a significant number of employees. No new participants are allowed into the plan. In addition, certain participants have no additional service accrual based on a defined contribution plan participation choice. The benefits are based on years of service and the employee's highest sixty consecutive months of earnings in the last one hundred and twenty months of employment.

The Company also provides non-contributory non-qualified defined benefit supplemental executive retirement plans (SERP) for certain executives. Two of the SERPs have benefits based on years of service, retirement age and certain final average pay calculations. Benefits are offset by benefits payable from other defined benefit retirement plans. An additional SERP has benefits based on years of service and individual agreements that generally require payment of a fixed monthly dollar amount for 15 years upon retirement.

BCBSNC provides certain healthcare and life insurance benefits for retired employees. Substantially all of BCBSNC's employees who reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 5 years of service may become eligible for healthcare insurance benefits. In addition, substantially all of those BCBSNC employees hired prior to January 1, 2006, who will reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 15 years of service may become eligible for both a Company subsidy of healthcare insurance costs and life insurance benefits. BCBSNC funds retiree healthcare benefits by making contributions to the Voluntary Employees Beneficiary Association (VEBA) administered by the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (Association). The Company did not make a contribution in 2012 and 2011 to fund the liability for eligible retire employees.

Effective December 31, 2013, the Company has elected to freeze the non-contributory qualified defined benefit plan and two associated non-qualified defined benefit SERPs which ceased all benefit accruals under the Plans as of this date. As a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit plan, a curtailment was triggered and a remeasurement of the qualified pension obligations and plan assets occurred as of June 30, 2013. As of the remeasurement, the plan assets had increased in value from the prior measurement date resulting in an increase in the funded status of the plan of $58,595,458. Additionally, the curtailment impact reduced the projected benefit obligation by $86,836,489. Also as a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit pension plan, the amortization period for actuarial gains and losses was changed from the average working life to the average remaining life expectancy of all participants.

In June 2013, the Company offered an Early Retirement Window (ERW) to eligible employees who, as of December 31, 2013 are age 52 or older with ten years of service, and with an age plus years of service of at least 75 years. If eligible participants elect to retire at predefined phases in 2014, the ERW provides additional years of service toward eligibility for Company subsidized insurance benefits, additional years of service for pension benefit calculation purposes, and enhanced early retirement factors which, depending on the participant's age, provides a benefit that is unreduced or subject to smaller reductions. The same benefits were provided to eligible participants who retired or notified the Company that they intend to retire, in 2013 prior to the window announcement. The ERW enhancements were considered special termination benefits and they will increase the actuarially determined benefit obligation for the qualified retirement benefit plan and the postretirement benefit plan by an estimated $25,004,314 and $3,200,000, respectively.

A summary of assets, obligations and assumptions of the Retirement and Other Postretirement Plans, are as follows at December 31, 2013 and 2012:

In 2013 and 2012, BCBSNC recognized the amortization of the cumulative net loss from past experience as measured by comparing the expected position of the plan at year-end (based on the beginning of the year actuarial assumptions and prior year census data) to the actual position of the plan at year-end (based on the end of year actuarial assumptions and current year census data), prior to recognizing any plan provision changes. The loss is amortized over the average remaining service period of active plan participants for retirement benefits and the average remaining life-time for all participants for other postemployment benefits.

(6) BCBSNC has a minimum pension liability recorded as of December 31, 2012 in the amount of $19,335,599; with the adoption of SSAP 102, the concept of an additional minimum liability has been eliminated at transition, and replaced with additional pension liability. As of December 31, 2013, BCBSNC recorded additional liability for pension benefits income in the amount of $85,206,550 as well as a reversal of the minimum pension liability of $19,335,599. As of December 31, 2012, the minimum pension liability is measured as the amount of the plan's unfunded accumulated benefit obligation that is in excess of the plan's accrued pension. The qualified liability decreased at December 31, 2012 as a result of strong asset performance during 2012. The nonqualified liability increase at December 31, 2012 resulted from dropping discount rates. These rates are used to set the assumed interest rate for valuing liabilities. These events resulted in charges being recorded to accumulated capital net of income tax as a component of surplus in the amount of ($55,384,257) and $12,568,139 during 2013, and $9,146,425 during 2012.

(7) The following table presents assumptions used in determining the actuarial present value of the benefit obligation and the subsequent year's net periodic benefit cost for the qualified, non-qualified and other postretirement plans:

	Qualified		Non Qualified		Other Postretirement
	2013	2012	2013	2012	2013	2012
Discount Rate	4.85%	4.24%	See detail below	See detail below	4.71%	4.11%
Rate of Compensation Increase	n/a	4.00%	n/a	4.00%	4.00%	4.00%
Expected long-term rate of return on plan assets	7.00%	7.50%	n/a	n/a	5.50%	5.50%

Discount Rate for Non Qualified

Nonqualified:	2013	2012
Senior SERP	3.32%	2.52%
Partners SERP	4.43%	3.61%
Restoration SERP	4.70%	3.94%

As a result of the change in Actuarial Consultants, the Company has elected to move to the Mercer Yield Curve in place of the Aon Hewitt AA Only Universe Yield Curve. The Company will use separate discount rates for the different benefit plans as well as no rounding of discount rates, for consistency with industry trends. The expected future cash flows underlying the benefit obligations are discounted by the rate on the yield curve corresponding to the cash flow duration. The single discount rate that would yield the same present value as the sum of the discounted cash flows is determined. As of December 31, 2013 and 2012, the combined duration of all plans was 14 years and 18 years, respectively. The nonqualified pension plans have shorter durations than the qualified pension plan and the other postretirement benefit plans.

To set the expected return on plan assets for the qualified pension plan, the Company projects returns on each asset class using historical return relationships and making adjustments as necessary, given current market and economic conditions. The projected returns are then applied to the portfolio target asset allocation weightings and result in a projected long-term portfolio rate of return.

(8) A measurement date of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively, was used for the benefit plans.

(9) The medical trend rate used in determining the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation at December 31:

Health care cost trend rate assumed for next year:
Under age 65	8.0%	9.5%
Age 65 and older	8.0%	8.0%
Rate to which the cost trend rate is assumed to decline (the ultimate trend rate)	4.5%	5.0%
Year that the rate reaches the ultimate trend rate:
Under age 65	2027	2020
Age 65 and older	2027	2019

The above trend rates were used for the PPO plan options. Different rates were used for some post-65 plan options to better model gross costs and expected government subsidies.

(10) Health care cost trend rate assumptions can have a significant effect on the amounts reported for the Retiree Medical Benefits Plan. A one-percentage-point change in assumed health care cost trend rates would have the following effects:

	1-Percentage Point Increase	1-Percentage Point Decrease
Effect on total of service and interest cost components	$409,240	$(315,970)
Effect on postretirement benefit obligation	$3,837,707	$(3,138,828)

(11) BCBSNC's plan weighted-average asset allocations at December 31, by asset category, are as follows:

The BCBSNC Retirement Plan (Plan) was frozen effective December 31, 2013. The Plan investment strategy has switched from total return to liability matching. The Plans funding ratio exceeded 100% at year end and approximately 50% of the portfolio will be transitioned to a liability driven investment strategy (LDI) in 2014. As the Plans funding ratio grows more investments will be allocated to the LDI strategy.

The Plans investments remain diversified and of high quality. At year end the Plan had investments in funds invested in fixed income, domestic & international equities, real estate, commodities and timber.

The investment fiduciary for the VEBA employs a total return investment approach whereby a mix of equities, fixed income and other investments is used to maximize the long-term return of plan assets for a prudent level of risk. The investment portfolio contains a diversified blend of equity, fixed income and other investments. Investment risk is measured and monitored on an ongoing basis through investment portfolio reviews, annual liability measurements, and periodic asset/liability studies.

The mutual fund investment strategy for the VEBA is market sensitive while remaining consistent with the risk tolerance, tax status, and cash flow requirements. Fund strategies include pursuing and capitalizing on market inefficiencies using duration, yield curve, security selection, geographic concentration, sector and state allocation. Security selection, geographic concentration and sector decisions are based on relative attractiveness, using inputs such as historical spread relationships, the value of state tax exemptions, state/regional economic outlooks, credit outlooks and supply and demand.

B. Defined Contribution Plans

BCBSNC has two defined contribution retirement plans qualified under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code, the BCBSNC Retirement Savings Plan and the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan (401(k) Plan). Eligible employees hired after December 31, 2005 may only participate in the 401(k) Plan. Eligible BCBSNC employees hired prior to December 31, 2005 and participating in the Retirement Savings plan were given the option to remain in that plan or enroll in the 401(k) Plan. Each plan is nondiscriminatory. Participant pretax and Roth contributions are matched at the rate of 50% of the first 6% of compensation or 100% of the first 6% of compensation, depending upon the plan, subject to certain limitations. Under the 401(k) Plan, a profit sharing contribution is made by the Company in an amount equal to 3% of eligible compensation. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $19,063,127 and $16,724,993 for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

In connection with the redesign of the Company's retirement plans, the Retirement Savings Plan will be merged with the redesigned BCBSNC 401(k) Plan effective December 31, 2013. The newly designed 401(k) will be amended to include a new safe harbor matching contribution formula of 100% of the first 4% and 50% of the next 2% of compensation contributed, subject to certain limitations. A profit sharing contribution will be made by the Company in an amount equaling 2% to 5% of eligible compensation, based on the employee's years of service with the Company. Additionally, eligible employees who were participating in the defined benefit pension plan as of December 31, 2013 are also eligible to receive a non-elective contribution ranging from 1% to 8% of eligible compensation for up to 10 years, based on the employee's total years of service with the Company and based on their defined contribution plan participation choice.

The Company also maintains the Restoration Plan, a non-qualified defined contribution plan, to ensure that designated participants receive the full amount of benefits to which they would have been entitled under the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan except for limits on compensation imposed by the Internal Revenue Service. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $560,400 and $514,151 for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

The Company maintains a rabbi trust to account for assets and liabilities under certain of the Company's deferred compensation plan. Certain BCBSNC employees are allowed to defer a portion of their compensation until a future date. The Plan was amended in 2011 to exclude all deferrals through 2012. The deferrals are included in investments with an equal offsetting liability included in accrued other retirement benefits. The value of assets accounted for in the rabbi trust are $2,242,535 and $3,452,689 at December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. In addition, the Company has an arrangement for the Board of Trustees which provide for the deferral of a portion of their compensation until a future date. This deferred compensation arrangement is not included in the assets and liabilities of the rabbi trust. The National Organization of Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Associations (NOLHGA) is a voluntary organization consisting of the state life and health insurance guaranty associations located throughout the U.S. State life and health insurance guaranty associations, working together with NOLHGA, provide a safety net for their state's policyholders, ensuring that they continue to receive coverage even if their insurer is declared insolvent. The Company is aware that the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner (Insurance Commissioner) has placed Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company and its subsidiary American Network Insurance Company, or collectively Penn Treaty, in rehabilitation, an intermediate action before insolvency. The state court denied the Insurance Commissioner's petition for the liquidation of Penn Treaty and ordered the Insurance Commissioner to file an updated plan of rehabilitation. The Insurance Commissioner has filed a Notice of Appeal asking the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to reverse the order denying the liquidation petition. In the event rehabilitation of Penn Treaty is unsuccessful and Penn Treaty is declared insolvent and placed in liquidation, the Company and other insurers may be required to pay a portion of their policyholder claims through state guaranty association assessments in future periods. Given the uncertainty around whether Penn Treaty will ultimately be declared insolvent and, if so, the amount of the insolvency, the amount and timing of any associated future guaranty fund assessments and the availability and amount of any potential premium tax and other offsets, the Company currently cannot estimate its net exposure, if any, to this potential insolvency. The Company will continue to monitor the situation and may record a liability and expense in future reporting periods, which could be material to its cash flows and results of operations.

The Company is a named defendant in seven of the consolidated cases. The cases all allege an ongoing conspiracy in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act among the Blues and BCBSA and seek (1) a permanent injunction prohibiting enforcement of any agreements which restrict BCBSA member operating territories; (2) treble damages for (a) alleged artificially inflated premiums in the case of subscribers and (b) alleged suppressed provider compensation in the case of providers and (3) attorneys' fees and costs. Additionally, one of the consolidated cases against the Company makes antitrust allegations based on most favored nations ("MFN") clauses in the Company's provider contracts and seeks reformation of the Company's provider contracts to strike MFN clauses and monetary damages. The Defendants have filed a Motion to Dismiss which is pending. The Company intends to vigorously defend this litigation.

Independent Auditor's Report

To the Board of Trustees of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, North Carolina

Report on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina and its subsidiaries which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, and the related consolidated statements of comprehensive income, changes in accumulated capital and cash flows for the years then ended December 31, 2013, 2012, and 2011 and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements are prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) in the United States (US). Preparation of the consolidated financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. The Company uses estimates and assumptions based on analytical and/or actuarially accepted quantitative methods in determining contract reserves and claims incurred but not yet reported, valuation of pension and other benefit plans, deferred acquisition costs, deferred income taxes, fair value of investments, other-than-temporary impairments and other valuation accruals. Actual results could differ materially from those estimates.

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of BCBSNC and all of its wholly-owned subsidiaries. All significant intercompany transactions and accounts have been eliminated in consolidation.

Certain prior year balances have been reclassified to conform to current year presentation in the accompanying consolidated financial statements. These reclassifications resulted in no change to previously reported amounts of accumulated capital, income before taxes, or net income.

Newly Issued Accounting Standards

In July 2011, the FASB issued guidance addressing the recognition and classification of an entity's share of the annual health insurance industry assessment mandated by the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act as well as the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 (collectively, health care reform). The assessment will be levied on health insurers for each calendar year beginning on or after January 1, 2014 and is not deductible for income tax purposes. For reporting entities subject to the assessment, the guidance specifies that the liability for the assessment should be estimated and recorded in full once the entity provides qualifying health insurance during the applicable calendar year in which the assessment is payable, with a corresponding deferred cost amortized to expense. The Company anticipates that their share of this assessment will be approximately $75,000 based on 2012 levels of insurance and market share increases.

In July 2012, the FASB amended guidance related to testing indefinite-lived intangible assets for impairment. This guidance permits an entity to first assess qualitative factors to determine whether it is more likely than not that the indefinite-lived intangible asset is impaired. If an entity believes, as a result of its qualitative assessment, that it is not more-likely-than-not that the indefinite-lived intangible asset is impaired, then no further testing is required. This guidance is effective for the Company's 2013 fiscal year and is adopted in these financial statements.

In February 2013, the FASB issued guidance related to disclosures for amounts reclassified out of accumulated other comprehensive income. This guidance requires an entity to provide information about the amounts reclassified out of accumulated other comprehensive income into net income. The financial statement presentation of this information is also specified. This standard will be effective for the Company's 2014 fiscal year. Adoption of the new standard is expected to have no material impact to the consolidated financial statements or the results of operations.

In January 2014, the FASB issued guidance that would allow for an accounting alternative for the subsequent measurement of goodwill. This standard will be effective for the Company's 2015 fiscal year. Early adoption is permitted. The Company is in the process of assessing the effect that the implementation of the new guidance will have on its financial position and results of operations.

Risks and Uncertainties

Unfavorable economic conditions could materially and adversely affect our revenues and our results of operations. For example, high unemployment rates could cause lower enrollment or lower rates of renewal in our employer group plans. Unfavorable economic conditions could cause employers to stop offering certain health care coverage as an employee benefit or elect to offer this coverage on a voluntary, employee-funded basis as a means to reduce their operating costs. In addition, unfavorable economic conditions could adversely impact our ability to increase premiums or result in the cancellation by certain customers of our products and services. All of these could lead to a decrease in our membership levels and premium and fee revenues and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Our investment portfolio may suffer losses, which could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Market fluctuations could impair our profitability and capital position. Volatility in interest rates affects our interest income and the market value of our investments in debt securities of varying maturities, which comprise the vast majority of the fair value of our investments as of December 31, 2013.

We also allocate a proportion of our portfolio to equity and alternative investments, which are subject to greater volatility than fixed income investments. General economic conditions, stock market conditions, and many other factors beyond our control can materially and adversely affect the value of these investments and may result in investment losses.

There can be no assurance that our investments will produce total positive returns or that we will not sell investments at prices that are less than their carrying values. Changes in the value of our investment assets, as a result of interest rate fluctuations, changes in issuer financial conditions, illiquidity or otherwise, could have an adverse effect on our equity. In addition, if it became necessary for us to liquidate our investment portfolio on an accelerated basis, it could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations.

Substantially all of the Company's cash and cash equivalents are held in either deposits at financial institutions or in commercial paper with a high quality investment grade rating. Credit losses are not anticipated. All fixed income securities are rated investment grade at the time of purchase by nationally recognized rating agencies, and the credit ratings are continuously reviewed by management. The portfolio is diversified by limiting each individual non-government issuer concentration to no more than 5% of the portfolio.

The inability to bring a scalable and flexible information technology infrastructure to support and deliver on the current and anticipated future needs of the business in an efficient, cost effective and well-controlled manner could impact results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Topaz is intended to provide enrollment and claims-processing services, initially for the individual and small-group markets. A key goal of Topaz is increasing speed to market for new products and product enhancements. Completion of this project could favorably position the company to capture exchange-related business and other business from some of its national competition. However, execution risk is present and the cost of this initiative is substantial and may increase, while the business and operating cost-reduction benefits are unproven.

In addition, federal and state regulatory agencies may further restrict our ability to implement changes in premium rates or impose additional restrictions, under new or existing laws, such as minimum medical loss ratio requirements or restricted definitions of costs to be included when calculating medical loss ratios under such definitions. Our ability to secure sufficient premium rates, including regulatory approval for and implementation of such rates on a timely basis, may be restricted by changes in federal and state regulations or by the application of existing federal and state regulations. A limitation on our ability to increase or maintain our premium rates and more restrictive medical loss ratio requirements could adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

In addition, during a prolonged unfavorable economic environment, state and federal budgets could be materially and adversely affected, resulting in reduced reimbursements or payments for federal and state government health care coverage programs, including Medicare, Medicaid and CHIP. A reduction in state Medicaid reimbursement rates could be implemented retrospectively to payments already negotiated and/or received from the government and could indirectly affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. In addition, the state and federal budgetary pressures could cause the government to impose new or a higher level of taxes or assessments for our commercial programs, such as premium taxes on insurance companies and health maintenance organizations and surcharges or fees on select fee-for-service and capitated medical claims, and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

During 2010, the U.S. Congress passed and the President signed into law the health care reform. The health care reform legislation is far-reaching and is intended to expand access to health insurance coverage over time by increasing the eligibility thresholds for most state Medicaid programs and providing certain other individuals and small businesses with tax credits to subsidize a portion of the cost of health insurance coverage. The legislation includes a requirement that most individuals obtain health insurance coverage which began on January 1, 2014 and that most large employers offer coverage to their employees or they will be required to pay a financial penalty [note this employer requirement to offer and report coverage was delayed until January 1, 2015]. In addition, the new laws encompass certain new taxes and fees, including an excise tax on high premium insurance policies, an annual fee to fund comparative effectiveness research, limitations on the amount of compensation that is tax deductible and new fees on companies in our industry which may not be deductible for income tax purposes.

The legislation also imposes new regulations on the health insurance sector, including, but not limited to, guaranteed coverage requirements, prohibitions on some annual and all lifetime limits on amounts paid on behalf of or to our members, increased restrictions on rescinding coverage, establishment of minimum medical loss ratio requirements, a requirement to cover preventive services on a first dollar basis, the establishment of insurance exchanges and essential health benefit packages and greater limitations on how we price certain of our products. Some provisions of the health care reform legislation became effective in 2010, including those that bar health insurance companies from placing lifetime limits on insurance coverage, those related to the increased restrictions on rescinding coverage and those that extend coverage of dependents to the age of 26. Provisions related to the establishment of minimum medical loss ratios were effective for certain of our businesses in 2011. In 2012, requirements to include specific women's preventive care services at no cost share and the implementation of uniform summaries of benefits and coverage went into effect. Lastly, other significant changes, including the annual fees on health insurance companies, the excise tax on high premium insurance policies, the health insurance Exchanges (aka Marketplaces), the guaranteed coverage requirements and the requirement that individuals obtain coverage, become effective in 2014.

During the beginning of the initial annual enrollment period for Individual and Family Coverage that met the requirements of the health care reform, the Federally Facilitated Exchange had significant technical challenges that delayed or prevented some consumers from enrolling in coverage. As a result, the Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services made several last minute changes to the requirements and related timelines including changing monthly enrollment deadlines and payment dates for January 1, 2014 effective dates. Perhaps most significantly, the Administration announced a new transitional policy option for Individuals and Small Groups (who had coverage in effect as of October 1, 2013) that enabled them to keep their prior plan. As a result many members and groups were able to stay on their 2013 plan by renewing the coverage into 2014. The changes presented many operational challenges and forced Issuers to identify new solutions in order to offer these options to consumers. The announcement of the transition policy option was made after healthcare reform rates were filed and approved. Since these transition policies will retain a large portion of the healthier, medically underwritten pool, premiums in the health care reform pool are more likely to be inadequate. If the program is extended beyond 2014, rate increases in future years will be higher to cover higher expected costs in the health care reform pool. Moving forward, it is certainly possible that Issuers will see additional changes from CMS as we approach the end of open enrollment in March 2014.

Health care reform also presents a challenge to insurers with respect to cash flows. In the pre-health care reform environment, an insurer would collect almost all premiums in advance of paying claims. However, the health care reform has created new reimbursement timelines for insurers as government subsidies (which are comprising over 70% of on-Exchange premiums) are not paid until more than 20 days into the coverage month. In addition, health care reform-related reimbursement payments to insurers to offset higher-than-expected or higher-than-average risk are not made until the April following the coverage year.

The Company continues to face uncertainty impacting the health insurance industry with the ultimate implementation of key provisions of the Affordable Care Act, including the timing of when certain provisions become effective and legislative challenges proposed concerning targeted provisions or the law in totality. There is also uncertainty related to whether there will be adequate funding levels for certain programs and our ability to estimate the impact of these programs, which could impact our financial performance in future periods. The Company will continue to monitor any changes to the implementation requirements or timeline but at this point cannot estimate the ultimate impact of these changes, if any.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less and not restricted to be cash equivalents. Cash equivalents totaled $26,385 and $158,085 as of December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. Cash and cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates fair value due to the short maturity of these assets.

Included in other noncurrent assets as of both December 31, 2013 and 2012 are restricted money market funds and bonds of $32,998 and $31,765, respectively, which were on deposit with the state of North Carolina in accordance with contractual requirements.

Investments

All investments are categorized as available-for-sale and are recorded at their fair values as of the balance sheet date. The Company records purchases and sales as of the trade date. Fixed income securities are classified as either current or noncurrent assets based on their contractual maturities as well as management's expectations as to when they will be sold. If the Company does not intend to sell the fixed income security, management considers available evidence to assess whether it is more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before the recovery of its amortized cost basis. Equity securities are primarily classified as current as they are available for use for current operations. Certain securities, which are used to satisfy contractual, regulatory or other requirements, continue to be classified as long-term, without regard to contractual maturity. Venture capital investments, real estate funds, private equity funds and private equity securities are classified as noncurrent assets.

Realized gains and losses, including other-than-temporary impairments that are determined to be due to credit, are included in income. Unrealized gains, unrealized losses estimated to be temporary in nature and other-than-temporary impairments determined to be non-credit related, net of deferred income taxes, are reflected in accumulated capital as Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income (loss) (AOCI). Realized gains and losses on investments sold are determined on the specific identification basis. Interest and dividend income is recorded on the accrual basis.

Declines in the fair value of invested assets below cost are compiled on a monthly basis and reviewed quarterly to assess whether any other-than-temporary impairment loss should be recorded. Various thresholds are used to identify those securities which are at the greatest risk of an other than temporary impairment. Impairment losses for declines in value of fixed income investments and equity securities below cost attributable to issuer-specific events are based upon all relevant facts and circumstances for each investment and are recognized when appropriate. Some, but not all, of the factors considered in evaluating financial condition are earnings trends, industry outlook, negative cash flows, profitability, capital, the length of time below book value, downgrade of debt ratings and asset quality which could lead to an other-than-temporary impairment of any security. U.S. Treasury securities with unrealized losses are deemed to be temporarily impaired, with unrealized losses due to interest rate changes and not due to credit related factors. For fixed income investments with unrealized losses due to market conditions or industry-related events and where no specific evidence of deterioration of the issuers' credit exists, if the Company does not intend to sell the fixed income security and management does not consider it to be more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before a market recovery or maturity, declines in value below amortized cost are not assumed to be other-than-temporary.

When an other-than-temporary impairment loss is determined to have occurred on equity securities, the losses are recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. The way in which impairment losses on fixed income securities are recognized in the financial statements is dependent on the facts and circumstances related to the specific security. If the Company intends to sell a security or it is more likely than not that we would be required to sell a security before the recovery of its amortized cost, less any current period credit loss, the Company recognizes an other-than-temporary impairment in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income for the difference between amortized cost and fair value. If the Company does not expect to recover the amortized cost basis, does not plan to sell the security and if it is not more likely than not that the Company would be required to sell a security before the recovery of its amortized cost, less any current period credit loss, the recognition of the other-than-temporary impairment is bifurcated. The Company recognizes the credit loss portion in net income and the noncredit loss portion in AOCI.

The credit component of an other-than-temporary impairment is determined by comparing the net present value of projected future cash flows with the amortized cost basis of the fixed income security. The net present value is calculated by discounting our best estimate of projected future cash flows at the effective interest rate implicit in the fixed income security at the date of acquisition. For mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities, cash flow estimates are based on assumptions regarding the underlying collateral including expected prepayments, vintage, type of underlying asset, geographic concentrations, default rates, recoveries and changes in value of the underlying collateral. For all other fixed income securities, cash flow estimates are driven by assumptions regarding probability of default, including changes in credit ratings, and estimates regarding timing and amount of recoveries associated with a default.

Fair value is determined by quoted market prices, where available. For securities not actively traded, fair values were estimated using values obtained from independent pricing services or quoted market prices of comparable instruments. Management judgment is involved in evaluating whether a decline in an investment's fair value is other-than-temporary. The discovery of new information and the passage of time can change these judgments. Impairment judgments are revised when new information becomes known and any resulting impairment adjustments are made at that time.

Fair Value Measurement

The carrying amounts reported in the Consolidated Balance Sheets for cash, cash equivalents, premiums and other receivables, income tax receivable, unearned premiums, medical and other benefits payable, accounts payable, other assets and accrued expenses, book overdrafts and payables for securities approximate fair value because of the short term nature of these items. These assets and liabilities are not listed in Note 8.

Assets and liabilities recorded at estimated fair value in the Consolidated Balance Sheets are categorized based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure their fair value. Level inputs are defined as follows:

Level Input:	Input Definition:
Level I	Inputs are unadjusted, quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets at the measurement date.
Level II	Inputs other than quoted prices included in Level I that are observable for the asset or liability through corroboration with market data at the measurement date.
Level III	Unobservable inputs that reflect management's best estimate of what market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date.

Transfers between Levels, if any, are recorded as if they had occurred at the beginning of the reporting period during which the change in method for valuing the underlying assets occurred.

Fair values of fixed income and equity securities are based on quoted market prices, where available. The Company obtains one price for each security primarily from a third-party pricing service (pricing service), which generally uses quoted or other observable inputs for the determination of fair value. The pricing service normally derives the security prices through recently reported trades for identical or similar securities, making adjustments through the reporting date based upon available observable market information. For securities not actively traded, the pricing service may use quoted market prices of comparable instruments or, incorporating inputs that are currently observable in the markets for similar securities. Inputs that are often used in the valuation methodologies include, but are not limited to, benchmark curves, benchmarking of like securities, sector groupings, and matrix pricing. In addition, the pricing service uses model processes such as the Option Adjusted Spread model to assess interest rate impact and develop prepayment scenarios.

We perform monthly analysis on the prices received from third parties for our internally managed portfolios to determine whether the prices are reasonable estimates of fair value. Our analysis includes a comparison of prices received from third parties to prices obtained from other sources. There were no adjustments to quoted market prices obtained from third party pricing services during 2013 and 2012 that were material to the consolidated financial statements.

In instances in which the inputs used to measure fair value fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy, the fair value measurement has been determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value.

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies used by the Company to value assets, including the pension and postretirement assets, measured at fair value:

Major Category	Valued at
Mutual funds	Net asset value (NAV) of shares which are provided by the administrator of the fund.
State and/or U.S. government obligations and common	Closing price reported in the active market in which the individual security is traded. If in an inactive market, based on quoted market prices, broker or

and/or preferred stock	dealer quotations, or alternative pricing sources with reasonable levels of price transparency. Securities that trade infrequently and therefore have little or no price transparency are valued using the investment manager's best estimates.
Interest in collective trust funds	NAV of shares which are provided by the administrator of the fund.

Premiums and Other Receivables

Premiums and other receivables include the uncollected amounts due from insured and self-funded customers. Also, included in other receivables are the uncollected amounts of drug rebates, interest, certain profit sharing arrangements and other miscellaneous receivables. Premiums and other receivables are reported net of any allowance for uncollectible amounts. The allowance for uncollectible receivables is estimated each period and a valuation allowance is recorded based upon the age of unpaid amounts and other information about the customers as well as management's judgment regarding the ability of the customers to pay outstanding amounts. Estimates of uncollectible accounts receivable are revised each period, and changes are reflected in the operating expense line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period they become known.

The Company's pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) contracts with pharmaceutical manufacturers, some of whom provide rebates based on use of the manufacturers products by the PBM for the Company's insured and self-funded customers. The Company accrues the rebates receivable monthly based on the terms of the applicable contracts. The PBM bills these rebates to the manufacturers on a quarterly basis. The Company is reimbursed either annually or quarterly for these rebates. The Company records the rebates attributable to insured customers as a reduction to claims and medical expense. The rebates attributable to self-funded customers are accrued as rebates receivable as well as a corresponding payable to self-funded customers in accordance with their contracts.

Federal Employee Program

The Company participates in the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program (FEHBP) with other BlueCross BlueShield Plans. This program includes a fully-insured experience-rated contract, commonly known as the Federal Employee Program (FEP), between the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and BCBSA, which acts as an agent for the participating BlueCross BlueShield plans. In addition, each participating plan, including the Company, executes a contract with BCBSA which obligates each participating plan to underwrite FEP benefits in its service area. Premium rates are developed by BCBSA and negotiated with OPM annually. These rates determine the funds that will be available to the participating BlueCross BlueShield plans to provide insurance to Federal employees that enroll with the BlueCross BlueShield FEP. The excess of gross premiums for the life of the program over the charges for the life of the program on an accrual basis is accounted for as a rate stabilization reserve (commonly referred to as the special reserve), as required by the contract between OPM and BCBSA. Each year, OPM also allocates a portion of the premiums to a contingency reserve which may be utilized by the participating plans in the event that annual premiums paid to the insurance carrier are insufficient or the rate stabilization reserve falls below certain levels prescribed by OPM. Premiums paid to the carrier and available to each participating BlueCross BlueShield plan, including the special reserve and the contingency reserve, are held at the U.S. Treasury, including amounts unused from prior periods. Any premiums that remain in the rate stabilization reserve upon termination of the BCBSA contract after the claims run-out and reimbursement of allowable administrative expenses would be returned to OPM for the benefit of the FEHBP. The FEP contract renews automatically each year unless written notice of termination is given by either party.

In accordance with the FEP contract, premium funds that exceed daily operating needs are held on behalf of the Company in letter of credit accounts at the U.S. Treasury to provide funding for claims, administrative expenses, and other charges to the contract. The Company, along with other BlueCross BlueShield plans who participate in the FEHBP contract, has an unrestricted right to draw funds being held in the U.S. Treasury, other than those allocated to the contingency reserve, for any valid claim or expense. If the balance of the special reserve is exhausted or falls below certain prescribed levels, OPM will transfer funds from the contingency reserve to the special reserve to the extent that funds are available in the contingency reserve. Amounts incurred in excess of the total reserves held at the U.S. Treasury for the FEP would not be reimbursed to the Company. The unaudited amounts being held in the special reserve are $5,960,423, $5,951,829 and $5,873,997, as of September 30, 2013, December 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively. The unaudited amounts being held in the contingency reserve are $9,270,691, $8,110,075 and $6,236,141 as of December 31, 2013, 2012 and 2011, respectively.

The Company has recorded its allocable share of the special reserve funds held in the U.S. Treasury as an asset, with an equivalent amount recorded as a rate stabilization reserve. These amounts are $7,626, $6,784 and $6,077 as of December 31, 2013, 2012 and 2011, respectively, and are included in other current assets and other current liabilities in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets. Additionally, the Company has recorded a mandatory statutory reserve for its FEP business. These amounts are $24,063, $15,199 and $14,167 as of December 31, 2013, 2012 and 2011, respectively, and are included in cash and other non-current liabilities in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets.

FEP represented approximately 24.2% and 30.4% of accounts receivable as of December 31, 2013, 2012 and 2011, respectively. FEP represented approximately 14.4%, 15.6% and 14.8% of net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2013, 2012 and 2011, respectively.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization. Depreciation and amortization is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets, which are 40 to 50 years for buildings, 3 to 10 years for furniture and equipment, and 2 to 5 years for computer equipment and software. Leasehold improvements are amortized using the straight-line method over the shorter of the lease term or estimated useful life of the asset. Upon disposition or retirement, assets and related accumulated depreciation accounts are relieved and any related gain or loss is reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. Property and equipment is evaluated annually for the existence of events or changes in circumstances that indicate the asset might be impaired. Property and equipment retired from use is classified as held for sale and is carried at the lower of its depreciated cost or fair value, less estimated costs to sell. The Company ceases depreciating these assets when they are classified as held for sale.

The Company develops software for internal use. Certain costs associated with the development or purchase of internal-use software are capitalized and amortized over the estimated useful lives of the software. All other development costs are expensed as incurred.

Goodwill and Intangible Assets

Goodwill represents the excess of cost of acquisition over the fair value of net assets acquired. Intangible assets represent the values assigned to acquired subscriber relationships and provider networks. Intangible assets are recognized as assets apart from goodwill because they meet one of two criteria: the contractual-legal criterion or the separability criterion. Goodwill is evaluated for impairment on an annual basis and more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate that the asset might be impaired. The Company first assesses qualitative factors to determine whether it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying amount. If after completing this assessment, it is determined that it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying value, we then proceed to a two-step impairment testing methodology using the income approach (discounted cash flow method). In the first step of this testing methodology, we compare the carrying value of the reporting unit, including goodwill, with its fair value, as determined by its estimated discounted cash flows. If the carrying value of a reporting unit exceeds its fair value, we then complete the second step of the impairment test to determine the amount of impairment to be recognized. In the second step, we estimate an implied fair value of the reporting unit's goodwill by deducting the fair value of all net assets of the reporting unit (including any unrecognized intangible assets, and excluding the goodwill) from its fair value as determined in the first step. Any remaining fair value after assigning fair value to the reporting unit's net assets represents the implied fair value of the goodwill. If the carrying value of a reporting unit's goodwill exceeds its implied fair value, the Company records an impairment loss equal to the difference in that period. Intangible assets are amortized over their useful lives. Intangible assets are evaluated annually for the existence of events or changes in circumstances that indicate the asset might be impaired. The Company assesses qualitative factors to determine whether it is more likely than not that the intangible assets' fair value is less than its carrying amount. Based on the results of this assessment, the Company may conduct a quantitative impairment test if the fair value of the intangible assets was determined to be, more likely than not, less than its carrying amount. Recoverability of intangible assets is primarily determined by a comparison of the carrying amount of the assets to future net cash flows before interest expense and income taxes expected to be generated by the assets. Impairment, if any, is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the fair value of the assets. There were no impairments of goodwill and intangible assets during the years ended December 31, 2013, 2012 and 2011.

Deferred Acquisition Costs

Acquisition costs eligible for deferral consist only of those that are directly related to the successful acquisition of new insurance contracts. Such costs include broker commissions, costs of policy issuance and underwriting and other costs the Company incurs to acquire new business. The Company's policy is to expense, as incurred, acquisition costs related to short-duration health benefit products. These short-duration health benefit policies typically have a one-year term, are billed monthly, and are subject to cancellation upon 30 days written notice by the member or the Company for certain defined reasons.

Blue Advantage, NAIC Medicare Supplement, and individual Blue Options HSA products, when aggregated as blocks of policies, are expected to remain in force for an extended period beyond one year because these contracts are guaranteed renewable and the Company accounts for these policies as long-duration insurance products. As a result, the Company defers acquisition costs and amortizes them over the estimated life of the policies in proportion to the premiums earned. Deferred acquisition costs are regularly reviewed to determine if they are recoverable from future income. As a result of health care reform, the future amortization periods were shortened beginning in 2011. Amortization periods range from 3 to 13 years. This shortening of the amortization period increased amortization expense. For the years ended December 31, 2013, 2012 and 2011, the Company determined deferred acquisition costs to be recoverable. Amortization expense reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income for each of the years ended December 31, 2013, 2012 and 2011 was $42,856, $27,786 and $21,041, respectively.

Medical and Other Benefits Payable

The reserve for medical and other benefits payable includes management's estimate of the ultimate cost of the claims in process of settlement, claims incurred but not yet reported, and claims adjustment expenses needed to settle these claims.

The process of estimating reserves requires a high degree of judgment and a number of factors are taken into consideration. The Company actuarially estimates the liability for claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not reported based on the most current historical claims payment patterns, changes in number of members, changes in products and benefits, and estimates of health care trend changes (cost, utilization, and intensity of services). Management also estimates the amount of claims adjustment expense needed to settle claims by determining the total administrative cost incurred to process claims as a percentage of total insured claims expense and applying that percentage to total claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not yet reported.

Estimates for medical and other benefits payable are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur, and revisions are reflected in the claims and medical expense line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. Changes in medical cost trend and claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of medical and other benefits payable. These estimates may change as actuarial methods change or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based change. There have been no significant changes to the Company's actuarial methods in the last three fiscal years.

Book Overdrafts

Under our cash management system, checks issued but not yet presented to banks frequently result in overdraft balances for accounting purposes and are classified as a current liability in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. Changes in book overdrafts from period to period are reported in the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows as a financing activity.

Contract Reserves

Contract reserves are established for policies where, because of the policy's design, future benefit costs increase because of factors which the plan cannot reflect in the premiums. The liability, established when a portion of the premium collected in years prior to the valuation date is meant to help pay for claim costs arising in later years, represents the present value of future benefits paid to or on behalf of policyholders and related expense less the present value of future net premiums. Contract reserves are actuarially estimated using methods that include assumptions such as interest rates, claim trends, persistency, and other assumptions based upon experience modified as necessary to reflect anticipated trends. The assumptions include a provision for possible unfavorable deviation. Contract reserves are established for Blue Advantage, NAIC Medicare Supplement, and individual Blue Options HSA products.

These estimates may change as actuarial methods and/or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based, change. The current portion of contract reserves relates to the estimated amount by which the Company expects claims costs to exceed premiums collected over the next twelve months.

Estimates for contract reserves are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur, and revisions are reflected in the claims and medical expense line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. Changes in the medical cost trend or in claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of contract reserves. During 2013 and 2012, the Company revised the calculation of this liability so that the underlying assumptions were more consistent with the company's developing experience. These changes increased contract reserves by $25,600 and $21,000, respectively. Net of these changes, the value of the liabilities decreased primarily due to accelerated lapses associated with expected termination of non-health care reform compliant policies by $37,161 in 2013 and $9,032 in 2012.

Premium Deficiency

Premium deficiencies are recognized when it is probable that expected future claims and claims adjustment expenses will exceed existing reserves plus anticipated future premiums on existing health benefit contracts with the consideration of investment income. For purposes of premium deficiencies, contracts are deemed to be either short or long duration and are grouped in a manner consistent with the Company's method of acquiring, servicing and measuring the profitability of such contracts. Management determined that no premium deficiency reserve was warranted as of December 31, 2013 and 2012.

Revenue Recognition and Unearned Premiums

Revenue is principally derived from health benefit premiums. Generally, membership contracts have one-year terms. Group contracts are subject to cancellation upon 30 days written notice. Premiums are generally due monthly and are recognized as revenue during the period in which the Company is obligated to provide services or benefits. Amounts that are billed and received but unearned are recorded as unearned premiums. Because employer groups generally provide changes to their eligible member population one month in arrears, each billing includes an adjustment to premiums for the prior month's changes in member status that were not reflected in the original billing. Premium refunds are shown as a reduction in premium.

Our Medicare Advantage premium revenues are subject to periodic adjustment under CMS' risk adjustment payment methodology. The CMS risk adjustment model provides higher per member payments for enrollees diagnosed with certain conditions and lower payments for enrollees who are healthier. The Company and other health care plans collect, capture, and submit available diagnosis data to CMS within prescribed deadlines. CMS uses submitted diagnosis codes, demographic information, and special statuses to determine the risk score for most Medicare Advantage beneficiaries. CMS also retroactively adjusts risk scores during the year based on additional data. In previous years, we did not believe we had the ability to estimate the value of this payment with sufficient accuracy to support an accrual. In working with our vendor, we concluded that this amount is reasonably estimable and probable such that it would be appropriate to record an accrual. The Company estimates risk adjustment revenues based upon the data submitted and expected to be submitted to CMS. The amount of the receivable is $58,950 and $0, at December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

Administrative fees include revenue from those group contracts that provide for the group to be at risk for all or, in the case of stop-loss agreements, a portion of its claims experience. These self-funded groups are charged an administrative fee that is based upon the number of members in the group and the group's claims experience. In addition, administrative fees include amounts received for the administration of certain other contracts, including cost plus arrangements. Administrative fees are recognized in accordance with the terms of the Company's contractual relationship with the customer. Administrative fees are included in the administrative fees and other revenue in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. All benefit payments, except for those covered by stop-loss agreements, under these self-funded programs are excluded from the claims and medical expenses line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. Reimbursements of all medical benefit payments, except for those covered by stop-loss agreements, under these self-funded programs are also excluded from the operating revenue in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Medicare Part D Prescription Drug Program

The Company serves as a plan sponsor offering Medicare Part D prescription drug insurance coverage under a calendar year contract with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). Payments from CMS under this contract include amounts for premiums, risk corridor adjustments, reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies and prospective payments under the coverage gap discount program (CGDP).

The CMS contract is subject to audit and adjustments identified are recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income as they are reviewed and agreed to by the Company. As of December 31, 2013, years 2006 through 2013 remain open to financial examination by CMS.

The payments received monthly from CMS and members represent amounts for providing prescription drug insurance coverage. The Company recognizes premium revenues for providing this insurance coverage ratably over the contract period. Premiums received in advance are recorded in unearned premiums. Pharmacy benefit and administrative costs under the contract are expensed as incurred. As a result of the Medicare Part D product design, the Company incurs a disproportionate amount of benefit costs in the first half of the contract year compared with the last half of the contract year.

The Company's CMS payment is subject to risk sharing through the Medicare Part D risk corridor provisions. The Company recognizes a risk sharing payable or receivable based on year-to-date activity. The risk corridor provisions compare costs targeted in the Company's annual bid to actual prescription drug costs, limited to actual costs that would have been incurred under the standard coverage as defined by CMS. Variances exceeding certain thresholds may result in CMS making additional payments to the Company or require the Company to refund to CMS a portion of what was received. The Company estimates and recognizes an adjustment to premium revenues related to these risk corridor provisions based upon pharmacy claims experience to date as if the annual contract were to terminate at the end of the reporting period. Accordingly, this estimate provides no consideration to future pharmacy claims experience.

In addition, payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursement of prescription drug costs for which the Company is not at risk and is recorded as a payable when received. Reinsurance subsidies represent reimbursements for CMS's portion of prescription drug costs which exceed the member's out-of-pocket threshold, or the catastrophic coverage benefit level. Low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursements from CMS for all or a portion of the deductible, the coinsurance and co-payment amounts from the out-of-pocket threshold for low income beneficiaries. The Company recognizes risk sharing receivable or payable based on year to date activity. Monthly prospective payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies are based on assumptions submitted with the Company's annual bid. This payable is reduced when reinsurance is utilized and subsidies are provided by the Company. This activity is accumulated and when the net balance for each contract is negative, it is recorded as a receivable. The Company does not recognize premium revenues or claims expense for these subsidies as the Company does not incur any risk with this part of the program.

A reconciliation and related settlement of the final risk sharing and low-income cost sharing and reinsurance subsidy amounts is performed following the end of the contract year. As of December 31, 2013 and 2012, the net estimated risk sharing payable with CMS was $0 and $48, respectively. The net estimated subsidies receivable from CMS was $6,444 and $7,844 at December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. Any estimated receivables related to either the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in premiums and other receivables. Any estimated payables related to the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in accounts payable and other accrued expenses.

Accounting for Income Taxes

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the estimated future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases and tax credit carryforwards. A valuation allowance is recorded to reduce the Company's deferred tax asset to the amount the Company believes is more likely than not to be realized. This determination is based upon a number of assumptions, including: the types of deferred tax assets; the expected reversal patterns and periods of the temporary differences; taxes paid in prior periods available for carry-back claims; estimates of future taxable income; and other significant issues or developments likely to impact the realization of the benefits from the deferred tax assets. If facts are ultimately inconsistent with the Company's expectations, an adjustment to the Company's deferred tax asset may be required in the future. Any such adjustment would be charged or credited to income tax expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period the determination is made.

When tax returns are filed, some positions taken will be sustained upon examination by the taxing authorities, while others are subject to uncertainty about the merits of the position taken or the amount of the position that would be ultimately sustained. The benefit of a tax position is recognized in the financial statements in the period during which, based on all available evidence, management believes it is more likely than not that the position will be sustained upon examination, including the resolution of appeals or litigation processes, if any. Tax positions taken are not offset or aggregated with other positions. Tax positions that meet the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold are measured as the largest amount of tax benefit that is more than 50% likely of being realized upon settlement with the applicable taxing authority. The portion of the benefits associated with tax positions taken that exceed the amount measured as described above is reflected as a liability for unrecognized tax benefits in the accompanying Consolidated Balance Sheets along with any associated interest and penalties that would be payable to the taxing authorities upon examination.

Interest and penalties associated with unrecognized tax benefits are charged to income tax expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Employee Benefit Programs

The funded status of the Company's defined benefit pension plans and nonpension postretirement benefit plans is recognized in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. The funded status is measured as the difference between the fair value of plan assets and the benefit obligation at December 31, the measurement date. For defined benefit pension plans, the benefit obligation is the projected benefit obligation, which represents the actuarial present value of benefits expected to be paid upon retirement based on estimated compensation levels and current service. For the nonpension postretirement benefit plans, the benefit obligation is the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation, which represents the actuarial present value of postretirement benefits attributed to employee services already rendered.

The fair value of plan assets represents the current fair value of cumulative company contributions and investment earnings on those contributions less amounts paid out. Overfunded plans, with the fair value of plan assets exceeding the benefit obligation, are aggregated and recorded as a prepaid pension asset equal to this excess. Underfunded plans, with the benefit obligation exceeding the fair value of plan assets, are aggregated and recorded as a pension, postretirement and other retirement benefits liability equal to this excess. The current portion of the pension and nonpension postretirement benefit obligations represents the actuarial present value of benefits payable in the next 12 months exceeding the fair value of plan assets, measured on a plan-by-plan basis. This obligation is recorded in accounts payable and accrued expenses in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. Net periodic pension and nonpension postretirement benefit expense (income) is recorded in operating expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Certain events, such as changes in employee base, plan amendments and changes in actuarial assumptions, result in a change in the benefit obligation which results in corresponding changes in the gains and losses or prior service costs. The result of these events is amortized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income) over the average life expectancy (average working lifetime was used until June 30, 2013) of the participants, provided such amounts exceed certain thresholds which are based upon the benefit obligation or the value of plan assets. (Gains) losses and prior service costs (credits) not recognized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income) in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income as they arise are recognized as a component of gains (losses) and prior service costs (credits) recognized in AOCI in the Consolidated Statements of Changes in Accumulated Capital. Those (gains) losses and prior service costs (credits) are subsequently recognized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income).

The measurement of benefit obligations and net periodic benefit expense (income) is based on estimates and assumptions approved by the Company's management. These valuations reflect the terms of the plans and use participant-specific information such as compensation, age and years of service, as well as certain assumptions, including estimates of discount rates, expected return on plan assets, rate of compensation increases and mortality rates.

The Company records expense for defined contribution plans for the Company's contribution when the employee renders service to the company, essentially coinciding with the cash contributions to the plans. The expense is recorded in operating expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Subsequent Events

Events or transactions that occur after the balance sheet date, but before the financial statements are complete and approved by the BCBSNC Audit Committee (available to be issued), are reviewed by the Company to determine if they are to be recognized.

All of the effects of subsequent events that provide additional evidence about conditions that existed at the consolidated balance sheet date, including the estimates inherent in the process of preparing the consolidated financial statements, are recognized in the consolidated financial statements. The Company does not recognize subsequent events that provide evidence about conditions that did not exist at the balance sheet date but arose after, but before the financial statements are available to be issued. In some cases, nonrecognized subsequent events are disclosed to keep the financial statements from being misleading.

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through February 18, 2014, which is the date that the financial statements were available to be issued, for recognition or disclosure in our consolidated financial statements, and no events, other than those related to Topaz as described in Note 12, have occurred that require disclosure.

Fixed Income Securities – For both 2013 and 2012, the unrealized losses on the Company's fixed income investments were not the result of any credit related problems. In 2013, the unrealized losses on the Company's fixed income investments were mostly attributable to changes in interest rates. All of the issuers have investment grade credit ratings and therefore, the Company believes each issuer will be able to meet the contractual terms of the obligation. At December 31, 2013 and 2012, the Company did not have the intent to sell and it was not more likely than not that the Company would be required to sell the investments before the recovery of its amortized cost basis. The Company therefore did not consider the investments at December 31, 2013 and 2012 to be other-than-temporarily impaired.

Equity Securities – For both 2013 and 2012, the Company's investments in equity securities primarily consists of investments in mutual funds. Various investment lots were below cost at December 31, 2013 and 2012 and were primarily in broadly diversified mutual funds, including index funds, the vast majority of which had been in a loss position less than twelve months. The unrealized losses were primarily in emerging market bond and equity mutual funds in 2013 and in international equity mutual funds in 2012. The decline in emerging market equity mutual funds in 2013 was due primarily to concerns over growth in China and to weakness in commodity prices while international equity funds declined in 2012 due to concerns regarding the European economy, together with normal market movements. The unrealized losses in emerging market bond funds in 2013 were due to rising yields for U.S. Treasury securities, uncertainty concerning tapering of Fed quantitative easing, and exposure to the slowing Chinese economy. The Company believes the declines are short term in nature and are due to the lack of clarity regarding Fed policy and to the focus on China, and not to any increased credit or political risk.

The Company continues to review its investment portfolios under its impairment review policy. Given the unpredictability of market conditions and the significant judgments involved, there is a continuing risk that declines in fair value may occur and other-than-temporary impairments may be recorded in future periods.

4. Goodwill and Intangible Assets

	2013		2012
	Gross Carrying Amount	Accumulated Amortization	Gross Carrying Amount	Accumulated Amortization

Amortization expense of intangible assets for 2013, 2012, and 2011, was $3,184, $3,189 and $3,221 respectively.

The intangibles are amortized over periods that originally range from 12 to 31 years using the undiscounted cash flow method. Estimated amortization expense for the next five years is as follows: 2014, $2,634; 2015, $2,526; 2016, $2,358, 2017, $2,131 and 2018 $2,034.

5. Property and Equipment

Property and equipment as of December 31 consists of:

	2013	2012
Land and improvements	20,742	18,139
Buildings	101,809	95,299

Depreciation and amortization expense of property and equipment, excluding amortization of intangibles for 2013, 2012 and 2011, was $15,450, $19,313, and $37,115 respectively.

Accumulated amortization for capitalized software and hardware was $128,210 and $161,235 at December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. Amortization expense, included in depreciation and amortization above, for capitalized software and hardware for 2013, 2012 and 2011 was $8,193, $11,983 and $24,626, respectively.

During 2012, the Company sold its Eastowne property and its primary data center property and certain furniture, equipment, software and computer equipment (Weck). At December 31, 2011, these assets were recorded as assets held for sale and were included in Other Current Assets in the Consolidate Balance Sheet. The gain on Eastowne and Weck was $287 and $1,990, respectively.

During 2013, the Company announced its intention to create a central campus and leave the Headquarters building. The Company purchased two buildings in Durham to create this central campus. The Company anticipates leaving the Headquarters building in 2015. Plans are being developed for the disposition of the building, but no decisions have been made. The original cost of the Headquarters property was $9,626 and accumulated depreciation at December 31, 2013 was $7,475.

6. Medical and Other Benefits Payable

Activity in the medical and other benefits payable liability is summarized as follows:

	2013	2012
Medical and other benefits payable at beginning of year	$436,372	$387,198
Incurred related to:
Current year	5,040,151	4,528,963
Prior years	(7,515)	(14,777)
Total incurred	5,032,636	4,514,186
Paid related to:
Current year	4,597,788	4,106,780
Prior years	401,701	358,200
Total paid	4,999,489	4,464,980
Medical and other benefits payable at end of year	469,519	436,372
Liability for claims processing costs	11,210	8,442
Total	$480,729	$444,814

Amounts incurred related to prior years vary from previously estimated liabilities as the claims are ultimately settled. Liabilities at any year end are continually reviewed and re-estimated as information regarding actual claims payments becomes known. This information is compared to the originally established year end liability. The favorable development was the result of growth in membership as well as actual claim payment patterns and cost trends differing from those assumed at the time the liability was established for the year ended December 31, 2013. The favorable development in medical claims payable for the year ended December 31, 2012 is primarily attributable to actual claim payment patterns and cost trends differing from those assumed at the time the liability was established.

7. Accounts Payable and Accrued Expenses

Accounts payable and accrued expenses consist of the following as of December 31:

	2013	2012
Accounts payable	$23,641	$25,731

A provision for anticipated losses under a contract with a key customer of $19,000 and $66,423, for December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively, is included in other accrued expenses.

8. Debt

In November 2013, BCBSNC established a line of credit totaling $100,000 which will expire in December 2015 with an interest rate of LIBOR plus fifty basis points and an unused fee of ten basis points quarterly on the amount undrawn. During 2013, no amounts were drawn under this line of credit and at December 31, 2013 there were no amounts outstanding.

BCBSNC must maintain certain covenants including limits on indebtedness to capital, indebtedness to EBITDA, liens, and dispositions. As of December 31, 2013 the Company was in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements.

There were no material transfers between Levels I, II or III during the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012.

Non-financial assets and liabilities including long-lived assets, goodwill, asset retirement obligations, and certain investments are recognized at fair value when they are considered to be other-than-temporarily impaired. There was no required fair value measurement for assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis.

Non-financial instruments such as property and equipment, other current assets, deferred income taxes and certain financial instruments such as policy liabilities are excluded from the fair value disclosures. Therefore, the fair value amounts cannot be aggregated to determine our underlying economic value.

10. Employee Benefit Programs

BCBSNC has a non-contributory qualified defined benefit retirement plan covering a significant number of employees (excluding employees of ACS). Employees hired after December 31, 2005 are not eligible to participate in the plan. In addition, certain participants have no additional service accrual based on a defined contribution plan participation choice. The benefits are based on years of service and the employee's highest sixty consecutive months of earnings in the last one hundred and twenty months of employment.

BCBSNC also provides non-contributory non-qualified defined benefit supplemental executive retirement plans (SERP) for certain executives. Two of the SERPs have benefits based on years of service, retirement age and certain final average pay calculations. Benefits are offset by benefits payable from other defined benefit retirement plans. An additional SERP has benefits based on years of service and individual agreements that generally require payment of a fixed monthly dollar amount for 15 years upon retirement

BCBSNC provides certain health care and life insurance benefits for retired employees. Substantially all of BCBSNC's employees who reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 5 years of service may become eligible for health care insurance benefits. In addition, substantially all of those BCBSNC employees hired prior to January 1, 2006, who will reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 15 years of service may become eligible for both a Company subsidy of health care insurance costs and life insurance benefits. BCBSNC funds retiree health care benefits by making contributions to the Voluntary Employees Beneficiary Association (VEBA) administered by the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (Association). The Company did not make a contribution during the years 2011 to 2013 to fund the liability for eligible retired employees.

Effective December 31, 2013, the Company has elected to freeze the non-contributory qualified defined benefit plan and two associated non-qualified defined benefit SERPs which ceased all benefit accruals under the Plans as of this date. As a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit plan, a curtailment was triggered and a remeasurement of the qualified pension obligations and plan assets occurred as of June 30, 2013. As of the remeasurement, the plan assets had increased in value from the prior measurement date resulting in an increase in the funded status of the plan of $58.6 million. Additionally, the curtailment impact reduced the projected benefit obligation by $86.8 million. Also as a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit pension plan, the amortization period for actuarial gains and losses was changed from the average working life to the average remaining life expectancy of all participants.

In June 2013, the Company offered an Early Retirement Window (ERW) to eligible employees who, as of December 31, 2013 are age 52 or older with ten years of service, and with an age plus years of service of at least 75 years. If eligible participants elect to retire at predefined dates in 2014, the ERW provides additional years of service toward eligibility for Company subsidized insurance benefits, additional years of service for pension benefit calculation purposes, and enhanced early retirement factors which, depending on the participant's age, provides a benefit that is unreduced or subject to smaller reductions. The same benefits were provided to eligible participants who retired or notified the Company that they intend to retire in 2013 prior to the window announcement. The ERW enhancements were considered special termination benefits and they will increase the actuarially determined benefit obligation for the qualified retirement benefit plan and the postretirement benefit plan by an estimated $25.0 million and $3.2 million, respectively.

The components of the net periodic benefit cost are as follows for the year ended December 31:

	Retirement Benefits						Other Postretirement Benefits

In 2013, 2012 and 2011, the Company recognized the amortization of the cumulative net loss from past experience as measured by comparing the expected position of the plan at year-end (based on the beginning of the year actuarial assumptions and prior year census data) with the actual position of the plan at year-end (based on the end of year actuarial assumptions and current year census data) prior to recognizing any plan provision changes. Effective June 30, 2013, the loss is amortized over the average life expectancy.

Net amount recognized in other comprehensive income (loss)	$102,800	$37,188	$(98,682)

The estimated prior service credit and net actuarial loss that will be amortized from AOCI into net periodic benefit expense in 2014 are $404 and $321, respectively.

The accumulated benefit obligation was $525,493 and $547,272 at December 31, 2013 and 2012, for the qualified retirement plan and $56,274 and $55,326 for the non-qualified retirement plans, respectively.

Due to the freeze, there will not be a difference in the accumulated benefit obligation and the projected benefit obligation prospectively.

The following table presents assumptions used in determining the actuarial present value of the benefit obligation and the subsequent year's net periodic benefit cost for the qualified and non-qualified retirement plans as of a measurement date:

	December 31, 2013	December 31, 2012	December 31, 2011
Discount rate	see detail below	see detail below	4.25%
Long-term rate of return on qualified plan assets	7.00%	7.50%	7.50%
Rate of increase in future compensation level	N/A	4.00%	4.00%

Discount Rate by Benefit Plan

Qualified	4.85%	4.24%
Nonqualified:
Partners SERP	4.43%	3.61%
ACS SERP	4.60%	3.68%
Senior SERP	3.32%	2.52%
Restoration SERP	4.70%	3.94%

As a result of the change in Actuarial Consultants, the Company has elected to move to the Mercer Yield Curve in place of the Aon Hewitt AA Only Universe Yield Curve. The Company uses separate discount rates for the different benefit plans as well as no rounding of discount rates, for consistency with industry trends. The expected future cash flows underlying the benefit obligations are discounted by the rate on the yield curve corresponding to the cash flow duration. The single discount rate that would yield the same present value as the sum of the discounted cash flows is determined. As of December 31, 2013 and 2012, the combined duration of all plans was 14 years and 18 years, respectively. The nonqualified pension plans have shorter durations than the qualified pension plan and the other postretirement benefit plans.

To set the expected return on plan assets for the qualified pension plan, the Company projects returns on each asset class using historical return relationships and making adjustments as necessary, given current market and economic conditions. The projected returns are then applied to the portfolio target asset allocation weightings and result in a projected long-term portfolio rate of return.

The following table presents assumptions used in determining the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation and the subsequent year's net periodic benefit cost for the other postretirement benefit plans:

	December 31, 2013	December 31, 2012	December 31, 2011
Discount rate	4.71%	4.11%	4.25%
Rate of increase in future compensation level	4.00%	4.00%	4.00%
Expected return on plan assets net of tax	5.50%	5.50%	5.50%

To set the expected return on plan assets for the other postretirement benefit plans, historical markets are studied and long-term relationships between equities and fixed income securities indicate that assets with higher volatility generate a greater return over the long run. Current market factors such as inflation and interest rates are evaluated before long-term capital market assumptions are determined. The long-term portfolio return is established with proper consideration of diversification and rebalancing. Peer data and historical returns are reviewed to check for reasonability and appropriateness.

The following table presents the medical trend rate used in determining the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation at December 31 for the other postretirement benefit plans:

Health care cost trend rate assumed for next year:
Under age 65	8.0%	9.5%
Age 65 and older	8.0%	8.0%
Rate to which the cost trend rate is assumed to decline (the ultimate trend rate)	4.5%	5.0%
Year that the rate reaches the ultimate trend rate:
Under age 65	2027	2020
Age 65 and older	2027	2019

The above trend rates were used for the PPO plan options. Different rates were used for some post-65 plan options to better model gross costs and expected government subsidies. The health care cost trend rate assumption can have a significant effect on the amounts reported. A one-percentage point change in assumed health care cost trend rates would have the following effects:

	1-Percentage Point Increase	1-Percentage Point Decrease
Effect on total of fiscal 2013 service and interest cost components	$409	$(316)
Effect on the December 31, 2013 postretirement benefit obligation	$3,838	$(3,139)

Future expected benefit payments and 2014 contributions are as follows:

	Retirement Benefits		Other Postretirement Benefits

2015	$28,420	$1,524	$3,648

The BCBSNC Retirement Plan (Plan) was frozen effective December 31, 2013. The Plan investment strategy has switched from total return to liability matching. The Plans funding ratio exceeded 100% at year end and approximately 50% of the portfolio will be transitioned to a liability driven investment strategy (LDI) in 2014. As the Plans funding ratio grows more investments will be allocated to the LDI strategy.

The Plans investments remain diversified and of high quality. At year end the Plan had investments in funds invested in fixed income, domestic & international equities, real estate, commodities and timber.

The investment fiduciary for the VEBA, employs a total return investment approach whereby a mix of equities, fixed income and other investments is used to maximize the long-term return of plan assets for a prudent level of risk. The investment portfolio contains a diversified blend of equity, fixed income and other investments. Investment risk is measured and monitored on an ongoing basis through investment portfolio reviews, annual liability measurements, and periodic asset/liability studies.

The mutual fund investment strategy for the VEBA is market sensitive while remaining consistent with the risk tolerance, tax status, and cash flow requirements. Fund strategies include pursuing and capitalizing on market inefficiencies using duration, yield curve, security selection, geographic concentration, sector and state allocation. Security selection, geographic concentration and sector decisions are based on relative attractiveness, using inputs such as historical spread relationships, the value of state tax exemptions, state/regional economic outlooks, credit outlooks selection, geographic concentration, sector and state allocation. Security selection, geographic concentration and sector decisions are based on relative attractiveness, using inputs such as historical spread relationships, the value of state tax exemptions, state/regional economic outlooks, credit outlooks and supply and demand.

Other Employee Benefits

BCBSNC has two defined contribution retirement plans qualified under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code, the BCBSNC Retirement Savings Plan and the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan (401(k) Plan). Eligible employees hired after December 31, 2005 may only participate in the 401(k) Plan. Eligible BCBSNC employees hired prior to December 31, 2005 and participating in the Retirement Savings plan were given the option to remain in that plan or enroll in the 401(k) Plan. Each plan is nondiscriminatory. Participant pretax and Roth contributions are matched at the rate of 50% of the first 6% of compensation or 100% of the first 6% of compensation, depending upon the plan, subject to certain limitations. Under the 401(k) Plan, a profit sharing contribution is made by the Company in an amount equal to 3% of eligible compensation. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $19,199, $16,841 and $16,710, for the years ended December 31, 2013, 2012, and 2011, respectively.

In connection with the redesign of the Company's retirement plans, the Retirement Savings Plan will be merged with the redesigned BCBSNC 401(k) Plan effective December 31, 2013. The newly designed 401(k) will be amended to include a new safe harbor matching contribution formula of 100% of the first 4% and 50% of the next 2% of compensation contributed, subject to certain limitations. A profit sharing contribution will be made by the Company in an amount equaling 2% to 5% of eligible compensation, based on the employee's years of service with the Company. Additionally, eligible employees who were participating in the defined benefit pension plan as of December 31, 2013 are also eligible to receive a non-elective contribution ranging from 1% to 8% of eligible compensation for up to 10 years, based on the employee's total years of service with the Company and based on their defined contribution plan participation choice.

The Company also maintains the Restoration Plan, a non-qualified defined contribution plan, to ensure that designated participants receive the full amount of benefits to which they would have been entitled under the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan except for limits on compensation imposed by the Internal Revenue Service. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $560, $514 and $271, for the years ended December 31, 2013, 2012, and 2011, respectively.

The Company maintains a rabbi trust to account for assets and liabilities under the Company's nonqualified deferred compensation plan. Certain BCBSNC employees are allowed to defer a portion of their compensation until a future date. The deferred compensation plan was amended in 2011 to prevent participation for both the 2011 and 2012 plan years. The deferrals are included in investments with an equal offsetting liability included in postretirement and other retirement benefits. The value of assets accounted for in the rabbi trust are $2,243 and $3,453, at December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively. In addition, the Company has an arrangement for the Board of Trustees which provide for the deferral of a portion of their compensation until a future date. This deferred compensation arrangement is not included in the assets and liabilities of the rabbi trust. The Company's deferred compensation liability related to this arrangement at December 31, 2013 and 2012 was $532 and $343, respectively.

11. Income Taxes

BCBSNC files a consolidated federal income tax return with its subsidiaries. Current taxes are allocated among all affiliated companies based on a written tax sharing agreement, primarily on a separate company return basis using a wait-and-see method. These agreements have the effect of crediting each separate company within the consolidated group for the use of its net operating or other losses in the year in which the separate company could utilize the losses on a separate company return basis while charging those companies that previously benefited from use of the losses.

The significant components of income tax expense (benefit) in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income for the years ended December 31 are as follows:

A valuation allowance is required against deferred tax assets if, based on the weight of available evidence, it is more likely than not that some or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. Based upon all the available evidence, management recorded a valuation allowance of $1,790 as of December 31, 2013 and 2012. Management believes it is more likely than not that the Company will realize its remaining net deferred tax assets as of the respective balance sheet dates.

As of December 31, 2013, as further described below, certain tax years remain open to examination by the IRS and various state authorities. We have not recorded amounts for uncertain tax positions. The amount of unrecognized tax benefits did not materially change in 2013 and it is not anticipated to change in the next twelve months. However, the ultimate resolution of these items is dependent on a number of factors.

The Company's tax years 2010 through 2012 remain open to examination by the IRS. Mosaic tax year 2010 (disregarded entity effective 2011) remains open to examination by the North Carolina Department of Revenue. ACS tax years 2010 through 2012 remain open to examination by the North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia Departments of Revenue. Noble tax years 2010 to 2012 remain open to examination by various state Departments of Revenue.

12. Related Party Transaction

In November 2000, BCBSNC established the Blue Cross Blue Shield of North Carolina Foundation, formerly The North Carolina Health Foundation, (Foundation), a separate, independent, private, non-consolidated not-for-profit organization in North Carolina. The purpose of the Foundation is to provide financial support to improve the health and well being of North Carolinians. The Company received $551, $450 and $858 from the Foundation for salaries and benefits related to certain BCBSNC employees that provide services to the Foundation for the years ended 2013, 2012 and 2011, respectively. In 2013, BCBSNC contributed $10,000 in appreciated securities and donated services of $557, which were included in operating expenses. In 2012, BCBSNC contributed donated services of $558, which were included in operating expenses. In 2011, BCBSNC contributed $10,000 in appreciated securities and donated services of $531, and as a result incurred $10,560 in operating expenses. The Foundation is not a subsidiary of BCBSNC and the financial results of the Foundation are not consolidated with the Company's financial statements. We have no current legal obligations for future commitments to the Foundation, nor are we responsible for losses that may emerge in the Foundation.

In December 2011, BCBSNC established Topaz as a partnership. Its purpose is to develop a technology-enabled and market-competitive business solution to address the individual and small group health insurance markets. The initial focus of Topaz will be the delivery of a shared technology solution based on The TriZetto Group's software for administering business in the retail marketplace, including individual (less than 65 years old) and small group (defined as up to 100 lives) health insurance products. This solution is anticipated to be expanded to serve all lines of business in the future. Additionally, Topaz may expand the scope of its service offering to include certain health plan operations, such as enrollment, billing, claims administration and other business process services.

Topaz is owned by Noble and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas City ("BCBSKC"). The initial capital contribution of Noble was $5,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The initial capital contribution of BCBSKC's subsidiary was $5,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The Company and BCBSKC are funding Topaz and its development of a software infrastructure. Once operational, the Company and BCBSKC will additionally become customers of Topaz.

During 2013 the Company and BCBSKC entered into discussions regarding the withdrawal of BCBSKC from Topaz as an owner and customer. These discussions culminated in a Settlement Letter Agreement and Release that became effective January 23, 2014. As a result of this transaction, Noble owns 100% of Topaz after closing. The Company intends to continue funding the development of Topaz.

Topaz is a variable interest entity because its capital contributions are not sufficient to fund the development of its software infrastructure. Funding sources other than capital contributions are required to accomplish this endeavor. Additional funding is in the form of investments in research and development. The Company anticipates it will recover these additional investments through reduced billings from Topaz when it becomes operational. The Company has concluded that it is not the primary beneficiary of Topaz, because it does not hold the power to direct the activities that most significantly impact Topaz, since it shares a voting interest on a 50% - 50% basis with BCBSKC. Accordingly, the investment in Topaz is accounted for as an equity method investment. Effective January 23, 2014, with the execution of the Settlement Letter Agreement, prospectively, the Company will consolidate the operations of Topaz based on its 100% ownership. The Company has evaluated this and it does not have a material effect on the operations of the Company. The roll forward below summarizes carrying values and activity for these investments for the years ended December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2012:

Commitments

The Company has a commitment to Topaz to develop a claims processing system. Related funding for 2013, 2012 and 2011 were $37,151, $37,824 and 17,453 respectively.

At December 31, 2013, expected future costs to BCBSNC related to developing Topaz's claims processing system are estimated as follows: 2014, $50,115; 2015, $41,133; 2016, $45,310; 2017, $60,582; and 2018, $67,263.

At December 31, 2013, expected future costs to BCBSNC related to a purchase obligation for stated service fees with non-cancelable terms with Fujitsu for outsourced IT infrastructure are estimated as follows: 2014, $75,847; 2015, $75,847; 2016, $75,847; 2017, $75,847; and 2018, $18,963.

Litigation against the Company

The Company is involved in litigation (In Re: Blue Cross Blue Shield Antitrust Litigation (United States District Court, Northern District of Alabama)) regarding a multi-district case that consolidates multiple state and national class actions against various of the Company, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association and multiple other Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. The Company is a named defendant in seven of the consolidated cases.

The cases all allege an ongoing conspiracy in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act among the Blues and BCBSA and seek (1) a permanent injunction prohibiting enforcement of any agreements which restrict BCBSA member operating territories; (2) treble damages for (a) alleged artificially inflated premiums in the case of subscribers and (b) alleged suppressed provider compensation in the case of providers and (3) attorneys' fees and costs. Additionally, one of the consolidated cases against the Company makes antitrust allegations based on most favored nations ("MFN") clauses in the Company's provider contracts and seeks reformation of the Company's provider contracts to strike MFN clauses and monetary damages. The Defendants have filed a Motion to Dismiss which is pending.. The Company intends to vigorously defend this litigation.

Additionally, BCBSNC is also involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. However, management believes that proceedings arising in the ordinary course of business and those referenced above will not have a material adverse impact on the financial position of the Company.

Other Contingencies

The National Organization of Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Associations (NOLHGA) is a voluntary organization consisting of the state life and health insurance guaranty associations located throughout the U.S. State life and health insurance guaranty associations, working together with NOLHGA, provide a safety net for their state's policyholders, ensuring that they continue to receive coverage even if their insurer is declared insolvent. The Company is aware that the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner (Insurance Commissioner) has placed Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company and its subsidiary American Network Insurance Company, or collectively Penn Treaty, in rehabilitation, an intermediate action before insolvency. The state court denied the Insurance Commissioner's petition for the liquidation of Penn Treaty and ordered the Insurance Commissioner to file an updated plan of rehabilitation. The Insurance Commissioner has filed a Notice of Appeal asking the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to reverse the order denying the liquidation petition. In the event rehabilitation of Penn Treaty is unsuccessful and Penn Treaty is declared insolvent and placed in liquidation, the Company and other insurers may be required to pay a portion of their policyholder claims through state guaranty association assessments in future periods. Given the uncertainty around whether Penn Treaty will ultimately be declared insolvent and, if so, the amount of the insolvency, the amount and timing of any associated future guaranty fund assessments and the availability and amount of any potential premium tax and other offsets, the Company currently cannot estimate its net exposure, if any, to this potential insolvency. The Company will continue to monitor the situation and may record a liability and expense in future reporting periods, which could be material to its cash flows and results of operations.

14. Administrative Services

Claims processed for others under contract, which have been excluded from the financial statements, are summarized for the years ended December 31 as follows:

	2013	2012	2011
Claims processed for:
State of North Carolina	$1,976,797	$1,872,920	$2,039,432
Other self-funded groups	6,301,489	5,948,572	5,632,791
	$8,278,286	$7,821,492	$7,672,223

Administrative fees received for processing these claims totaled $427,548, $427,408 and $448,894 in 2013, 2012 and 2011, respectively. All claims payments are subject to audit by the program administrators. If the program administrators determine that the claims or expenses have not been paid in accordance with the contract, the Company may be required to reimburse the program administrators.

The Company's ASO business includes a multi-year agreement with a key customer. Currently, the Company anticipates ultimate future revenues will be less than the anticipated cost of administration. As of December 31, 2013 and 2012, the Company has recorded an accrual for anticipated losses for this business of $19,000 and $66,423, respectively. The change in the accrual was the result of expected amortization of $11,900 and a reevaluation of the liability of $35,500.

The NCDOI recognizes only Statutory Accounting Practices prescribed or permitted by the state of North Carolina for determining and reporting the financial condition and results of operations of an insurance company, for determining its solvency under the North Carolina Insurance Law. The NAIC's Accounting Practices and Procedures manual has been adopted as a component of prescribed or permitted practices by the state of North Carolina.

The NAIC adopted the RBC for Health Organizations Model Act in 1998. The NCDOI subsequently adopted this act in 2001. Under this act, a company's risk-based capital (RBC) is calculated by applying certain factors to various asset, premium and reserve items. If a company's calculated RBC falls below certain thresholds, regulatory intervention or oversight is required. BCBSNC's RBC level, calculated in accordance with the NAIC's RBC instructions, exceeded all RBC thresholds as of December 31, 2013 and 2012. The Company is also subject to insurance laws and regulations of the State of North Carolina that include but are not limited to restrictions on dividends, types of investments that insurers are allowed to invest in, and the amount of capital and surplus.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 2014 and 2013, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years ended December 31, 2014, 2013, and 2012 in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements are prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) in the United States (US). Preparation of the consolidated financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. The Company uses estimates and assumptions based on analytical and/or actuarially accepted quantitative methods in determining contract reserves and claims incurred but not yet reported, valuation of pension and other benefit plans, deferred acquisition costs, deferred income taxes, fair value of investments, other-than-temporary impairments and other valuation accruals. Actual results could differ materially from those estimates.

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of BCBSNC and all of its wholly-owned subsidiaries. All significant intercompany transactions and accounts have been eliminated in consolidation.

Certain prior year balances have been reclassified to conform to current year presentation in the accompanying consolidated financial statements. These reclassifications resulted in no change to previously reported amounts of accumulated capital, income before taxes, or net income.

Adoption of New Accounting Pronouncements

Effective January 1, 2014, we adopted the provisions of Accounting Standards Update No. 2011-06, Other Expenses (Topic 720): Fees Paid to the Federal Government by Health Insurers (a consensus of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Emerging Issues Task Force), or ASU 2011-06. Health Care Reform imposes a mandatory annual Health Insurance Fee on health insurers that write certain types of health insurance on U.S. risks. The annual fee is allocated to health insurers based on the ratio of the amount of an insurer's net premium revenues written during the preceding calendar year to an adjusted amount of health insurance for all U.S. health risk for those certain lines of business written during the preceding calendar year. The fee is non-deductible for federal income tax purposes. For reporting entities subject to the assessment, the guidance specifies that the liability for the assessment should be estimated and recorded in full once the entity provides qualifying health insurance during the applicable calendar year in which the assessment is payable, with a corresponding deferred cost amortized to expense. The deferred asset is recorded within prepaid expenses on the consolidated balance sheets and is $0 at December 31, 2014. The Company recorded an assessment of $79,491 for 2014, within ACA and premium taxes on the consolidated statements of comprehensive income. The Company assessment, to be paid in September 2015, is expected to be $135,200.

Effective January 1, 2014, we adopted the provisions of Accounting Standards Update No. 2013-02, Comprehensive Income (Topic 220): Reporting of Amounts Reclassified Out of Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income, or ASU 2013-02. This guidance requires an entity to provide information about the amounts reclassified out of accumulated other comprehensive income into net income. The financial statement presentation of this information is also specified. This guidance is effective for the Company's 2014 fiscal year and is adopted in these financial statements.

Newly Issued Accounting Standards

In January 2014, the FASB issued guidance that would allow for an accounting alternative for the subsequent measurement of goodwill. This standard is effective for the Company's 2015 fiscal year and early adoption is permitted. The Company has assessed the effect that the implementation of the new guidance will have and does not intend to adopt the guidance.

In May 2014, the FASB issued guidance that would require an entity to recognize the amount of revenue to which it expects to be entitled for the transfer of promised goods or services to customers. The updated standard will replace most existing revenue recognition guidance in U.S. GAAP, except those related to insurance contracts, when it becomes effective and permits the use of either a full retrospective or retrospective with cumulative effect transition method. Early adoption is not permitted. The updated standard will be effective for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2017, and interim periods within annual periods beginning after December 15, 2018. The Company has not yet selected a transition method and is currently evaluating the effect that the updated standard will have on the consolidated financial statements.

In June 2014, the FASB issued guidance that would eliminate all incremental financial reporting requirements from GAAP for development-stage entities and remove an exception provided for development stage entities in determining whether an entity is a variable interest entity, which may change the consolidation analysis, consolidation decision, and disclosure requirements for a company that has an interest in a company in the development stage. The guidance impacting the consolidation analysis are required to be applied retrospectively and are effective for the Company for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2015. The guidance impacting the consolidation analysis are required to be applied retrospectively and are effective for the Company for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2016. The Company is currently considering the impact this amendment will have on its consolidation analysis related to its investments in certain entities.

Risks and Uncertainties

Unfavorable economic conditions could materially and adversely affect our revenues and our results of operations. For example, high unemployment rates could cause lower enrollment or lower rates of renewal in our employer group plans. Unfavorable economic conditions could cause employers to stop offering certain health care coverage as an employee benefit or elect to offer this coverage on a voluntary, employee-funded basis as a means to reduce their operating costs. In addition, unfavorable economic conditions could adversely impact our ability to increase premiums or result in the cancellation by certain customers of our products and services. All of these could lead to a decrease in our membership levels and premium and fee revenues and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Our investment portfolio may suffer losses, which could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Market fluctuations could impair our profitability and capital position. Volatility in interest rates affects our interest income and the market value of our investments in debt securities of varying maturities, which comprise the vast majority of the fair value of our investments as of December 31, 2014.

We also allocate a proportion of our portfolio to equity and alternative investments, which are subject to greater volatility than fixed income investments. General economic conditions, stock market conditions, and many other factors beyond our control can materially and adversely affect the value of these investments and may result in investment losses.

There can be no assurance that our investments will produce total positive returns or that we will not sell investments at prices that are less than their carrying values. Changes in the value of our investment assets, as a result of interest rate fluctuations, changes in issuer financial conditions, illiquidity or otherwise, could have an adverse effect on our equity. In addition, if it became necessary for us to liquidate our investment portfolio on an accelerated basis, it could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations.

Investments made in healthcare companies are not guaranteed to produce positive results. Our financial results may be impacted by a number of factors including, but not limited to, the failure of companies in which we invest to achieve business and operating plans, failure of these companies to adapt to a rapidly changing healthcare environment, and the inability of these companies to attract and retain key executives and employees. Additionally, negative changes in the financial markets could result in lower valuations (impacting the carrying value of investments already made) and the inability of these companies to access capital or to access capital on favorable terms. The impact of some or all of these risks could result in the impairment of our investment.

We routinely process, store and transmit large amounts of data in our operations, including sensitive personal information as well as proprietary or confidential information relating to our business or third-parties. Some of the data we process, store and transmit may be outside of the U.S. due to third-parties' information technology systems. Notwithstanding our proactive and aggressive measures to prevent security breaches, we still face the risk and subsequent costs of these breaches. We may be subject to breaches of the information technology systems we use. Experienced computer programmers and hackers may be able to penetrate our layered security controls and misappropriate or compromise sensitive personal information or proprietary or confidential information or that of third-parties, create system disruptions or cause shutdowns. They also may be able to develop and deploy viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs that attack our systems or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. Our facilities may also be vulnerable to security incidents or security attacks; acts of vandalism or theft; coordinated attacks by activist entities; misplaced or lost data; human errors; or other similar events that could negatively affect our systems and our customers' data.

The costs to eliminate or address the foregoing security threats and vulnerabilities before or after a cyber-incident could be significant. Our remediation efforts may not be successful and could result in interruptions, delays, or cessation of service, and loss of existing or potential customers. In addition, breaches of our security measures and the unauthorized dissemination of sensitive personal information or proprietary information or confidential information about us or our customers or other third-parties, could expose our customers' private information and our customers to the risk of financial or medical identity theft, or expose us or other third-parties to a risk of loss or misuse of this information, result in litigation and potential liability for us, damage our brand and reputation, or otherwise harm our business.

Substantially all of the Company's cash and cash equivalents are held in either deposits at financial institutions or in commercial paper with a high quality investment grade rating. Credit losses are not anticipated. All fixed income securities are rated investment grade at the time of purchase by nationally recognized rating agencies, and the credit ratings are continuously reviewed by management. The portfolio is diversified by limiting each individual non-government issuer concentration to no more than 5% of the portfolio.

We are dependent on the success of our relationships with a large vendor for a significant portion of our information system resources and certain other vendors for various other services. We have an agreement with Fujitsu for the operation of our IT systems and are dependent upon them for support functions. We also have agreements with other vendors to provide call center, claims processing, enrollment and billing, and fulfillment support as well as vendor dependencies associated with various workflow and transactional systems critical to our operations. Should these vendors be unable to provide their services, we may not be able to meet the demands of our customers and, in turn, our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations may be harmed.

The inability to bring a scalable and flexible information technology infrastructure to support and deliver on the current and anticipated future needs of the business in an efficient, cost effective and well-controlled manner could impact results of operations, financial position and cash flows. A new core operating platform is intended to provide enrollment and claims-processing services. Our internally developed software related to this has been placed in service for our small Group market, with membership increasing as we add new functionality. We are targeting to add functionality for our Individual and Large Group markets for January 1, 2016 effective dates. A key goal is increasing speed to market for new products and product enhancements. Completion of this project could favorably position the company to capture exchange-related business and other business from some of its national competition. However, execution risk is present and the cost of this initiative is substantial and may increase, while the business and operating cost-reduction benefits are unproven.

In addition, federal and state regulatory agencies may further restrict our ability to implement changes in premium rates or impose additional restrictions, under new or existing laws, such as minimum medical loss ratio requirements or restricted definitions of costs to be included when calculating medical loss ratios under such definitions. Our ability to secure sufficient premium rates, including regulatory approval for and implementation of such rates on a timely basis, may be restricted by changes in federal and state regulations or by the application of existing federal and state regulations. A limitation on our ability to increase or maintain our premium rates and more restrictive medical loss ratio requirements could adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

In addition, during a prolonged unfavorable economic environment, state and federal budgets could be materially and adversely affected, resulting in reduced reimbursements or payments for federal and state government health care coverage programs, including Medicare, Medicaid and CHIP. A reduction in state Medicare reimbursement rates could be implemented retrospectively to payments already negotiated and/or received from the government and could indirectly affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. In addition, the state and federal budgetary pressures could cause the government to impose new or a higher level of taxes or assessments for our commercial programs, such as premium taxes on insurance companies and health maintenance organizations and surcharges or fees on select fee-for-service and capitated medical claims, and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Depending on the consolidation and integration of physician groups and hospitals, reimbursement strategies vary across markets. Fee-for-service is our predominant reimbursement methodology for physicians, but we are transitioning to a value-based payment program. More traditional physician fee schedules are developed at the state and regional level based on an assessment of several factors and conditions, including the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (“CMS”), resource-based relative value system, medical practice cost inflation and physician supply. In addition, we have implemented and continue to expand physician incentive contracting, or “pay for performance”, which ties physician payment levels to performance on quality and clinical outcomes. As providers continue to consolidate, we may experience upward pressure on reimbursement amounts and, in turn, our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations may be harmed.
Additionally, accountable care organizations; practice management companies (which are companies that aggregate physician practices for administrative efficiency); and other organizational structures that physicians, hospitals and other care providers choose may change the way in which these providers interact with us and may change the competitive landscape. Such organizations or groups of physicians may compete directly with us, which could adversely affect our operations, and our results of operations, financial position and cash flows by impacting our relationships with these providers or affecting the way that we price our products and estimate our costs, which might require us to incur costs to change our operations.

Since 2010, with the passage of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA or health care reform), health insurance issuers have been feeling the far-reaching effects of subsequent guidance and regulations. The law is intended to expand access to health insurance coverage over time by increasing the eligibility thresholds for most state Medicaid programs and providing certain other individuals and small businesses with tax credits to subsidize a portion of the cost of health insurance coverage. The legislation includes a requirement that most individuals obtain health insurance coverage which began on January 1, 2014 and that most large employers offer coverage to their employees beginning in 2015 or be required to pay a financial penalty. In addition, the new laws encompass certain new taxes and fees, including an excise tax on high premium insurance policies, an annual fee to fund comparative effectiveness research, limitations on the amount of compensation that is tax deductible and new fees on companies in our industry, certain of which are not deductible for income tax purposes.

While many of the law's reforms became effective January 1, 2014, including the individual mandate, the establishment of federally-facilitated or state-based exchanges, and the three premium stabilization programs ("3R's"), many of the implications of the law will not be seen for years to come.

Federal and state regulatory changes in December 2013 allowed certain individuals to maintain their current pre-ACA plans that are not compliant with health care reform, led to higher than previously expected retention of existing underwritten health plans. As this was the case with many issuers, across many states, this could result in overall deterioration of the risk pool in ACA compliant plans because more members remain in their current health plans rather than moving to ACA plans on or off the Exchange. The 3R's programs may mitigate this deterioration to some extent.

In addition, the ACA has increased and will continue to increase federal oversight of health plan premium rates and could adversely affect our ability to appropriately adjust health plan premiums on a timely basis. Financing for these reforms comes, in part, from material additional fees and taxes on all health plans and individuals beginning in 2014.

As discussed above, implementing regulations and related interpretive guidance continue to be issued on certain provisions of the ACA. Given the breadth of possible changes and the uncertainties of interpretation, implementation, and timing of these changes, the ACA has and will change how we do business, with impacts on pricing, benefit design, product offering, and sales distribution channels. The response of insurance issuers, the market overall, and adjustments to plan offerings could cause significant disruption in health care markets. It is possible that health care reform and related regulations, as well as future legislative changes, including legislative restrictions on issuers ability to manage provider networks or otherwise operate business, may have a sustained material adverse effect on our results of operations, financial position, and cash flows (including the receipt of amounts due under the 3R's programs in 2015 and future years related to claims paid in 2014).

Federal Congressional activity, budget negotiations, and ongoing regulatory changes to health care reform, and litigation challenging aspects of the law continue to create uncertainty about the ultimate impact of the ACA. Examples of this uncertainty include the conflicting decisions issued by the US Courts of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit and for the Fourth Circuit regarding whether the IRS can provide tax credits/subsidies to individuals who purchase health insurance through the Federally Facilitated Exchanges/Marketplaces established by the federal government (Exchanges). As a result, in November 2014, the U.S. Supreme Court agreed to hear oral arguments in the King v. Burwell case regarding the current IRS guidance and a decision is expected this June.

In May 2014, CMS published a final rule on Public Exchanges. The final rule provides that payments to health plans under the risk corridor program required by Health Care Reform will no longer be limited to the aggregate amount of the risk corridor collections received by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services ("HHS") over the duration of the risk corridor program. However, it is possible that payments to health plans under the risk corridor program will require additional appropriation legislation to be passed by the U.S. Congress. We cannot predict whether pending or future federal or state legislation or court proceedings, including future U.S. Congressional appropriations and the proceedings relating to tax credits for Federal Exchange members described above, will change various aspects of Health Care Reform or state level health care reform, nor can we predict the impact those changes will have on our business operations and/or financial results, but the effects could be materially adverse.

Health care reform also presents a challenge to insurers with respect to cash flows. In the pre-health care reform environment, an insurer would collect almost all premiums in advance of paying claims. However, health care reform has created new reimbursement timelines for insurers as government subsidies (which comprise over 90% of on-Exchange premiums) are not paid until more than 20 days into the coverage month. In addition, health care reform-related reimbursement payments to insurers to offset higher-than-expected or higher-than-average risk are not made until the third quarter following the coverage year.

As described above, the Company continues to face uncertainty impacting the health insurance industry with the ultimate implementation of the ACA, including the timing of when certain provisions become effective and legislative challenges proposed concerning targeted provisions or the law in totality. There is also uncertainty related to whether there will be adequate funding levels for certain programs and our ability to estimate the impact of these programs, which could impact our financial performance in future periods. The Company will continue to monitor any changes to the implementation requirements or timeline but at this point cannot estimate the ultimate impact of these changes, if any.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less and not restricted to be cash equivalents. Cash equivalents totaled $5,296 and $26,385 as of December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Cash and cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates fair value due to the short maturity of these assets.

Included in other noncurrent assets as of both December 31, 2014 and 2013 are restricted money market funds and bonds of $33,008 and $32,998, respectively, which were on deposit with the state of North Carolina in accordance with contractual requirements.

Investments

All investments are categorized as available-for-sale and are recorded at their fair values as of the balance sheet date. The Company records purchases and sales as of the trade date. Fixed income securities are classified as either current or noncurrent assets based on their contractual maturities as well as management's expectations as to when they will be sold. If the Company does not intend to sell the fixed income security, management considers available evidence to assess whether it is more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before the recovery of its amortized cost basis. Equity securities are primarily classified as current as they are available for use for current operations. Certain securities, which are used to satisfy contractual, regulatory or other requirements, continue to be classified as long-term, without regard to contractual maturity. Venture capital investments, real estate funds, private equity funds and private equity securities are classified as noncurrent assets.

Realized gains and losses, including other-than-temporary impairments that are determined to be due to credit, are included in income. Unrealized gains, unrealized losses estimated to be temporary in nature and other-than-temporary impairments determined to be non-credit related, net of deferred income taxes, are reflected in accumulated capital as Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income (loss) (AOCI). Realized gains and losses on investments sold are determined on the specific identification basis. Interest and dividend income is recorded on the accrual basis.

Declines in the fair value of invested assets below cost are compiled on a monthly basis and reviewed quarterly to assess whether any other-than-temporary impairment loss should be recorded. Various thresholds are used to identify those securities which are at the greatest risk of an other than temporary impairment. Impairment losses for declines in value of fixed income investments and equity securities below cost attributable to issuer-specific events are based upon all relevant facts and circumstances for each investment and are recognized when appropriate. Some, but not all, of the factors considered in evaluating financial condition are earnings trends, industry outlook, negative cash flows, profitability, capital, the length of time below book value, downgrade of debt ratings and asset quality which could lead to an other-than-temporary impairment of any security. U.S. Treasury securities with unrealized losses are deemed to be temporarily impaired, with unrealized losses due to interest rate changes and not due to credit related factors. For fixed income investments with unrealized losses due to market conditions or industry-related events and where no specific evidence of deterioration of the issuers' credit exists, if the Company does not intend to sell the fixed income security and management does not consider it to be more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before a market recovery or maturity, declines in value below amortized cost are not assumed to be other-than-temporary.

When an other-than-temporary impairment loss is determined to have occurred on equity securities, the losses are recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. The way in which impairment losses on fixed income securities are recognized in the financial statements is dependent on the facts and circumstances related to the specific security. If the Company intends to sell a security or it is more likely than not that we would be required to sell a security before the recovery of its amortized cost, less any current period credit loss, the Company recognizes an other-than-temporary impairment in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income for the difference between amortized cost and fair value. If the Company does not expect to recover the amortized cost basis, does not plan to sell the security and if it is not more likely than not that the Company would be required to sell a security before the recovery of its amortized cost, less any current period credit loss, the recognition of the other-than-temporary impairment is bifurcated. The Company recognizes the credit loss portion in net income and the noncredit loss portion in AOCI.

The credit component of an other-than-temporary impairment is determined by comparing the net present value of projected future cash flows with the amortized cost basis of the fixed income security. The net present value is calculated by discounting our best estimate of projected future cash flows at the effective interest rate implicit in the fixed income security at the date of acquisition. For mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities, cash flow estimates are based on assumptions regarding the underlying collateral including expected prepayments, vintage, type of underlying asset, geographic concentrations, default rates, recoveries and changes in value of the underlying collateral. For all other fixed income securities, cash flow estimates are driven by assumptions regarding probability of default, including changes in credit ratings, and estimates regarding timing and amount of recoveries associated with a default.

Fair value is determined by quoted market prices, where available. For securities not actively traded, fair values were estimated using values obtained from independent pricing services or quoted market prices of comparable instruments. Management judgment is involved in evaluating whether a decline in an investment's fair value is other-than-temporary. The discovery of new information and the passage of time can change these judgments. Impairment judgments are revised when new information becomes known and any resulting impairment adjustments are made at that time.

Fair Value Measurement

The carrying amounts reported in the Consolidated Balance Sheets for cash, cash equivalents, premiums and other receivables, Affordable Care Act receivables, income tax receivable, unearned premiums, medical and other benefits payable, accounts payable, other assets and accrued expenses, book overdrafts and payables for securities approximate fair value because of the short term nature of these items. These assets and liabilities are not listed in Note 9.

Assets and liabilities recorded at estimated fair value in the Consolidated Balance Sheets are categorized based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure their fair value. Level inputs are defined as follows:

Level Input:	Input Definition:
Level I	Inputs are unadjusted, quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets at the measurement date.
Level II	Inputs other than quoted prices included in Level I that are observable for the asset or liability through corroboration with market data at the measurement date.
Level III	Unobservable inputs that reflect management's best estimate of what market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date.

Transfers between Levels, if any, are recorded as if they had occurred at the beginning of the reporting period during which the change in method for valuing the underlying assets occurred.

Fair values of fixed income and equity securities are based on quoted market prices, where available. The Company obtains one price for each security primarily from a third-party pricing service (pricing service), which generally uses quoted or other observable inputs for the determination of fair value. The pricing service normally derives the security prices through recently reported trades for identical or similar securities, making adjustments through the reporting date based upon available observable market information. For securities not actively traded, the pricing service may use quoted market prices of comparable instruments or, incorporating inputs that are currently observable in the markets for similar securities. Inputs that are often used in the valuation methodologies include, but are not limited to, benchmark curves, benchmarking of like securities, sector groupings, and matrix pricing. In addition, the pricing service uses model processes such as the Option Adjusted Spread model to assess interest rate impact and develop prepayment scenarios.

We perform monthly analysis on the prices received from third parties for our internally managed portfolios to determine whether the prices are reasonable estimates of fair value. Our analysis includes a comparison of prices received from third parties to prices obtained from other sources.

In instances in which the inputs used to measure fair value fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy, the fair value measurement has been determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value.

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies used by the Company to value assets, including the pension and postretirement assets, measured at fair value:

Major Category	Valued at
Mutual funds	Net asset value (NAV) of shares which are provided by the administrator of the fund.
State and/or U.S. government obligations and common and/or preferred stock	Closing price reported in the active market in which the individual security is traded. If in an inactive market, based on quoted market prices, broker or dealer quotations, or alternative pricing sources with reasonable levels of price transparency. Securities that trade infrequently and therefore have little or no price transparency are valued using the investment manager's best estimates.
Interest in collective trust funds	NAV of shares which are provided by the administrator of the fund.
Pooled separate accounts	Based on underlying value provided by the fund manager
Partnership	Based on the most recent audited financial results

Major Category	Valued at
Real estate funds	Based on underlying value provided by the fund manager
Private equity funds	Based on underlying value provided by the fund manager
Other investments	Dealer quotes, trade data, two-sided markets institutional bids, comparable trades and/or other news media
Privately held fixed income and equity securities, including venture capital investments	Reviewing the value ascribed to the most recent financing, comparing the security with securities of publicly traded companies in a similar line of business, and/or reviewing the underlying financial performance including estimating discounted cash flows
Fixed income securities including corporate, commercial and residential mortgage backed securities	Closing price reported in the active market in which the bond is traded or based on yields currently available on comparable securities of issuers with similar credit ratings or discounted cash flows approach that maximized observable inputs, such as current yields of similar instruments, but includes adjustments for certain risks that may not be observable, such as credit and liquidity risks

The carrying value of corporate-owned life insurance policies is the cash surrender value as reported by the respective insurer.

The fair value of our long-term debt, included in liabilities on the Consolidated Balance Sheets, is based on current market observable rates estimated to be available to us for debt of similar terms and remaining maturities.

Ownership in Investee Companies

The Company had ownership in several investee companies in the amount of $74,765 and $42,778 as of December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Ownership interest amounts ranged from 10% to 50%. The majority of these investments are accounted for on an equity method basis with remaining investments being accounted for using the cost method.

Premiums and Other Receivables

Premiums and other receivables include the uncollected amounts due from insured and self-funded customers and the federal government for amounts related to Medicare Advantage. Also, included in other receivables are the uncollected amounts of drug rebates, interest, certain profit sharing arrangements and other miscellaneous receivables. Premiums and other receivables are reported net of any allowance for uncollectible amounts. The allowance for uncollectible receivables is estimated each period and a valuation allowance is recorded based upon the age of unpaid amounts and other information about the customers as well as management's judgment regarding the ability of the customers to pay outstanding amounts. Estimates of uncollectible accounts receivable are revised each period, and changes are reflected in the operating expense line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period they become known.

The Company's pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) contracts with pharmaceutical manufacturers, some of whom provide rebates based on use of the manufacturers products by the PBM for the Company's insured and self-funded customers. The Company accrues the rebates receivable monthly based on the terms of the applicable contracts. The PBM bills these rebates to the manufacturers on a quarterly basis. The Company is reimbursed either annually or quarterly for these rebates. The Company records the rebates attributable to insured customers as a reduction to claims and medical expense. The rebates attributable to self-funded customers are accrued as rebates receivable as well as a corresponding payable to self-funded customers in accordance with their contracts.

Affordable Care Act Risk Management Programs

Beginning in 2014, as prescribed by health care reform, three programs, commonly referred to as the 3R's, went into effect to reduce the risk for participating health insurance companies selling coverage on the public exchanges.

A three-year (2014-2016) reinsurance program is designed to provide reimbursement to insurers for high cost individual business sold on or off the public exchanges. The reinsurance entity established by HHS is funded by a per-customer reinsurance fee assessed on all commercial medical plans, including self-insured group health plans. Only non-grandfathered individual plans are eligible for recoveries if claims exceed a specified threshold, up to a reinsurance cap. Reinsurance contributions associated with non-grandfathered individual plans are reported as a reduction in premium revenue, and estimated reinsurance recoveries are established with an offsetting reduction in medical claims expense. Reinsurance fee contributions for other insured business are reported in other operating expenses. After fully reflecting completed actual claims experience and sufficient claims run-out, development factors were set and used to record the reinsurance receivable. At December 31, 2014, the Company recorded a reinsurance receivable of $247,785.

A permanent risk adjustment program reallocates funds from insurers with lower risk populations to insurers with higher risk populations based on the relative risk scores of participants in non-grandfathered plans in the individual and small group markets, both on and off the exchanges. Based on the risk of our members compared to the risk of other members in the same state and market, considering data obtained from industry studies and our proprietary market data, we estimate our year-to-date risk adjustment. The Company records a risk adjustment receivable or payable, with an offsetting adjustment to premium revenue when the amounts are reasonably estimable and collection is reasonably assured. To determine this amount, consultant results were used with minor adjustments for known membership changes. These results were validated with internal actuarial models. At December 31, 2014, the Company recorded a risk adjustment receivable of $43,460.

A three year (2014-2016) risk corridor program is designed to limit insurer gains and losses by comparing allowable costs to a target amount as defined by HHS. This program applies to individual and small group qualified health plans, operating on and off the exchanges. Variances from the target amount exceeding certain thresholds may result in amounts due to or due from HHS. The Company records a risk corridor receivable or payable as an adjustment to premium revenue based on our year-to-date experience when the amounts are reasonably estimable and collection is reasonably assured. At December 31, 2014, the Company recorded a risk corridor of $121,600.

In December, 2014, the 2015 Continuing Resolution Omnibus Bill was approved by Congress and signed into law. Due to the lack of appropriation in the budget for this program and the likelihood that payments required to be made by CMS will exceed amounts collected to fund the program, the Company has evaluated the collectability of the receivable and determined that it is probable that the 2014 amounts due from CMS will not be fully collected. As a result, the Company has recorded a reserve of $60,800 as of December 31, 2014.

The following is a summary of the 3R's as of December 31, 2014. Amounts are classified as current or long-term in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets based on the timing of expected settlement. No such amounts were recorded at December 31, 2013 as the programs were not effective until January 1, 2014.

	Reinsurance Recoveries	Risk Adjustment	Risk Corridor
Current assets	$247,785	$43,460	$3,040
Non-current assets	-	-	57,760
Net asset (liability)	$247,785	$43,460	$60,800

In addition to the programs above, another permanent HHS program, beginning in 2014, pays the Company a portion of the health care costs for eligible low-income individual members who are enrolled on the Exchange. Receipts from HHS associated with these cost sharing subsidies exceeded claim payments reimbursable under existing program regulations by $54,789 at December 31, 2014. This obligation is recorded in accounts payable and accrued expenses in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets.

Federal Employee Program

The Company participates in the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program (FEHBP) with other BlueCross BlueShield Plans. This program includes a fully-insured experience-rated contract, commonly known as the Federal Employee Program (FEP), between the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and BCBSA, which acts as an agent for the participating BlueCross BlueShield plans. In addition, each participating plan, including the Company, executes a contract with BCBSA which obligates each participating plan to underwrite FEP benefits in its service area. Premium rates are developed by BCBSA and negotiated with OPM annually. These rates determine the funds that will be available to the participating BlueCross BlueShield plans to provide insurance to Federal employees that enroll with the BlueCross BlueShield FEP. The excess of gross premiums for the life of the program over the charges for the life of the program on an accrual basis is accounted for as a rate stabilization reserve (commonly referred to as the special reserve), as required by the contract between OPM and BCBSA. Each year, OPM also allocates a portion of the premiums to a contingency reserve which may be utilized by the participating plans in the event that annual premiums paid to the insurance carrier are insufficient or the rate stabilization reserve falls below certain levels prescribed by OPM. Premiums paid to the carrier and available to each participating BlueCross BlueShield plan, including the special reserve and the contingency reserve, are held at the U.S. Treasury, including amounts unused from prior periods. Any premiums that remain in the rate stabilization reserve upon termination of the BCBSA contract after the claims run-out and reimbursement of allowable administrative expenses would be returned to OPM for the benefit of the FEHBP. The FEP contract renews automatically each year unless written notice of termination is given by either party.

In accordance with the FEP contract, premium funds that exceed daily operating needs are held on behalf of the Company in letter of credit accounts at the U.S. Treasury to provide funding for claims, administrative expenses, and other charges to the contract. The Company, along with other BlueCross BlueShield plans who participate in the FEHBP contract, has an unrestricted right to draw funds being held in the U.S. Treasury, other than those allocated to the contingency reserve, for any valid claim or expense. If the balance of the special reserve is exhausted or falls below certain prescribed levels, OPM will transfer funds from the contingency reserve to the special reserve to the extent that funds are available in the contingency reserve. Amounts incurred in excess of the total reserves held at the U.S. Treasury for the FEP would not be reimbursed to the Company. The unaudited amounts being held in the special reserve are $5,261,908, $5,752,350 and $5,951,829 as of September 30, 2014, December 31, 2013 and 2012 respectively. The unaudited amounts being held in the contingency reserve are $10,001,371, $9,270,691 and $8,110,075 as of September 30, 2014, December 31, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

The Company has recorded its allocable share of the special reserve funds held in the U.S. Treasury as an asset, with an equivalent amount recorded as a rate stabilization reserve. These amounts are $8,129, $7,626 and $6,784 as of December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively, and are included in other current assets and other current liabilities in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets. Additionally, the Company has recorded a mandatory statutory reserve for its FEP business. These amounts are $26,967, $24,063 and $15,199 as of December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively, and are included in cash and other non-current liabilities in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets.

Concentration of Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of cash equivalents, investments and premium and other receivables. All cash equivalents and investments are managed within established guidelines, which provide us diversity among issuers. Concentrations of credit risk with respect to premium and other receivables are related to our large number of payers comprising our customer base and the federal government.

FEP represented approximately 16.6%, 24.2% and 30.4% of accounts receivable as of December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively. ACA receivables represented 39.5%, 0% and 0% of accounts receivable as of December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively. FEP and Government represented approximately 56.2%, 24.2% and 30.4% of accounts receivable for the years ended December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

FEP represented approximately 13.1%, 14.4% and 15.6% of net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively. FEP and Government revenue represented approximately 44.9%, 32.9% and 30.4% of net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization. Depreciation and amortization is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets, which are 40 to 50 years for buildings, 3 to 10 years for furniture and equipment, and 2 to 10 years for computer equipment and software. Leasehold improvements are amortized using the straight-line method over the shorter of the lease term or estimated useful life of the asset. Upon disposition or retirement, assets and related accumulated depreciation accounts are relieved and any related gain or loss is reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. Property and equipment is evaluated annually for the existence of events or changes in circumstances that indicate the asset might be impaired. Property and equipment retired from use is classified as held for sale and is carried at the lower of its depreciated cost or fair value, less estimated costs to sell. The Company ceases depreciating these assets when they are classified as held for sale.

The Company develops software for internal use. Certain costs associated with the development or purchase of internal-use software are capitalized and amortized over the estimated useful lives of the software. All other development costs are expensed as incurred.

Goodwill and Intangible Assets

Goodwill represents the excess of cost of acquisition over the fair value of net assets acquired. Intangible assets represent the values assigned to acquired subscriber relationships and provider networks. Intangible assets are recognized as assets apart from goodwill because they meet one of two criteria: the contractual-legal criterion or the separability criterion. Goodwill is evaluated for impairment on an annual basis and more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate that the asset might be impaired. The Company first assesses qualitative factors to determine whether it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying amount. If after completing this assessment, it is determined that it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying value, we then proceed to a two-step impairment testing methodology using the income approach (discounted cash flow method). In the first step of this testing methodology, we compare the carrying value of the reporting unit, including goodwill, with its fair value, as determined by its estimated discounted cash flows. If the carrying value of a reporting unit exceeds its fair value, we then complete the second step of the impairment test to determine the amount of impairment to be recognized. In the second step, we estimate an implied fair value of the reporting unit's goodwill by deducting the fair value of all net assets of the reporting unit (including any unrecognized intangible assets, and excluding the goodwill) from its fair value as determined in the first step. Any remaining fair value after assigning fair value to the reporting unit's net assets represents the implied fair value of the goodwill. If the carrying value of a reporting unit's goodwill exceeds its implied fair value, the Company records an impairment loss equal to the difference in that period. Intangible assets are amortized over their useful lives. Intangible assets are evaluated annually for the existence of events or changes in circumstances that indicate the asset might be impaired. The Company assesses qualitative factors to determine whether it is more likely than not that the intangible assets' fair value is less than its carrying amount. Based on the results of this assessment, the Company may conduct a quantitative impairment test if the fair value of the intangible assets was determined to be, more likely than not, less than its carrying amount. Recoverability of intangible assets is primarily determined by a comparison of the carrying amount of the assets to future net cash flows before interest expense and income taxes expected to be generated by the assets. Impairment, if any, is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the fair value of the assets. During 2014, a goodwill and intangible impairment occurred at ACS. Impairments of goodwill and intangible assets during the years ended December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012 were $357, $0, and $0, respectively.

Deferred Acquisition Costs

Acquisition costs eligible for deferral consist only of those that are directly related to the successful acquisition of new insurance contracts. Such costs include broker commissions, costs of policy issuance and underwriting and other costs the Company incurs to acquire new business. The Company's policy is to expense, as incurred, acquisition costs related to short-duration health benefit products. These short-duration health benefit policies typically have a one-year term, are billed monthly, and are subject to cancellation upon 30 days written notice by the member or the Company for certain defined reasons.

Blue Advantage, NAIC Medicare Supplement, and individual Blue Options HSA products, when aggregated as blocks of policies, are expected to remain in force for an extended period beyond one year because these contracts are guaranteed renewable and the Company accounts for these policies as long-duration insurance products. As a result, the Company defers acquisition costs and amortizes them over the estimated life of the policies in proportion to the premiums earned. Deferred acquisition costs are regularly reviewed to determine if they are recoverable from future income. As a result of health care reform, the future amortization periods were shortened beginning in 2011. Amortization periods range from 3 to 13 years. This shortening of the amortization period increased amortization expense. For the years ended December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, the Company determined deferred acquisition costs to be recoverable. Amortization expense reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income for each of the years ended December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012 was $12,841, $42,856 and $27,786, respectively.

Medical and Other Benefits Payable

The reserve for medical and other benefits payable includes management's estimate of the ultimate cost of the claims in process of settlement, claims incurred but not yet reported, and claims adjustment expenses needed to settle these claims.

The process of estimating reserves requires a high degree of judgment and a number of factors are taken into consideration. The Company actuarially estimates the liability for claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not reported based on the most current historical claims payment patterns, changes in number of members, changes in products and benefits, and estimates of health care trend changes (cost, utilization, and intensity of services). Management also estimates the amount of claims adjustment expense needed to settle claims by determining the total administrative cost incurred to process claims as a percentage of total insured claims expense and applying that percentage to total claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not yet reported.

Estimates for medical and other benefits payable are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur, and revisions are reflected in the claims and medical expense line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. Changes in medical cost trend and claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of medical and other benefits payable. These estimates may change as actuarial methods change or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based change. There have been no significant changes to the Company's actuarial methods in the last three fiscal years.

Book Overdrafts

Under our cash management system, checks issued but not yet presented to banks frequently result in overdraft balances for accounting purposes and are classified as a current liability in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. Changes in book overdrafts from period to period are reported in the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows as a financing activity.

Contract Reserves

Contract reserves are established for policies where, because of the policy's design, future benefit costs increase because of factors which the plan cannot reflect in the premiums. The liability, established when a portion of the premium collected in years prior to the valuation date is meant to help pay for claim costs arising in later years, represents the present value of future benefits paid to or on behalf of policyholders and related expense less the present value of future net premiums. Contract reserves are actuarially estimated using methods that include assumptions such as interest rates, claim trends, persistency, and other assumptions based upon experience modified as necessary to reflect anticipated trends. The assumptions include a provision for possible unfavorable deviation. Contract reserves are established for Blue Advantage, NAIC Medicare Supplement, and individual Blue Options HSA grandfathered products.

These estimates may change as actuarial methods and/or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based, change. The current portion of contract reserves relates to the estimated amount by which the Company expects claims costs to exceed premiums collected over the next twelve months.

Estimates for contract reserves are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur, and revisions are reflected in the claims and medical expense line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. Changes in the medical cost trend or in claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of contract reserves. During 2014 and 2013, the Company revised the calculation of this liability so that the underlying assumptions were more consistent with the company's developing experience. These changes decreased contract reserves by $50,000 and increased by $25,600 during 2014 and 2013 respectively. The value of the liabilities decreased primarily due to accelerated lapses associated with expected termination of non-health care reform compliant policies by $76,774 in 2014 and $37,161 in 2013.

Premium Deficiency

Premium deficiencies are recognized when it is probable that expected future claims and claims adjustment expenses will exceed existing reserves plus anticipated future premiums on existing health benefit contracts with the consideration of investment income. For purposes of premium deficiencies, contracts are deemed to be either short or long duration and are grouped in a manner consistent with the Company's method of acquiring, servicing and measuring the profitability of such contracts. Management determined that no premium deficiency reserve was warranted as of December 31, 2014 and 2013.

Revenue Recognition and Unearned Premiums

Revenue is principally derived from health benefit premiums. Generally, membership contracts have one-year terms. Group contracts are subject to cancellation upon 30 days written notice. Premiums are generally due monthly and are recognized as revenue during the period in which the Company is obligated to provide services or benefits. Amounts that are billed and received but unearned are recorded as unearned premiums. Because employer groups generally provide changes to their eligible member population one month in arrears, each billing includes an adjustment to premiums for the prior month's changes in member status that were not reflected in the original billing. Premium refunds are shown as a reduction in premium.

Our Medicare Advantage premium revenues are subject to periodic adjustment under CMS' risk adjustment payment methodology. The CMS risk adjustment model provides higher per member payments for enrollees diagnosed with certain conditions and lower payments for enrollees who are healthier. The Company and other health care plans collect, capture, and submit available diagnosis data to CMS within prescribed deadlines. CMS uses submitted diagnosis codes, demographic information, and special statuses to determine the risk score for most Medicare Advantage beneficiaries. CMS also retroactively adjusts risk scores during the year based on additional data. The Company estimates Medicare Advantage risk adjustment revenues based upon the data submitted and expected to be submitted to CMS.

Beginning in 2014, HHS pays us a portion of the health care costs for low-income individual members for which we assume no risk in accordance with the Health Care Reform Law. We account for these subsidies as a deposit in our consolidated balance sheets and as a financing activity in our consolidated statements of cash flows. We do not recognize premiums revenue or benefits expense for these subsidies. Receipt and payment activity is recorded in our consolidated balance sheets in other current assets or accounts payable and accrued expenses depending on the balance at the end of the reporting period. Receipts from HHS associated with these cost sharing subsidies for which we do not assume risk were $54,789 higher than claims payments for the year ended December 31, 2014.

Administrative fees include revenue from those group contracts that provide for the group to be at risk for all or, in the case of stop-loss agreements, a portion of its claims experience. These self-funded groups are charged an administrative fee that is based upon the number of members in the group and the group's claims experience. In addition, administrative fees include amounts received for the administration of certain other contracts, including cost plus arrangements. Administrative fees are recognized in accordance with the terms of the Company's contractual relationship with the customer. Administrative fees are included in the administrative fees and other revenue in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. All benefit payments, except for those covered by stop-loss agreements, under these self-funded programs are excluded from the claims and medical expenses line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. Reimbursements of all medical benefit payments, except for those covered by stop-loss agreements, under these self-funded programs are also excluded from the operating revenue in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Medicare Part D Prescription Drug Program

The Company serves as a plan sponsor offering Medicare Part D prescription drug insurance coverage under a calendar year contract with the CMS. Payments from CMS under this contract include amounts for premiums, risk corridor adjustments, reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies and prospective payments under the coverage gap discount program (CGDP).

The CMS contract is subject to audit and adjustments identified are recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income as they are reviewed and agreed to by the Company. As of December 31, 2014, years 2006 through 2014 remain open to financial examination by CMS.

The payments received monthly from CMS and members represent amounts for providing prescription drug insurance coverage. The Company recognizes premium revenues for providing this insurance coverage ratably over the contract period. Premiums received in advance are recorded in unearned premiums. Pharmacy benefit and administrative costs under the contract are expensed as incurred. As a result of the Medicare Part D product design, the Company incurs a disproportionate amount of benefit costs in the first half of the contract year compared with the last half of the contract year.

The Company's CMS payment is subject to risk sharing through the Medicare Part D risk corridor provisions. The Company recognizes a risk sharing payable or receivable based on year-to-date activity. The risk corridor provisions compare costs targeted in the Company's annual bid to actual prescription drug costs, limited to actual costs that would have been incurred under the standard coverage as defined by CMS. Variances exceeding certain thresholds may result in CMS making additional payments to the Company or require the Company to refund to CMS a portion of what was received. The Company estimates and recognizes an adjustment to premium revenues related to these risk corridor provisions based upon pharmacy claims experience to date as if the annual contract were to terminate at the end of the reporting period. Accordingly, this estimate provides no consideration to future pharmacy claims experience.

In addition, payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursement of prescription drug costs for which the Company is not at risk and is recorded as a payable when received. Reinsurance subsidies represent reimbursements for CMS's portion of prescription drug costs which exceed the member's out-of-pocket threshold, or the catastrophic coverage benefit level. Low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursements from CMS for all or a portion of the deductible, the coinsurance and co-payment amounts from the out-of-pocket threshold for low income beneficiaries. The Company recognizes risk sharing receivable or payable based on year to date activity. Monthly prospective payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies are based on assumptions submitted with the Company's annual bid. This payable is reduced when reinsurance is utilized and subsidies are provided by the Company. This activity is accumulated and when the net balance for each contract is negative, it is recorded as a receivable. The Company does not recognize premium revenues or claims expense for these subsidies as the Company does not incur any risk with this part of the program.

A reconciliation and related settlement of the final risk sharing and low-income cost sharing and reinsurance subsidy amounts is performed following the end of the contract year. As of December 31, 2014 and 2013, the net estimated risk sharing payable with CMS was $0 and $0, respectively. The net estimated subsidies receivable from CMS was $22,167 and $6,444 at December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Any estimated receivables related to either the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in premiums and other receivables. Any estimated payables related to the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in accounts payable and other accrued expenses.

Accounting for Income Taxes

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the estimated future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases and tax credit carryforwards. A valuation allowance is recorded to reduce the Company's deferred tax asset to the amount the Company believes is more likely than not to be realized. This determination is based upon a number of assumptions, including: the types of deferred tax assets; the expected reversal patterns and periods of the temporary differences; taxes paid in prior periods available for carry-back claims; estimates of future taxable income; and other significant issues or developments likely to impact the realization of the benefits from the deferred tax assets. If facts are ultimately inconsistent with the Company's expectations, an adjustment to the Company's deferred tax asset may be required in the future. Any such adjustment would be charged or credited to income tax expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period the determination is made.

When tax returns are filed, some positions taken will be sustained upon examination by the taxing authorities, while others are subject to uncertainty about the merits of the position taken or the amount of the position that would be ultimately sustained. The benefit of a tax position is recognized in the financial statements in the period during which, based on all available evidence, management believes it is more likely than not that the position will be sustained upon examination, including the resolution of appeals or litigation processes, if any. Tax positions taken are not offset or aggregated with other positions. Tax positions that meet the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold are measured as the largest amount of tax benefit that is more than 50% likely of being realized upon settlement with the applicable taxing authority. The portion of the benefits associated with tax positions taken that exceed the amount measured as described above is reflected as a liability for unrecognized tax benefits in the accompanying Consolidated Balance Sheets along with any associated interest and penalties that would be payable to the taxing authorities upon examination.

Interest and penalties associated with unrecognized tax benefits are charged to income tax expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Employee Benefit Programs

The funded status of the Company's defined benefit pension plans and nonpension postretirement benefit plans is recognized in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. The funded status is measured as the difference between the fair value of plan assets and the benefit obligation at December 31, the measurement date. For defined benefit pension plans, the benefit obligation is the projected benefit obligation, which represents the actuarial present value of benefits expected to be paid upon retirement based on estimated compensation levels and current service. For the nonpension postretirement benefit plans, the benefit obligation is the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation, which represents the actuarial present value of postretirement benefits attributed to employee services already rendered.

The fair value of plan assets represents the current fair value of cumulative company contributions and investment earnings on those contributions less amounts paid out. Overfunded plans, with the fair value of plan assets exceeding the benefit obligation, are aggregated and recorded as a prepaid pension asset equal to this excess. Underfunded plans, with the benefit obligation exceeding the fair value of plan assets, are aggregated and recorded as a pension, postretirement and other retirement benefits liability equal to this excess. The current portion of the pension and nonpension postretirement benefit obligations represents the actuarial present value of benefits payable in the next 12 months exceeding the fair value of plan assets, measured on a plan-by-plan basis. This obligation is recorded in accounts payable and accrued expenses in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. Net periodic pension and nonpension postretirement benefit expense (income) is recorded in operating expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Certain events, such as changes in employee base, plan amendments and changes in actuarial assumptions, result in a change in the benefit obligation which results in corresponding changes in the gains and losses or prior service costs. The result of these events is amortized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income) over the average life expectancy (average working lifetime was used until June 30, 2013) of the participants, provided such amounts exceed certain thresholds which are based upon the benefit obligation or the value of plan assets. (Gains) losses and prior service costs (credits) not recognized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income) in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income as they arise are recognized as a component of gains (losses) and prior service costs (credits) recognized in AOCI in the Consolidated Statements of Changes in Accumulated Capital. Those (gains) losses and prior service costs (credits) are subsequently amortized and recognized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income).

The measurement of benefit obligations and net periodic benefit expense (income) is based on estimates and assumptions approved by the Company's management. These valuations reflect the terms of the plans and use participant-specific information such as compensation, age and years of service, as well as certain assumptions, including estimates of discount rates, expected return on plan assets, rate of compensation increases and mortality rates.

The Company records expense for defined contribution plans for the Company's contribution when the employee renders service to the company, essentially coinciding with the cash contributions to the plans. The expense is recorded in operating expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Subsequent Events

Events or transactions that occur after the balance sheet date, but before the financial statements are complete and approved by the BCBSNC Audit Committee (available to be issued), are reviewed by the Company to determine if they are to be recognized.

All of the effects of subsequent events that provide additional evidence about conditions that existed at the consolidated balance sheet date, including the estimates inherent in the process of preparing the consolidated financial statements, are recognized in the consolidated financial statements. The Company does not recognize subsequent events that provide evidence about conditions that did not exist at the balance sheet date but arose after, but before the financial statements are available to be issued. In some cases, nonrecognized subsequent events are disclosed to keep the financial statements from being misleading.

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through March 2, 2015, which is the date that the financial statements were available to be issued, for recognition or disclosure in our consolidated financial statements. Effective as of February 2, 2015, the Company underwent a corporate organizational restructuring. BCBSNC now has three wholly-owned subsidiaries: Corium; Corium II; and NobleHealth, Inc. ("Noble"), formerly known as MHSI. Corium owns, operates, and manages financed office buildings of the Company. Corium II owns, operates, and manages unencumbered office buildings of the Company. Noble holds non-controlling strategic investments in certain health services companies and has three wholly owned subsidiaries: Mosaic Group; Mosaic Health Solutions, LLC ("Mosaic Health Solutions"); and Topaz. Mosaic Health Solutions has one wholly-owned subsidiary, ACS and also holds non-controlling strategic investments in certain health services companies.

On February 13, 2015, CMS issued guidance superseding previous guidance that permit companies, including BCBSNC, who selected the simplified methodology to switch to the more accurate standard methodology for the 2014 benefit year. Cost-sharing reduction payments for benefit year 2014 will be reconciled for settlement in April 2016. The Company believes that the standard methodology will result in higher, more accurate, payments due to the Company under the program and intends to elect the standard methodology for 2014. The Company is evaluating the impact of this election on its 2015 financial results.

Fixed Income Securities – For both 2014 and 2013, the unrealized losses on the Company's fixed income investments were not the result of any credit related issues. In 2014, the unrealized losses on the Company's fixed income investments were mostly attributable to changes in interest rates. All of the issuers have investment grade credit ratings and therefore, the Company believes each issuer will be able to meet the contractual terms of the obligation. At December 31, 2014 and 2013, the Company did not have the intent to sell and it was not more likely than not that the Company would be required to sell the investments before the recovery of its amortized cost basis. The Company therefore did not consider the investments at December 31, 2014 and 2013 to be other-than-temporarily impaired.

Equity Securities – For both 2014 and 2013, the Company's investments in equity securities primarily consists of investments in mutual funds. Various investment lots were below cost at December 31, 2014 and 2013 and were primarily in broadly diversified mutual funds, including index funds, the vast majority of which had been in a loss position less than twelve months. The unrealized losses were primarily in emerging market ETF's and equity mutual funds in 2014 and in international equity mutual funds in 2013. The decline in emerging market equity mutual funds in 2014 was due primarily to concerns over growth in China and to weakness in commodity prices while international equity funds declined in 2013 due to concerns regarding the European economy, together with normal market movements. The unrealized losses in emerging market bond ETF's in 2014 were due to uncertainty concerning Fed interest rate actions and changes in commodity prices. The Company believes the declines are short term in nature and are due to the lack of clarity regarding Fed policy and commodity price changes, and not related to increased credit risk.

The Company continues to review its investment portfolios under its impairment review policy. Given the unpredictability of market conditions and the significant judgments involved, there is a continuing risk that declines in fair value may occur and other-than-temporary impairments may be recorded in future periods.

4. Goodwill and Intangible Assets

The gross carrying amounts and accumulated amortization for the major intangible asset classes and goodwill at December 31 are as follows:

	2014		2013
	Gross Carrying Amount	Accumulated Amortization	Gross Carrying Amount	Accumulated Amortization
Amortized intangible assets
Subscriber relationships	$65,881	$35,066	$66,029	$32,440

Goodwill	87,097		87,306

Amortization expense of intangible assets for 2014, 2013, and 2012, was $3,159, $3,184 and $3,189 respectively.

The intangibles are amortized over periods that originally range from 12 to 31 years using the undiscounted cash flow method. Estimated amortization expense for the next five years is as follows: 2015, $2,525; 2016, $2,358; 2017, $2,131; 2018, $2,034 and 2019, $1,943.

The goodwill and intangible assets gross carry amount changes were a result of a valuation analysis which indicated impairment for ACS goodwill and intangible assets.

5. Property and Equipment

Property and equipment as of December 31 consists of:

	2014	2013
Land and improvements	$20,534	$20,742
Buildings	97,374	101,809
Furniture, equipment and leasehold improvements	39,069	36,345

Less – accumulated depreciation and amortization	(188,630)	(182,085)
	$295,921	$146,363

Depreciation and amortization expense of property and equipment, excluding amortization of intangibles for 2014, 2013 and 2012, was $19,153, $15,450 and $19,313 respectively.

Accumulated amortization for capitalized software and hardware was $131,020 and $128,210 at December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Amortization expense, included in depreciation and amortization above, for capitalized software and hardware for 2014, 2013 and 2012 was $11,776, $8,193 and $11,983, respectively.

During 2012, the Company sold its Eastowne property and its primary data center property and certain furniture, equipment, software and computer equipment (Weck). The gain on Eastowne and Weck was $287 and $1,990, respectively.

During 2013, the Company announced its intention to create a central campus and leave the Headquarters building. The Company purchased two buildings in Durham to create this central campus. The Company anticipates leaving the Headquarters building in 2016. Plans are being developed for the disposition of the building, but no decisions have been made. The original cost of the Headquarters property was $16,470 and accumulated depreciation at December 31, 2014 was $13,504.

At December 31, 2014, the Company capitalized $159,644 of internally developed software related to its core operating platform.

6. Medical and Other Benefits Payable

Activity in the medical and other benefits payable liability is summarized as follows:

	2014	2013
Medical and other benefits payable at beginning of year	$469,519	$436,372
Incurred related to:
Current year	6,453,468	5,040,151
Prior years	52,578	(7,515)
Total incurred	6,506,046	5,032,636
Paid related to:
Current year	5,735,535	4,597,788
Prior years	513,347	401,701
Total paid	6,248,882	4,999,489
Medical and other benefits payable at end of year	726,684	469,519
Liability for claims processing costs	17,740	11,210
Total	$744,424	$480,729

Amounts incurred related to prior years vary from previously estimated liabilities as the claims are ultimately settled. Liabilities at any year end are continually reviewed and re-estimated as information regarding actual claims payments becomes known. This information is compared to the originally established year end liability. The unfavorable development was partially the result of an increase in claims inventories during the fourth quarter of 2013 that was subsequently paid in 2014, increases related to the FEP line which are pass-through in nature, and actual claim payment patterns and cost trends differing from those assumed at the time the liability was established for the year ended December 31, 2013.

7. Accounts Payable and Accrued Expenses

Accounts payable and accrued expenses consist of the following as of December 31:

	2014	2013
Accounts payable	$22,210	$23,641
Accrued salaries and other benefit expenses	94,847	86,872
Accrued ACA cost sharing reduction	54,789	-

Less non-current portion	39,130	57,994
	$403,601	$266,437

A provision for anticipated losses under a contract with a key customer of $0 and $19,000 for December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively, is included in other accrued expenses.

8. Line of Credit and Long-Term Debt

In November 2013, BCBSNC established a revolving line of credit to support our working capital needs. This line of credit, totaling $100,000, will expire in November 2016 with an interest rate of LIBOR plus fifty basis points and an unused fee of ten basis points quarterly on the amount undrawn. Amounts drawn under this line of credit were $100,000 and $0 at December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

In September 2014, Corium entered into a $165,000 thirty-year, fully amortizing, 4.09% mortgage due 2044 with an unaffiliated lender using eight office buildings as collateral. The mortgage is not callable and can be prepaid at any time subject to a make whole premium due to the lender. This note is classified as long term in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets

Long-term debt consists of the following at December 31:

	2014	2013
Long-term debt	$164,296	$-
Less current portion of long-term debt	2,875	-
Long-term debt, less current portion	$161,421	$-

BCBSNC must maintain certain covenants including limits on indebtedness to capital, indebtedness to EBITDA, liens, and dispositions. As of December 31, 2014 the Company was not in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements; however, our lenders granted us a one-time waiver of the EBITDA calculation. As of December 31, 2013, the Company was in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements.

Future maturities of debt are as follows: 2015, $2,875; 2016, $3,010; 2017, $3,136; 2018, $3,267; 2019, $3,403 and thereafter $148,605.

The long-term debt, including current portion, at December 31, 2014 measured at fair market value was $173,753, categorized as Level II. The carrying amount of the line of credit in the amount of $100,000 approximates its fair value because of the variable interest rates on the debt instrument.

Non-financial assets and liabilities including long-lived assets, goodwill, asset retirement obligations, and certain investments are recognized at fair value when they are considered to be other-than-temporarily impaired. There was no required fair value measurement for assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis.

Non-financial instruments such as property and equipment, other current assets, deferred income taxes and certain financial instruments such as policy liabilities are excluded from the fair value disclosures. Therefore, the fair value amounts cannot be aggregated to determine our underlying economic value.

10. Employee Benefit Programs

BCBSNC has a non-contributory qualified defined benefit retirement plan covering a significant number of employees (excluding employees of ACS). Employees hired after December 31, 2005 are not eligible to participate in the plan. In addition, certain participants have no additional service accrual based on a defined contribution plan participation choice. The benefits are based on years of service and the employee's highest sixty consecutive months of earnings in the last one hundred and twenty months of employment.

BCBSNC also provides non-contributory non-qualified defined benefit supplemental executive retirement plans (SERP) for certain executives. Two of the SERPs have benefits based on years of service, retirement age and certain final average pay calculations. Benefits are offset by benefits payable from other defined benefit retirement plans. An additional SERP has benefits based on years of service and individual agreements that generally require payment of a fixed monthly dollar amount for 15 years upon retirement

BCBSNC provides certain health care and life insurance benefits for retired employees. Substantially all of BCBSNC's employees who reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 5 years of service may become eligible for health care insurance benefits. In addition, substantially all of those BCBSNC employees hired prior to January 1, 2006, who will reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 15 years of service may become eligible for both a Company subsidy of health care insurance costs and life insurance benefits. BCBSNC funds retiree health care benefits by making contributions to the Voluntary Employees Beneficiary Association (VEBA) administered by the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (Association). The Company did not make a contribution during the years 2012 to 2014 to fund the liability for eligible retired employees.

Effective December 31, 2013, the Company elected to freeze the non-contributory qualified defined benefit plan and two associated non-qualified defined benefit SERPs which ceased all benefit accruals under the Plans as of this date. The Company also elected to add an unlimited lump sum distribution option at termination of employment to the qualified defined benefit plan for any participants who were active as of January 1, 2014. As a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit plan, a curtailment was triggered and a remeasurement of the qualified pension obligations and plan assets occurred as of June 30, 2013. As of the remeasurement, the plan assets had increased in value from the prior measurement date and the liabilities had decreased as a result of the change in discount rate resulting in an increase in the funded status of the plan of $58.6 million. Additionally, the curtailment impact reduced the projected benefit obligation by $86.8 million. Also as a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit pension plan, the amortization period for actuarial gains and losses was changed from the average working life to the average remaining life expectancy of all participants.

In June 2013, the Company offered an Early Retirement Window (ERW) to eligible employees who, as of December 31, 2013 are age 52 or older with ten years of service, and with an age plus years of service of at least 75 years. If eligible participants elect to retire at predefined dates in 2014, the ERW provides additional years of service toward eligibility for Company subsidized insurance benefits, additional years of service for pension benefit calculation purposes, and enhanced early retirement factors which, depending on the participant's age, provides a benefit that is unreduced or subject to smaller reductions. The same benefits were provided to eligible participants who retired or notified the Company that they intended to retire in 2013 prior to the window announcement. The ERW enhancements were considered special termination benefits and increased the actuarially determined benefit obligation for the qualified retirement benefit plan and the postretirement benefit plan by approximately $25.0 million and $3.2 million, respectively.

In October 2014, the Company offered a Cash Out Window (COW) to terminated vested participants in the qualified defined benefit plan and SERP. The COW allowed the participants to elect an immediate lump sum distribution of their benefit in the plan(s). Lump sum payments of $100.2 million were paid from the qualified retirement plan, with $35.6 million of those lump sum payments attributable to the COW. During 2014 related to the qualified retirement plan, lump sum payments of $100.2 million were paid. Because these payments exceeded the sum of estimated 2014 service and interest costs, settlement accounting was triggered. As a result, $17.6 million of unrecognized actuarial loss associated with the payments was relieved from AOCI and recognized in income.

	Retirement Benefits

In 2014, 2013 and 2012, the Company recognized the amortization of the cumulative net loss from past experience as measured by comparing the expected position of the plan at year-end (based on the beginning of the year actuarial assumptions and prior year census data) with the actual position of the plan at year-end (based on the end of year actuarial assumptions and current year census data) prior to recognizing any plan provision changes. Effective June 30, 2013, the loss is amortized over the average life expectancy.

The estimated prior service credit and net actuarial loss that will be amortized from AOCI into net periodic benefit expense in 2015 are $(235) and $2,894, respectively.

The accumulated benefit obligation was $517,327 and $525,493 at December 31, 2014 and 2013, for the qualified retirement plan and $62,349 and $56,274 for the non-qualified retirement plans, respectively.

Due to the freeze, there will not be a difference in the accumulated benefit obligation and the projected benefit obligation prospectively.

The following table presents assumptions used in determining the actuarial present value of the benefit obligation and the subsequent year's net periodic benefit cost for the qualified and non-qualified retirement plans as of a measurement date:

As a result of the change in Actuarial Consultants, the Company elected in 2013 to move to the Mercer Yield Curve in place of the Aon Hewitt AA Only Universe Yield Curve. The Company uses separate discount rates for the different benefit plans as well as no rounding of discount rates, for consistency with industry trends. The expected future cash flows underlying the benefit obligations are discounted by the rate on the yield curve corresponding to the cash flow duration. The single discount rate that would yield the same present value as the sum of the discounted cash flows is determined. As of December 31, 2014 and 2013, the combined duration of all plans was 14 years and 14 years, respectively. The nonqualified pension plans have shorter durations than the qualified pension plan and the other postretirement benefit plans.

In 2014, the Society of Actuaries completed a mortality study and issued a new base mortality table (RP-2014) and new mortality improvement scale (MP-2014). The Company has decided to move to the Mercer modified MRP-2007 base mortality table and the Mercer modified MMP-2007 generational projection scale on December 31, 2014. In previous years, the Company used the RP-2000 base mortality table and the Scale AA generational projection scale. This change resulted in an increase of this benefit obligation in 2014.

To set the expected return on plan assets for the qualified pension plan, the Company projects returns on each asset class using historical return relationships and making adjustments as necessary, given current market and economic conditions. The projected returns are then applied to the portfolio target asset allocation weightings and result in a projected long-term portfolio rate of return.

The following table presents assumptions used in determining the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation and the subsequent year's net periodic benefit cost for the other postretirement benefit plans:

	December 31, 2014	December 31, 2013	December 31, 2012
Discount rate	3.95%	4.71%	4.11%
Rate of increase in future compensation level	4.00%	4.00%	4.00%
Expected return on plan assets net of tax	5.50%	5.50%	5.50%

To set the expected return on plan assets for the other postretirement benefit plans, historical markets are studied and long-term relationships between equities and fixed income securities indicate that assets with higher volatility generate a greater return over the long run. Current market factors such as inflation and interest rates are evaluated before long-term capital market assumptions are determined. The long-term portfolio return is established with proper consideration of diversification and rebalancing. Peer data and historical returns are reviewed to check for reasonability and appropriateness.

The following table presents the medical trend rate used in determining the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation at December 31 for the other postretirement benefit plans:

Health care cost trend rate assumed for next year:
Under age 65	7.9%	8.0%
Age 65 and older	7.9%	8.0%
Rate to which the cost trend rate is assumed to decline (the ultimate trend rate)	4.5%	4.5%
Year that the rate reaches the ultimate trend rate:
Under age 65	2027	2027
Age 65 and older	2027	2027

The above trend rates were used for the PPO plan options. Different rates were used for some post-65 plan options to better model gross costs and expected government subsidies. The health care cost trend rate assumption can have a significant effect on the amounts reported. A one-percentage point change in assumed health care cost trend rates would have the following effects:

	1-Percentage Point Increase	1-Percentage Point Decrease
Effect on total of fiscal 2014 service and interest cost components	$306	$(242)
Effect on the December 31, 2014 postretirement benefit obligation	$6,759	$(5,336)

Future expected benefit payments and 2015 contributions are as follows:

	Retirement Benefits		Other Postretirement Benefits
	Qualified	Non-Qualified
2015	$24,768	$1,530	$2,923

The BCBSNC Retirement Plan (Plan) was frozen effective December 31, 2013. The Plan investment strategy has switched from total return to liability matching. The Plans funding ratio exceeded 100% at year end and approximately 50% of the portfolio was transitioned to a liability driven investment strategy (LDI) in 2014. As the Plans funding ratio grows, more investments will be allocated to the LDI strategy.

The Plans investments remain diversified and of high quality. At year end the Plan had investments in funds invested in fixed income, domestic & international equities, real estate, commodities and timber.

The investment fiduciary for the VEBA, employs a total return investment approach whereby a mix of equities, fixed income and other investments is used to maximize the long-term return of plan assets for a prudent level of risk. The investment portfolio contains a diversified blend of equity, fixed income and other investments. Investment risk is measured and monitored on an ongoing basis through investment portfolio reviews, annual liability measurements, and periodic asset/liability studies.

The mutual fund investment strategy for the VEBA is market sensitive while remaining consistent with the risk tolerance, tax status, and cash flow requirements. Fund strategies include pursuing and capitalizing on market inefficiencies using duration, yield curve, security selection, geographic concentration, sector and state allocation. Security selection, geographic concentration and sector decisions are based on relative attractiveness, using inputs such as historical spread relationships, the value of state tax exemptions, state/regional economic outlooks, credit outlooks selection, geographic concentration, sector and state allocation. Security selection, geographic concentration and sector decisions are based on relative attractiveness, using inputs such as historical spread relationships, the value of state tax exemptions, state/regional economic outlooks, credit outlooks and supply and demand.

Other Employee Benefits

Effective January 1, 2014, BCBSNC sponsors a defined contribution retirement plan qualified under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code, the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan (401(k) Plan). Eligible employees may contribute pretax and Roth contributions that are matched at the rate of 100% of the first 4% and 50% of the next 2% of compensation contributed. Additional Company contributions include profit sharing contributions that range from 2% to 5% of eligible compensation, based on the employee's years of service with the Company, and transition contributions that range from 1% to 8% of eligible compensation for eligible employees who were participants in the defined benefit pension plan on December 31, 2013. Employee and Company contributions are subject to certain regulatory limits and service conditions.

Prior to January 2014, BCBSNC sponsored two defined contribution retirement plans qualified under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code, the BCBSNC Retirement Savings Plan and the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan (401(k) Plan). Eligible employees were permitted to contribute pretax and Roth contributions that were matched at the rate of 50% of the first 6% of compensation contributed or 100% of the first 6% of compensation contributed, depending on the plan. Additional Company contributions to the 401(k) Plan included a profit sharing contribution in an amount equal to 3% of eligible compensation. Employee and Company contributions are subject to certain regulatory limits and service conditions.

The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $31,249, $19,199 and $16,841, for the years ended December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

The Company also maintains the Restoration Plan, a non-qualified defined contribution plan, to ensure that designated participants receive the full amount of benefits to which they would have been entitled under the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan except for limits on compensation imposed by the Internal Revenue Service. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $1,427, $560 and $514, for the years ended December 31, 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively.

The Company maintains a rabbi trust to account for assets and liabilities under the Company's nonqualified deferred compensation plan. Certain BCBSNC employees are allowed to defer a portion of their compensation until a future date. The deferred compensation plan was amended in 2011 to prevent participation for both the 2011 and 2012 plan years. The deferrals are included in investments with an equal offsetting liability included in postretirement and other retirement benefits. The value of assets accounted for in the rabbi trust are $1,343 and $2,243 at December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. In addition, the Company has an arrangement for the Board of Trustees which provide for the deferral of a portion of their compensation until a future date. This deferred compensation arrangement is not included in the assets and liabilities of the rabbi trust. The Company's deferred compensation liability related to this arrangement at December 31, 2014 and 2013 was $483 and $532, respectively.

11. Income Taxes

BCBSNC files a consolidated federal income tax return with its subsidiaries. Current taxes are allocated among all affiliated companies based on a written tax sharing agreement, primarily on a separate company return basis using a wait-and-see method. These agreements have the effect of crediting each separate company within the consolidated group for the use of its net operating or other losses in the year in which the separate company could utilize the losses on a separate company return basis while charging those companies that previously benefited from use of the losses.

The significant components of income tax expense (benefit) in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income for the years ended December 31 are as follows:

A valuation allowance is required against deferred tax assets if, based on the weight of available evidence, it is more likely than not that some or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. Based upon all the available evidence, management recorded a valuation allowance of $1,790 as of December 31, 2014 and 2013. Management believes it is more likely than not that the Company will realize its remaining net deferred tax assets as of the respective balance sheet dates.

As of December 31, 2014, we have a federal income tax net operating loss (NOL) carryforward of $171,392 and federal credit carryforwards in the amount of $17,098, both of which will expire on December 31, 2034. In addition, we have an AMT credit carryforward in the amount of $2,435 which can be used to offset regular tax in future years without expiration.

As of December 31, 2014, as further described below, certain tax years remain open to examination by the IRS and various state authorities. We have not recorded amounts for uncertain tax positions. The amount of unrecognized tax benefits did not materially change in 2014 and it is not anticipated to change in the next twelve months. However, the ultimate resolution of these items is dependent on a number of factors.

The Company's tax years 2011 through 2013 remain open to examination by the IRS. ACS tax years 2011 through 2013 remain open to examination by the North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia Departments of Revenue. Noble tax years 2011 to 2013 remain open to examination by various state Departments of Revenue.

12. Related Party Transactions

In November 2000, BCBSNC established the Blue Cross Blue Shield of North Carolina Foundation, formerly The North Carolina Health Foundation (Foundation), a separate, independent, private, non-consolidated not-for-profit organization in North Carolina. The purpose of the Foundation is to provide financial support to improve the health and well being of North Carolinians. The Company received $704, $551 and $450 from the Foundation for salaries and benefits related to certain BCBSNC employees that provide services to the Foundation for the years ended 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively. In 2014, BCBSNC contributed $0 in appreciated securities and donated services of $510, which were included in operating expenses. In 2013, BCBSNC contributed $5,000 in appreciated securities and donated services of $557, which were included in operating expenses. In 2012, BCBSNC contributed $5,000 in appreciated securities and donated services of $558, which were included in operating expenses. The Foundation is not a subsidiary of BCBSNC and the financial results of the Foundation are not consolidated with the Company's financial statements. We have no current legal obligations for future commitments to the Foundation, nor are we responsible for losses that may emerge in the Foundation.

In December 2011, BCBSNC established Topaz as a partnership. Its purpose was to develop a technology-enabled and market-competitive business solution to address the individual and small group health insurance markets. The initial focus of Topaz was delivery of a shared technology solution based on The TriZetto Group's software for administering business in the retail marketplace, including individual (less than 65 years old) and small group (defined as up to 100 lives) health insurance products. This solution is anticipated to be expanded to serve all lines of business in the future. Additionally, Topaz may expand the scope of its service offering to include certain health plan operations, such as enrollment, billing, claims administration and other business process services.

Topaz was owned by MHSI and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas City ("BCBSKC"). The initial capital contribution of MHSI was $5,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The initial capital contribution of BCBSKC's subsidiary was $5,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The Company and BCBSKC were funding Topaz and its development of a software infrastructure. The Company and BCBSKC planned to become customers of Topaz as software was placed in service. Topaz was a variable interest entity because its capital contributions were not sufficient to fund the development of its software infrastructure. Funding sources other than capital contributions were required to accomplish this endeavor. Additional funding was in the form of investments in research and development. The Company anticipates it will recover these additional investments through reduced billings from Topaz when it becomes operational. Through January 23, 2014, the Company has concluded that it was not the primary beneficiary of Topaz, because it did not hold the power to direct the activities that most significantly impact Topaz, since it shared a voting interest on a 50% - 50% basis with BCBSKC. Accordingly, the investment in Topaz was accounted for as an equity method investment for the years ended December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2012.

During 2013, the Company and BCBSKC entered into discussions regarding the withdrawal of BCBSKC from Topaz as an owner and customer. These discussions culminated in a Settlement Letter Agreement and Release that became effective January 23, 2014. As a result of this transaction, MHSI acquired the 50% voting interest from BCBSKC and prospectively, the Company consolidated the operations of Topaz based on its 100% ownership. The Company intends to continue funding the development of Topaz.

Effective January 23, 2014, the Company acquired the BCBSKC investment interest by assuming certain liabilities valued at approximately $11.5 million. As a result, the Company recognized the following assets acquired and liabilities assumed related to Topaz: cash $4.3 million, accounts receivable $31.8 million, prepaid expenses $0.2 million, internally developed software $52.9 million, prepaid software licenses $15.2 million, accounts payable $15.2 million, and research and development liability $66.1 million. Additionally, the Company's existing investment in Topaz was revalued to fair value at the date of acquisition. This resulted in the recognition of a $20.1 million gain recorded in Other income of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. Had Topaz been consolidated with the Company for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012, the Topaz revenues included would have totaled $0.1 million and $0.0 million, respectively, and the net loss included would have totaled $10.9 million and $29.4 million, respectively.

13. Commitments and Contingencies

Leases

The Company leases office space and certain computer equipment under non-cancelable operating leases. Related lease expense for 2014, 2013 and 2012 was $2,591, $2,567 and $2,494, respectively.

At December 31, 2014, future lease payments for operating leases with initial or remaining non-cancelable terms of one year or more consisted of the following: 2015, $2,847; 2016, $2,653; 2017, $2,497; 2018, $2,097; and 2019, $200.

Commitments

The Company has a commitment to Trizetto to develop a claims processing system. Related funding for 2014, 2013 and 2012 were $24,673, $23,521 and $23,900 respectively.

At December 31, 2014, expected future costs to BCBSNC related to a purchase obligation for stated service fees with non-cancelable terms with Fujitsu for outsourced IT infrastructure are estimated as follows: 2015, $112,388; 2016, $112,388; 2017, $28,097; 2018, $0; and 2019, $0.

Litigation against the Company

The Company is involved in litigation (In Re: Blue Cross Blue Shield Antitrust Litigation (United States District Court, Northern District of Alabama)) regarding a multi-district case that consolidates multiple state and national class actions against various of the Company, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association and multiple other Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. The Company is a named defendant in seven of the consolidated cases. The cases all allege an ongoing conspiracy in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act among the Blues and BCBSA and seek (1) a permanent injunction prohibiting enforcement of any agreements which restrict BCBSA member operating territories; (2) treble damages for (a) alleged artificially inflated premiums in the case of subscribers and (b) alleged suppressed provider compensation in the case of providers and (3) attorneys' fees and costs. Additionally, one of the consolidated cases against the Company makes antitrust allegations based on most favored nations ("MFN") clauses in the Company's provider contracts and seeks reformation of the Company's provider contracts to strike MFN clauses and monetary damages. The case is now in the discovery stage. The Company intends to vigorously defend this litigation.

Additionally, BCBSNC is also involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. However, management believes that proceedings arising in the ordinary course of business and those referenced above will not have a material adverse impact on the financial position of the Company.

Other Contingencies

The National Organization of Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Associations (NOLHGA) is a voluntary organization consisting of the state life and health insurance guaranty associations located throughout the U.S. State life and health insurance guaranty associations, working together with NOLHGA, provide a safety net for their state's policyholders, ensuring that they continue to receive coverage even if their insurer is declared insolvent. The Company is aware that the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner (Insurance Commissioner) has placed Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company and its subsidiary American Network Insurance Company, or collectively Penn Treaty, in rehabilitation, an intermediate action before insolvency. The state court denied the Insurance Commissioner's petition for the liquidation of Penn Treaty and ordered the Insurance Commissioner to file an updated plan of rehabilitation. The Insurance Commissioner has filed a Notice of Appeal asking the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to reverse the order denying the liquidation petition. In the event rehabilitation of Penn Treaty is unsuccessful and Penn Treaty is declared insolvent and placed in liquidation, the Company and other insurers may be required to pay a portion of their policyholder claims through state guaranty association assessments in future periods. Given the uncertainty around whether Penn Treaty will ultimately be declared insolvent and, if so, the amount of the insolvency, the amount and timing of any associated future guaranty fund assessments and the availability and amount of any potential premium tax and other offsets, the Company currently cannot estimate its net exposure, if any, to this potential insolvency. The Company will continue to monitor the situation and may record a liability and expense in future reporting periods, which could be material to its cash flows and results of operations.

14. Administrative Services

Claims processed for others under contract, which have been excluded from the financial statements, are summarized for the years ended December 31 as follows:

	2014	2013	2012
Claims processed for:

	$8,354,338	$8,278,286	$7,821,492

Administrative fees received for processing these claims totaled $410,846, $427,548 and $427,408 in 2014, 2013 and 2012, respectively. All claims payments are subject to audit by the program administrators. If the program administrators determine that the claims or expenses have not been paid in accordance with the contract, the Company may be required to reimburse the program administrators.

The Company's ASO business includes a multi-year agreement with a key customer. The Company had anticipated ultimate future revenues would be less than the anticipated cost of administration. As of December 31, 2014 and 2013, the Company has recorded an accrual for anticipated losses for this business of $0 and $19,000, respectively. The change in the accrual was the result of expected amortization of $19,000.

16. Supplemental Statutory Financial Information

The Company is required to file unconsolidated financial statements with, and is subject to exam by, the North Carolina Department of Insurance (NCDOI). These financial statements are presented on the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the NCDOI.

The NCDOI recognizes only Statutory Accounting Practices prescribed or permitted by the state of North Carolina for determining and reporting the financial condition and results of operations of an insurance company, for determining its solvency under the North Carolina Insurance Law. The NAIC's Accounting Practices and Procedures manual has been adopted as a component of prescribed or permitted practices by the state of North Carolina.

The NAIC adopted the RBC for Health Organizations Model Act in 1998. The NCDOI subsequently adopted this act in 2001. Under this act, a company's risk-based capital (RBC) is calculated by applying certain factors to various asset, premium and reserve items. If a company's calculated RBC falls below certain thresholds, regulatory intervention or oversight is required. BCBSNC's RBC level, calculated in accordance with the NAIC's RBC instructions, exceeded all RBC thresholds as of December 31, 2014 and 2013. The Company is also subject to insurance laws and regulations of the State of North Carolina that include but are not limited to restrictions on dividends, types of investments that insurers are allowed to invest in, and the amount of capital and surplus.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Accounting Practices

The financial statements of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina (BCBSNC or the Company) have been prepared in conformity with accounting practices and procedures prescribed by the North Carolina Department of Insurance (NCDOI).

The NCDOI recognizes only Statutory Accounting Practices (SAP) prescribed or permitted by the State of North Carolina for determining and reporting the financial condition and results of operations of an insurance company, and for determining its solvency under the North Carolina Insurance laws, regulations and general administrative rules. The NCDOI has adopted the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' (NAIC) Accounting Practices and Procedures manual (NAIC SAP) as a component of prescribed or permitted practices by the State of North Carolina (NC SAP). There is no deviation from the NAIC SAP. There were no differences between the statutory practices prescribed or permitted by the State of North Carolina and those prescribed or permitted by NAIC SAP which would materially affect the statutory basis net income or surplus.

A reconciliation of the Company's net income and capital and surplus between NAIC SAP and practices prescribed and permitted by the State of North Carolina is show below:

	NET INCOME
1.	BCBSNC state basis (Page 4, Line 32, Columns 2&3)	NC	($137,577,232)	$180,060,588

5.	BCBSNC state basis (Page 3, Line 33, Columns 3 & 4)	NC	$2,298,315,012	$2,388,532,820
6.	State Prescribed Practices that increase/(decrease) NAIC SAP:
7.	State Permitted Practices that increase/(decrease) NAIC SAP:
8.	NAIC SAP (5-6-7=8)	NC	$2,298,315,012	$2,388,532,820

B. Use of Estimates in the Preparation of the Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with SAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. The Company uses estimates and assumptions based on analytical and/or actuarially accepted quantitative methods in determining contract reserves and claims incurred but not yet reported, valuation of pension and other benefit plans, deferred income taxes, fair value of investments, other-than-temporary investments, and other valuation accruals. Actual results could differ materially from those estimates.

C. Accounting Policies

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less and not restricted to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates fair value due to the short maturity of these assets.

BCBSNC maintains a general depository account into which certain subsidiaries and BCBSNC receipts are deposited and upon which disbursements are drawn. The net activity is netted with amounts receivable from subsidiaries in the Statements of Assets, Liabilities, Capital and Surplus.

Short-Term Investments

Short-term investments consist of readily marketable securities with maturities greater than three months but less than one year at the time of purchase. These investments are recorded at amortized cost.

Investments

Bonds rated 1 and 2 by the NAIC are stated at cost adjusted for amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts using the scientific amortization method. Bonds rated 3 through 6 are carried at the lower of amortized cost or fair value with the change recorded in capital and surplus, net of applicable taxes. Common stocks, excluding common stock of subsidiaries, are stated at the estimated market value provided by the Securities Valuation Office (SVO) of the NAIC or are based on quoted market prices. Estimated SVO market values are based on published quotations of the SVO. However, for certain investments for which the SVO does not provide a value, BCBSNC uses the amortized cost amount as its estimate of market value in accordance with prescribed guidance. Mortgage-backed and other asset-backed securities rated 1 and 2 by the NAIC are adjusted for unamortized premiums and discounts, which are amortized using the scientific method over the estimated remaining term of the securities, adjusted retrospectively for changes in anticipated prepayments. Prepayment assumptions are determined by using broker data. Common stocks of subsidiaries are stated in accordance with SSAP 97. The Company has no preferred stocks. The Company has no derivative instruments. The Company does not have any mortgage loans.

Realized gains and losses are included in income, net of tax and net unrealized gains and losses on securities are reflected in capital and surplus, net of tax. Realized gains and losses on investments sold are determined on the specific identification basis. Interest and dividend income is recorded on the accrual basis.

Declines in the fair value of invested assets below cost are compiled on a monthly basis and reviewed quarterly to assess whether any other-than-temporary impairment loss should be recorded. Various thresholds are used to identify those securities which are at the greatest risk of an other than temporary impairment. Impairment losses for declines in value of fixed income investments and equity securities below cost attributable to issuer-specific events are based upon all relevant facts and circumstances for each investment and are recognized when appropriate. Some, but not all, of the factors considered in evaluating financial condition are earnings trends, industry outlook, negative cash flows, profitability, capital, the length of time below book value, downgrade of debt ratings and asset quality which could lead to an other-than-temporary impairment of any security. U.S. Treasury securities with unrealized losses are deemed to be temporarily impaired, with unrealized losses due to interest rate changes and not due to credit related factors. For fixed income investments with unrealized losses due to market conditions or industry-related events and where no specific evidence of deterioration of the issuers' credit exists, if the Company does not intend to sell the fixed income security and management does not consider it to be more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before a market recovery or maturity, declines in value below amortized cost are not assumed to be other-than-temporary.

If any investment security experiences an other-than-temporary decline in fair value, a realized loss is recorded in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses. Fair value is determined by quoted market prices where available. For securities not actively traded, fair values are estimated using values obtained from independent pricing services or quoted market prices of comparable instruments. Management judgment is involved in evaluating whether a decline in an investment's fair value is other-than-temporary. The discovery of new information and the passage of time can change these judgments. Impairment judgments are revised when new information becomes known and any resulting impairment adjustments are made at that time.

For loan-backed or structured securities, factors considered by management in determining whether an other-than-temporary impairment exists include the Company's stated intent to not sell, the Company's ability to hold such investments until the fair value recovers, and the discounted cash flows of the security based on the yield at the date of acquisition. If the Company intends to sell or if the Company does not have the ability and intent to hold the security for a period of time sufficient to recover its amortized cost basis, an other-than-temporary impairment exists, and the security is written down to fair value with the amount of the write-down recorded as a realized loss. If the Company does not intend to sell the security and has the ability and intent to hold the security for a period of time sufficient to recover the amortized cost basis, the Company calculates the cash flows expected to be collected. In this calculation, the Company compares the present value of cash flows expected to be collected, discounted at the security's effective interest rate at date of purchase, to the amortized cost basis. If the present value of cash flows is less than the amortized cost basis, a realized loss is recorded for the difference. The present value of cash flows then becomes the new cost basis.

BCBSNC's investments in its wholly-owned unconsolidated subsidiaries are recorded at BCBSNC's equity, adjusted to statutory basis if applicable, plus the remaining unamortized goodwill balance in the underlying net assets, with the net income or losses of the subsidiaries recorded directly to unassigned surplus.

Real Estate and Electronic Data Processing Equipment

Real estate and electronic data processing (EDP) equipment and software are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and encumbrances. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets: 5 to 40 years for buildings and leasehold improvements and 3 years for data processing equipment.

Market values for real estate reported in Schedule A are based on recent appraisals. Property and equipment retired from use is classified as held for sale and is carried at the lower of its depreciated cost or fair value, less estimated costs to sell. The Company ceases depreciating these assets when they are classified as held for sale.

Revenue Recognition (Premium Income, Uncollected Premiums and Unearned Premiums)

Premiums written are earned over the period of coverage on a pro rata basis. Premiums billed to policyholders are recorded as uncollected premiums when the coverage period begins. Payments received in advance of coverage are recorded as premiums received in advance until earned. Delinquent uncollected premiums are charged directly to reserves and unassigned funds once delinquent for 30 days and 90 days for non-group and group subscribers, respectively.

The Company participates in the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program (FEHBP) with other Blue Cross Blue Shield plans. This program includes a fully-insured experience-rated contract, commonly known as the Federal Employee Program (FEP), between the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and Blue Cross Blue Shield Association (BCBSA), which acts as an agent for the participating Blue Cross Blue Shield plans. In addition, each participating plan, including the Company, executes a contract with BCBSA which obligates each participating plan to underwrite FEP benefits in its service area. Premium rates are developed by BCBSA and negotiated with OPM annually. These rates determine the funds that will be available to the participating Blue Cross Blue Shield plans to provide insurance to Federal employees that enroll with the Blue Cross Blue Shield FEP. The excess of gross premiums for the life of the program over the charges for the life of the program on an accrual basis is accounted for as a rate stabilization reserve (commonly referred to as the special reserve), as required by the contract between OPM and BCBSA. Each year, OPM also allocates a portion of the premiums to a contingency reserve which may be utilized by the participating plans in the event that annual premiums paid to the insurance carrier are insufficient or the rate stabilization reserve falls below certain levels prescribed by OPM. Premiums paid to the carrier and available to each participating Blue Cross Blue Shield plan, including the special reserve and the contingency reserve, are held at the U.S. Treasury, including amounts unused from prior periods. Any premiums that remain in the rate stabilization reserve upon termination of the BCBSA contract after the claims run-out and reimbursement of allowable administrative expenses would be returned to OPM for the benefit of the FEHBP. The FEP contract renews automatically each year unless written notice of termination is given by either party.

In accordance with the FEP contract, premium funds that exceed daily operating needs are held on behalf of the Company in letter of credit accounts at the U.S. Treasury to provide funding for claims, administrative expenses, and other charges to the contract. The Company, along with other Blue Cross Blue Shield plans who participate in the FEHBP contract, has an unrestricted right to draw funds being held in the U.S. Treasury, other than those allocated to the contingency reserve, for any valid claim or expense. If the balance of the special reserve is exhausted or falls below certain prescribed levels, OPM will transfer funds from the contingency reserve to the special reserve to the extent that funds are available in the contingency reserve. Amounts incurred in excess of the total reserves held at the U.S. Treasury for the FEP would not be reimbursed to the Company. Amounts incurred in excess of the total reserves held at the U.S. Treasury for the FEP would not be reimbursed to the Company. The unaudited amounts being held in the special reserve are $5,261,908,422, and $5,752,349,886 as of September 30, 2014 and December 31, 2013, respectively. The unaudited amounts being held in the contingency reserve are $10,001,370,983 and $9,270,691,177 as of September 30, 2014 and December 31, 2013, respectively.

The Company has recorded its allocable share of the special reserve funds held in the U.S. Treasury as an asset, with an equivalent amount recorded as a rate stabilization reserve. These amounts are $8,128,629 and $7,625,904 as of December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively, and are included in assets and liabilities in the accompanying Statement of Assets, liabilities, Capital and Surplus. Additionally, the Company has recorded a mandatory statutory reserve for its FEP business. These amounts are $26,966,531 and $24,063,001 as of December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively, and are included in cash and liabilities in the accompanying Statement of Assets, liabilities, Capital and Surplus.

FEP represented approximately 65.8% and 58.2% of accounts receivable as of December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. FEP represented approximately 13.9%.and 15.4% of net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

The Company serves as a plan sponsor offering Medicare Part D prescription drug insurance coverage under a calendar year contract with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). Payments from CMS under this contract include amounts for premiums, risk corridor adjustments, reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies and prospective payments under the coverage gap discount program (CGDP).

The CMS contract is subject to audit and adjustments identified are recognized in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses as they are reviewed and agreed to by the Company. As of December 31, 2014, years 2006 through 2014 remain open to financial examination by CMS.

The payments received monthly from CMS and members represent amounts for providing prescription drug insurance coverage. The Company recognizes premium revenues for providing this insurance coverage ratably over the contract period for providing insurance coverage. Pharmacy benefit and administrative costs under the contract are expensed as incurred. As a result of the Medicare Part D product design, the Company incurs a disproportionate amount of benefit costs in the first half of the contract year compared with the last half of the contract year.

Funds received as “Reinsurance Payments” and “Low Income Subsidy (cost-sharing portion)” are accounted for as reimbursements (or advance payments) for uninsured claims under a partially uninsured plan in accordance with SSAP No. 47, and hence are not recognized as premiums. These funds are amounts paid by the Government for a portion of claims above the out-of-pocket threshold or relate to the prescription drug plan (PDP) payments for all or a portion of the deductible, the coinsurance and the co-payment amounts for low-income beneficiaries.

The Company’s CMS payment is subject to risk sharing through the Medicare Part D risk corridor provisions. The Company recognizes a risk sharing payable or receivable based on year-to-date activity. The risk corridor provisions compare costs targeted in the Company’s annual bid to actual prescription drug costs, limited to actual costs that would have been incurred under the standard coverage as defined by CMS. Variances exceeding certain thresholds may result in CMS making additional payments to the Company or require the Company to refund to CMS a portion of what was received. The Company estimates and recognizes an adjustment to premium revenues related to these risk corridor provisions based upon pharmacy claims experience to date as if the annual contract were to terminate at the end of the reporting period. Accordingly, this estimate provides no consideration to future pharmacy claims experience.

In addition, payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursement of prescription drug costs for which the Company is not at risk and is recorded as a payable when received. Reinsurance subsidies represent reimbursements for CMS’s portion of prescription drug costs which exceed the member’s out-of-pocket threshold, or the catastrophic coverage benefit level. Low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursement from CMS for all or a portion of the deductible, the coinsurance and co-payment amounts from the out-of-pocket threshold for low income beneficiaries. The Company recognizes risk sharing receivable or payable based on year to date activity. Monthly prospective payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies are based on assumptions submitted with the Company’s annual bid. This payable is reduced when reinsurance is utilized and subsidies are provided by the Company. This activity is accumulated and when the net balance for each contract is negative, it is recorded as a receivable. The Company does not recognize premium revenues or claims expense for these subsidies as the Company does not incur any risk with this part of the program.

A reconciliation and related settlement of the final risk sharing and low-income cost sharing and reinsurance subsidy amounts is performed following the end of the contract year. The Company did not have a risk sharing payable at December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. The net estimated subsidies receivable from CMS was $22,167,107 and $6,443,840 at December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. Any estimated receivables related to either the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in amounts receivable related to uninsured plans. Any estimated payables related to the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in liability for amounts held under uninsured plans.

Our Medicare Advantage and Medicare Part D premium revenues are subject to periodic adjustment under CMS risk adjustment payment methodology. The CMS risk adjustment model provides higher per member payments for enrollees diagnosed with certain conditions and lower payments for enrollees who are healthier. The Company and other health care plans collect, capture, and submit available diagnosis data to CMS within prescribed deadlines. CMS uses submitted diagnosis codes, demographic information, and special statuses to determine the risk score for most Medicare Advantage beneficiaries. CMS also retroactively adjusts risk scores during the year based on additional data. In previous years, we did not believe we had the ability to estimate the value of this payment with sufficient accuracy to support an accrual. In working with our vendor, we concluded that this amount is reasonably estimable and probable such that it would be appropriate to record an accrual. The Company estimates risk adjustment revenues based upon the data submitted and expected to be submitted to CMS. The amount of the receivable is $51,038,923 and $58,950,000, at December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

Claims Payable

Claims and claims adjustment expenses are expensed as incurred. The claims unpaid liability includes management's estimate of the ultimate cost of the claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not yet reported.

The process of estimating reserves requires a high degree of judgment and a number of factors are taken into consideration. The Company actuarially estimates the liability for claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not reported based on the most current historical claims payment patterns, changes in number of members, changes in products and benefits, and estimates of health care trend changes (cost, utilization, and intensity of services). Management also estimates the amount of claims adjustment expense needed to settle claims by determining the total administrative cost incurred to process claims as a percentage of total insured claims expense and applying that percentage to total claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not yet reported.

Estimates for the claims unpaid liability are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur, and revisions are accordingly reflected in the hospital and medical expense line of the Statement of Revenue and Expenses in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. Changes in the medical cost trend and claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of claims unpaid and unpaid claims adjustment expense. These estimates may change as actuarial methods change or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based change. There have been no significant changes to our actuarial methods in the last two fiscal years.

Income Taxes

Income taxes are computed in accordance with SSAP No. 101. The amount reported in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses as income tax expense represents an estimate of taxes due or refundable after computing the current year's tax return filing. This amount may also reflect impacts from prior years, which are properly reported through the Statement of Revenue and Expenses. Also, deferred income taxes are recorded for temporary differences between the admitted basis of assets and liabilities and the respective tax basis. The change in gross deferred income tax, excluding deferred taxes related to unrealized gains (losses) and additional minimum pension is reported as a separate component of surplus. Gross deferred income tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance if the Company determines it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the gross deferred tax assets will not be realized. Finally, as discussed in more detail below, the gross deferred tax asset is subject to an admissibility standard, which requires an annual computation of the admitted gross deferred tax asset. All computations are made on a separate company basis.

Adjusted deferred income tax assets are limited to (1) the amount of federal income taxes paid in prior years that can be recovered through loss carrybacks for existing temporary differences that reverse during a timeframe corresponding with IRS tax loss carryback provisions, not to exceed three years, plus (2) the lesser of the remaining gross deferred income tax assets expected to be realized within three years of the balance sheet date or 15% of capital and surplus (subject to certain limitations), excluding any net deferred income tax assets, electronic data processing equipment and operating software and any net positive goodwill, plus (3) the amount of remaining gross deferred income tax assets that can be offset against existing deferred income tax liabilities. The remaining deferred income tax assets in excess of the above are non-admitted. Deferred income taxes do not include amounts for state taxes.

Retirement Plans

Pension costs are accrued in accordance with SSAP No. 102, Accounting for Pensions and SSAP No. 92, Accounting for Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pension. Under these SSAPs, the statutory accounting standards will be similar to U.S. GAAP accounting standards. These SSAPs will require the pension and other postretirement benefit liabilities to include the unfunded projected benefit obligation and unfunded accumulated postretirement benefit obligation, respectively, including non-vested participants. These new requirements are effective January 1, 2013.

Certain events, such as changes in employee base and changes in actuarial assumptions, result in a change in the benefit obligation which results in a corresponding change in the gains and losses. The result of these events is amortized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income) over the average life expectancy (average working lifetime was used until June 30, 2013) of the participants, provided such amounts exceed thresholds which are based upon the benefit obligation or the value of plan assets. Plan amendments impact prior service cost and are amortized over the average remaining lifetime of all plan participants.

The measurement of benefit obligations and net periodic benefit expense (income) is based on estimates and assumptions approved by the Company's management. These valuations reflect the terms of the plans and use participant-specific information such as compensation, age and years of service, as well as certain assumptions, including estimates of discount rates, expected return on plan assets, rate of compensation increases and mortality rates.

The Company records expense for defined contribution plans for the Company's contribution when the employee renders service to the Company, essentially coinciding with the cash contributions to the plans. The expense is recorded as general administrative expense.

Risks and Uncertainties

Unfavorable economic conditions could materially and adversely affect our revenues and our results of operations. For example, high unemployment rates could cause lower enrollment or lower rates of renewal in our employer group plans. Unfavorable economic conditions could cause employers to stop offering certain health care coverage as an employee benefit or elect to offer this coverage on a voluntary, employee-funded basis as a means to reduce their operating costs. In addition, unfavorable economic conditions could adversely impact our ability to increase premiums or result in the cancellation by certain customers of our products and services. All of these could lead to a decrease in our membership levels and premium and fee revenues and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Our investment portfolio may suffer losses, which could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Market fluctuations could impair our profitability and capital position. Volatility in interest rates affects our interest income and the market value of our investments in debt securities of varying maturities, which comprise the vast majority of the fair value of our investments as of December 31, 2014.
We also allocate a proportion of our portfolio to equity and alternative investments, which are subject to greater volatility than fixed income investments. General economic conditions, stock market conditions, and many other factors beyond our control can materially and adversely affect the value of these investments and may result in investment losses.

There can be no assurance that our investments will produce total positive returns or that we will not sell investments at prices that are less than their carrying values. Changes in the value of our investment assets, as a result of interest rate fluctuations, changes in issuer financial conditions, illiquidity or otherwise, could have an adverse effect on our equity. In addition, if it became necessary for us to liquidate our investment portfolio on an accelerated basis, it could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations.

Investments made in healthcare companies are not guaranteed to produce positive results. Our financial results may be impacted by a number of factors including, but not limited to, the failure of companies in which we invest to achieve business and operating plans, failure of these companies to adapt to a rapidly changing healthcare environment, and the inability of these companies to attract and retain key executives and employees. Additionally, negative changes in the financial markets could result in lower valuations (impacting the carrying value of investments already made) and the inability of these companies to access capital or to access capital on favorable terms. The impact of some or all of these risks could result in the impairment of our investment.

We routinely process, store and transmit large amounts of data in our operations, including sensitive personal information as well as proprietary or confidential information relating to our business or third-parties. Some of the data we process, store and transmit may be outside of the U.S. due to third-parties' information technology systems. Notwithstanding our proactive and aggressive measures to prevent security breaches, we still face the risk and subsequent costs of these breaches. We may be subject to breaches of the information technology systems we use. Experienced computer programmers and hackers may be able to penetrate our layered security controls and misappropriate or compromise sensitive personal information or proprietary or confidential information or that of third-parties, create system disruptions or cause shutdowns. They also may be able to develop and deploy viruses, worms, and other malicious software programs that attack our systems or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. Our facilities may also be vulnerable to security incidents or security attacks; acts of vandalism or theft; coordinated attacks by activist entities; misplaced or lost data; human errors; or other similar events that could negatively affect our systems and our customers' data.

The costs to eliminate or address the foregoing security threats and vulnerabilities before or after a cyber-incident could be significant. Our remediation efforts may not be successful and could result in interruptions, delays, or cessation of service, and loss of existing or potential customers. In addition, breaches of our security measures and the unauthorized dissemination of sensitive personal information or proprietary information or confidential information about us or our customers or other third-parties, could expose our customers' private information and our customers to the risk of financial or medical identity theft, or expose us or other third-parties to a risk of loss or misuse of this information, result in litigation and potential liability for us, damage our brand and reputation, or otherwise harm our business.

Substantially all of the Company's cash and cash equivalents are held in either deposits at financial institutions or in commercial paper with a high quality investment grade rating. Credit losses are not anticipated. All fixed income securities are rated investment grade at the time of purchase by nationally recognized rating agencies, and the credit ratings are continuously reviewed by management. The portfolio is diversified by limiting each individual non-government issuer concentration to no more than 5% of the portfolio.

We are dependent on the success of our relationships with a large vendor for a significant portion of our information system resources and certain other vendors for various other services. We have an agreement with Fujitsu for the operation of our IT systems and are dependent upon them for support functions. We also have agreements with other vendors to provide call center, claims processing, enrollment and billing, and fulfillment support as well as vendor dependencies associated with various workflow and transactional systems critical to our operations. Should these vendors be unable to provide their services, we may not be able to meet the demands of our customers and, in turn, our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations may be harmed.

The inability to bring a scalable and flexible information technology infrastructure to support and deliver on the current and anticipated future needs of the business in an efficient, cost effective and well-controlled manner could impact results of operations, financial position and cash flows. A new core operating platform is intended to provide enrollment and claims-processing services. Our internally developed software related to this has been placed in service for our small Group market, with membership increasing as we add new functionality. We are targeting to add functionality for our Individual and Large Group markets for January 1, 2016 effective dates. A key goal is increasing speed to market for new products and product enhancements. Completion of this project could favorably position the company to capture exchange-related business and other business from some of its national competition. However, execution risk is present and the cost of this initiative is substantial and may increase, while the business and operating cost-reduction benefits are unproven.

In addition, federal and state regulatory agencies may further restrict our ability to implement changes in premium rates or impose additional restrictions, under new or existing laws, such as minimum medical loss ratio requirements or restricted definitions of costs to be included when calculating medical loss ratios under such definitions. Our ability to secure sufficient premium rates, including regulatory approval for and implementation of such rates on a timely basis, may be restricted by changes in federal and state regulations or by the application of existing federal and state regulations. A limitation on our ability to increase or maintain our premium rates and more restrictive medical loss ratio requirements could adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.
In addition, during a prolonged unfavorable economic environment, state and federal budgets could be materially and adversely affected, resulting in reduced reimbursements or payments for federal and state government health care coverage programs, including Medicare, Medicaid and CHIP. A reduction in state Medicare reimbursement rates could be implemented retrospectively to payments already negotiated and/or received from the government and could indirectly affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. In addition, the state and federal budgetary pressures could cause the government to impose new or a higher level of taxes or assessments for our commercial programs, such as premium taxes on insurance companies and health maintenance organizations and surcharges or fees on select fee-for-service and capitated medical claims, and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Depending on the consolidation and integration of physician groups and hospitals, reimbursement strategies vary across markets. Fee-for-service is our predominant reimbursement methodology for physicians, but we are transitioning to a value-based payment program. More traditional physician fee schedules are developed at the state and regional level based on an assessment of several factors and conditions, including the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (“CMS”), resource-based relative value system, medical practice cost inflation and physician supply. In addition, we have implemented and continue to expand physician incentive contracting, or “pay for performance”, which ties physician payment levels to performance on quality and clinical outcomes. As providers continue to consolidate, we may experience upward pressure on reimbursement amounts and, in turn, our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations may be harmed.

Additionally, accountable care organizations; practice management companies (which are companies that aggregate physician practices for administrative efficiency); and other organizational structures that physicians, hospitals and other care providers choose may change the way in which these providers interact with us and may change the competitive landscape. Such organizations or groups of physicians may compete directly with us, which could adversely affect our operations, and our results of operations, financial position and cash flows by impacting our relationships with these providers or affecting the way that we price our products and estimate our costs, which might require us to incur costs to change our operations.

Since 2010, with the passage of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA or health care reform), health insurance issuers have been feeling the far-reaching effects of subsequent guidance and regulations. The law is intended to expand access to health insurance coverage over time by increasing the eligibility thresholds for most state Medicaid programs and providing certain other individuals and small businesses with tax credits to subsidize a portion of the cost of health insurance coverage. The legislation includes a requirement that most individuals obtain health insurance coverage which began on January 1, 2014 and that most large employers offer coverage to their employees beginning in 2015 or be required to pay a financial penalty. In addition, the new laws encompass certain new taxes and fees, including an excise tax on high premium insurance policies, an annual fee to fund comparative effectiveness research, limitations on the amount of compensation that is tax deductible and new fees on companies in our industry, certain of which are not deductible for income tax purposes.

While many of the law’s reforms became effective January 1, 2014, including the individual mandate, the establishment of federally-facilitated or state-based exchanges, and the three premium stabilization programs (“3R’s”), many of the implications of the law will not be seen for years to come.

Federal and state regulatory changes in December 2013 allowed certain individuals to maintain their current pre-ACA plans that are not compliant with health care reform, led to higher than previously expected retention of existing underwritten health plans. As this was the case with many issuers, across many states, this could result in overall deterioration of the risk pool in ACA compliant plans because more members remain in their current health plans rather than moving to ACA plans on or off the Exchange. The 3R's programs may mitigate this deterioration to some extent.

In addition, the ACA has increased and will continue to increase federal oversight of health plan premium rates and could adversely affect our ability to appropriately adjust health plan premiums on a timely basis. Financing for these reforms comes, in part, from material additional fees and taxes on all health plans and individuals beginning in 2014.
As discussed above, implementing regulations and related interpretive guidance continue to be issued on certain provisions of the ACA. Given the breadth of possible changes and the uncertainties of interpretation, implementation, and timing of these changes, the ACA has and will change how we do business, with impacts on pricing, benefit design, product offering, and sales distribution channels. The response of insurance issuers, the market overall, and adjustments to plan offerings could cause significant disruption in health care markets. It is possible that health care reform and related regulations, as well as future legislative changes, including legislative restrictions on issuers ability to manage provider networks or otherwise operate business, may have a sustained material adverse effect on our results of operations, financial position, and cash flows (including the receipt of amounts due under the 3R's programs in 2015 and future years related to claims paid in 2014).

Federal Congressional activity, budget negotiations, and ongoing regulatory changes to health care reform, and litigation challenging aspects of the law continue to create uncertainty about the ultimate impact of the ACA. Examples of this uncertainty include the conflicting decisions issued by the US Courts of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit and for the Fourth Circuit regarding whether the IRS can provide tax credits/subsidies to individuals who purchase health insurance through the Federally Facilitated Exchanges/Marketplaces established by the federal government (Exchanges). As a result, in November 2014, the U.S. Supreme Court agreed to hear oral arguments in the King v. Burwell case regarding the current IRS guidance and a decision is expected this June.
In May 2014, CMS published a final rule on Public Exchanges. The final rule provides that payments to health plans under the risk corridor program required by Health Care Reform will no longer be limited to the aggregate amount of the risk corridor collections received by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services ("HHS") over the duration of the risk corridor program. However, it is possible that payments to health plans under the risk corridor program will require additional appropriation legislation to be passed by the U.S. Congress. We cannot predict whether pending or future federal or state legislation or court proceedings, including future U.S. Congressional appropriations and the proceedings relating to tax credits for Federal Exchange members described above, will change various aspects of Health Care Reform or state level health care reform, nor can we predict the impact those changes will have on our business operations and/or financial results, but the effects could be materially adverse.
Health care reform also presents a challenge to insurers with respect to cash flows. In the pre-health care reform environment, an insurer would collect almost all premiums in advance of paying claims. However, health care reform has created new reimbursement timelines for insurers as government subsidies (which comprise over 90% of on-Exchange premiums) are not paid until more than 20 days into the coverage month. In addition, health care reform-related reimbursement payments to insurers to offset higher-than-expected or higher-than-average risk are not made until the third quarter following the coverage year.

As described above, the Company continues to face uncertainty impacting the health insurance industry with the ultimate implementation of the ACA, including the timing of when certain provisions become effective and legislative challenges proposed concerning targeted provisions or the law in totality. There is also uncertainty related to whether there will be adequate funding levels for certain programs and our ability to estimate the impact of these programs, which could impact our financial performance in future periods. The Company will continue to monitor any changes to the implementation requirements or timeline but at this point cannot estimate the ultimate impact of these changes, if any.

Contract Reserves

Contract reserves are established for policies where, because of the policy's design, future benefit costs increase because of factors which the plan cannot reflect in the premiums. The liability, established when a portion of the premium collected in years prior to the valuation date is meant to help pay for claim costs arising in later years, represents the present value of future benefits paid to or on behalf of policyholders and related expense less the present value of future net premiums. Contract reserves are actuarially estimated using methods that include assumptions such as interest rates, claim trends, persistency, and other assumptions based upon experience modified as necessary to reflect anticipated trends. The assumptions include a provision for possible unfavorable deviation. Contract reserves are established for Blue Advantage, NAIC Medicare Supplement, and individual Blue Options HSA products.

These estimates may change as actuarial methods and/or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based, change. The net level premium methodology is used. There were no significant changes to our actuarial methods in the last two fiscal years. Included in aggregate policy reserves are the contract reserves and unearned premiums on these policies. Aggregate policy reserves also include the liability for Federal Employee Program (FEP) rate stabilization reserve.

Estimates for contract reserves are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur. Changes to the valuation basis are reflected in capital and surplus in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. . Changes in the medical cost trend or in claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of contract reserves and would be recognized in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses. During 2014 and 2013, the Company adjusted contract reserves through capital and surplus by $83,636,008 and $27,769,220, respectively, as a result of updated experience and a refinement of assumptions.

Pharmaceutical Rebate Receivables

The Company's pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) contracts with pharmaceutical manufacturers, some of whom provide rebates based on the use of the manufacturers products by the PBM for the Company's insured and self-funded customers. The Company accrues the rebates receivable monthly based on the terms of the applicable contracts. The PBM bills these rebates to the manufacturers on a quarterly basis. The Company is reimbursed primarily quarterly. The Company records the rebates attributable to insured customers as a reduction to claims and medical expense. The rebates attributable to self-funded customers are accrued as rebates receivable as well as a corresponding payable to self-funded customers in accordance with their contracts. Of these receivables, $38,249,122 and $28,872,566 at December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively, were nonadmitted because they were outstanding in excess of 90 days.

Affordable Care Act Assessments

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) imposes a nondeductible assessment on entities that issue health insurance for each calendar year beginning on or after January 1, 2014. The liability related to the Section 9010 ACA assessment shall be estimated and recorded in full once the entity provides qualifying health insurance (typically January 1) in the applicable calendar year in which the assessment is paid (fee year) with a corresponding entry to expense. The Section 9010 ACA assessment shall be recognized in full on January 1 of the fee year, in the operating expense category of Taxes, Licenses and Fees. On January 1, 2014, the Company recognized in full $75,000,000 related to the Section 9010 ACA assessment. At September 30, 2014, the Company recorded an additional $4,491,486, based on the final fee calculation from the Internal Revenue Service for a total estimated fee of $79,491,486.

Liability recognition of the Section 9010 fee is not required in the data year. In the data year, the reporting entity is required to reclassify from unassigned surplus to special surplus an amount equal to its estimated subsequent fee year assessment. This segregation in special surplus is accrued monthly throughout the data year. The reclassification from unassigned surplus to special surplus does not reduce total surplus. On January 1 of the fee year, the prior year segregation in special surplus is reversed and the full current fee year assessment liability shall be accrued. As of December 31, 2014, the Company's segregated amount of special surplus is $135,202,257.

There was a significant change to income taxes in 2014 compared to 2013 because of the increase in nondeductible expenses due to the implementation of ACA.

2. Accounting Changes and Corrections of Errors

A. Material changes in accounting principles and/or corrections of errors:

In November 2000, BCBSNC established the Blue Cross Blue Shield of North Carolina Foundation, formerly The North Carolina Health Foundation, (Foundation), a separate, independent, private, non-consolidated not-for-profit organization in North Carolina. The purpose of the Foundation is to provide financial support to improve the health and well being of North Carolinians. The Company received $704,243 and $550,754 from the Foundation for salaries and benefits related to certain BCBSNC employees that provide services to the Foundation for the years ended 2014 and 2013, respectively. In 2014, BCBSNC contributed $0 in appreciated securities and donated services of $510,206, which were included in operating expenses. In 2013, BCBSNC contributed $10,000,000 in appreciated securities and donated services of $557,997, which were included in operating expenses. The Foundation is not a subsidiary of BCBSNC and the financial results of the Foundation are not consolidated with the Company's financial statements. We have no current legal obligations for future commitments to the Foundation, nor are we responsible for losses that may emerge in the Foundation.

In December 2011, BCBSNC established Topaz as a partnership. Its purpose was to develop a technology-enabled and market-competitive business solution to address the individual and small group health insurance markets. The initial focus of Topaz was to delivery of a shared technology solution based on The TriZetto

Group's software for administering business in the retail marketplace, including individual (less than 65 years old) and small group (defined as up to 100 lives) health insurance products. This solution is anticipated to be expanded to serve all lines of business in the future. Additionally, Topaz may expand the scope of its service offering to include certain health plan operations, such as enrollment, billing, claims administration and other business process services.

Topaz was owned by MHSI and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas City ("BCBSKC"). The initial capital contribution of MHSI was $5,000,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The initial capital contribution of BCBSKC's subsidiary was $5,000,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The Company and BCBSKC were funding Topaz and its development of a software infrastructure. The Company and BCBSKC planned to become customers of Topaz as software was placed in service. Topaz was a variable interest entity because its capital contributions were not sufficient to fund the development of its software infrastructure. Funding sources other than capital contributions were required to accomplish this endeavor. Additional funding was in the form of investments in research and development. The Company anticipates it will recover these additional investments through reduced billings from Topaz when it becomes operational. Through January 23, 2014, the Company has concluded that it was not the primary beneficiary of Topaz, because it did not hold the power to direct the activities that most significantly impact Topaz, since it shared a voting interest on a 50% - 50% basis with BCBSKC. Accordingly, the investment in Topaz was accounted for as an equity method investment for the years ended December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2012.

During 2013 the Company and BCBSKC entered into discussions regarding the withdrawal of BCBSKC from Topaz as an owner and customer. These discussions culminated in a Settlement Letter Agreement and Release that became effective January 23, 2014. As a result of this transaction, MHSI acquired the 50% voting interest from BCBSKC and prospectively, the MHSI consolidated the operations of Topaz based on its 100% ownership. The Company intends to continue funding the development of Topaz.

Effective January 23, 2014, MHSI acquired the BCBSKC investment interest by assuming certain liabilities valued at approximately $11,500,000. As a result, MHSI recognized the following assets acquired and liabilities assumed related to Topaz: cash $4,300,000, accounts receivable $31,800,000, prepaid expenses $200,000, internally developed software $52,900,000, prepaid software licenses $15,200,000, accounts payable $15,200,000 million, and research and development liability $66,100,000 million. Additionally, MHSI's existing investment in Topaz was revalued to fair value at the date of acquisition. This resulted in the recognition of a $20,100,000 gain recorded by MHSI. Had Topaz been consolidated with MHSI for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012, the Topaz revenues included would have totaled $100,000 and $0, respectively, and the net loss included would have totaled $10,900,000 and $29,400,000, respectively.

11. Debt

A. In November 2013, BCBSNC established a line of credit totaling $100,000,000 which will expire in November 2016 with an interest rate of LIBOR plus fifty basis points and an unused fee of ten basis points quarterly on the amount undrawn. Amounts drawn under this line of credit were $100,000,000 and $0 at December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

In September 2014, the Company entered into a $165,000,000 thirty-year, fully amortizing, 4.09% mortgage due 2044 with an unaffiliated lender using eight office buildings as collateral. The mortgage is not callable and can be prepaid at any time subject to a make whole premium due to the lender.

BCBSNC must maintain certain covenants including limits on indebtedness to capital, indebtedness to EBITDA, liens, and dispositions. As of December 31, 2014 the Company was not in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements; however, we are seeking a one-time waiver, from our lenders, of the EBITDA calculation. As of December 31, 2013 the Company was in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements.

The Company has a revolving line of credit of $100,000,000 and long-term debt of $164,000,000, $2,000,000 of which is scheduled to mature in 2015. The remaining $162,000,000 is classified as due in 2015 because the Company is awaiting waivers of a financial covenant. The Company expects to receive this waiver shortly and will reclassify the amount as long-term in future periods.

B. FHLB (Federal Home Loan Bank) Agreements

The Company did not have any FHLB Agreements at December 31, 2014 and 2013.

12. Retirement Plans, Deferred Compensation, Post Employment Benefits and Compensated Absences and Other Postretirement Benefit Plans

A. Defined Benefit Plan

The Company has a non-contributory qualified defined benefit retirement plan covering a significant number of employees. No new participants are allowed into the plan. In addition, certain participants have no additional service accrual based on a defined contribution plan participation choice. The benefits are based on years of service and the employee's highest sixty consecutive months of earnings in the last one hundred and twenty months of employment.

The Company also provides non-contributory non-qualified defined benefit supplemental executive retirement plans (SERP) for certain executives. Two of the SERPs have benefits based on years of service, retirement age and certain final average pay calculations. Benefits are offset by benefits payable from other defined benefit retirement plans. An additional SERP has benefits based on years of service and individual agreements that generally require payment of a fixed monthly dollar amount for 15 years upon retirement.

BCBSNC provides certain healthcare and life insurance benefits for retired employees. Substantially all of BCBSNC's employees who reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 5 years of service may become eligible for healthcare insurance benefits. In addition, substantially all of those BCBSNC employees hired prior to January 1, 2006, who will reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 15 years of service may become eligible for both a Company subsidy of healthcare insurance costs and life insurance benefits. BCBSNC funds retiree healthcare benefits by making contributions to the Voluntary Employees Beneficiary Association (VEBA) administered by the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (Association). The Company did not make a contribution in 2012 and 2014 to fund the liability for eligible retire employees.

Effective December 31, 2013, the Company has elected to freeze the non-contributory qualified defined benefit plan and two associated non-qualified defined benefit SERPs which ceased all benefit accruals under the Plans as of this date. As a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit plan, a curtailment was triggered and a remeasurement of the qualified pension obligations and plan assets occurred as of June 30, 2013. As of the remeasurement, the plan assets had increased in value from the prior measurement date resulting in an increase in the funded status of the plan of $58,595,458. Additionally, the curtailment impact reduced the projected benefit obligation by $86,836,489. Also as a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit pension plan, the amortization period for actuarial gains and losses was changed from the average working life to the average remaining life expectancy of all participants.

In June 2013, the Company offered an Early Retirement Window (ERW) to eligible employees who, as of December 31, 2013 are age 52 or older with ten years of service, and with an age plus years of service of at least 75 years. If eligible participants elect to retire at predefined phases in 2014, the ERW provides additional years of service toward eligibility for Company subsidized insurance benefits, additional years of service for pension benefit calculation purposes, and enhanced early retirement factors which, depending on the participant's age, provides a benefit that is unreduced or subject to smaller reductions. The same benefits were provided to eligible participants who retired or notified the Company that they intend to retire, in 2013 prior to the window announcement. The ERW enhancements are considered special termination benefits and they will increase the actuarially determined benefit obligation for the qualified retirement benefit plan and the postretirement benefit plan by an estimated $25,004,314 and $3,200,000, respectively.

In October 2014, the Company offered a Cash Out Window (COW) to terminated vested participants in the qualified defined benefit plan and SERP. The COW allowed the participants to elect an immediate lump sum distribution of their benefit in the plan(s). Lump sum payments of $100,219,684 were paid from the qualified retirement plan. Lump sum payments of $30,454 were paid from the SERP.

During 2014 related to the qualified retirement plan, lump sum payments of $100,219,684 were paid. Because these payments exceeded the sum of estimated 2014 service and interest costs, settlement accounting was triggered.
As a result, $18,135,922 of unrecognized actuarial loss associated with the payments was relieved from equity and recognized in income.

In 2014 and 2013, BCBSNC recognized the amortization of the cumulative net loss from past experience as measured by comparing the expected position of the plan at year-end (based on the beginning of the year actuarial assumptions and prior year census data) with the actual position of the plan at year-end (based on the end of year actuarial assumptions and current year census data) prior to recognizing any plan provision changes. Effective June 30, 2013, the loss is amortized over the average life expectancy.

(8) As of December 31, 2014 and 2013, BCBSNC recorded additional liability for pension benefits in the amount of $149,139,517 and $85,206,550 as well as a reversal of the minimum pension liability of $19,335,599, respectively. These events resulted in charges being recorded to accumulated capital net of income tax as a component of surplus in the amount of ($41,556,436) during 2014 and ($55,384,257) and $12,568,139 during 2013.

(9) The following table presents assumptions used in determining the actuarial present value of the benefit obligation and the subsequent year's net periodic benefit cost for the qualified, non-qualified and other postretirement plans:

	Qualified		Non Qualified		Other Postretirement
	2014	2013	2014	2013	2014	2013

Discount Rate for Non Qualified

Nonqualified:	2014	2013
Senior SERP	2.88%	3.32%
Partners SERP	3.56%	4.43%
Restoration SERP	3.93%	4.70%

As a result of the change in Actuarial Consultants, the Company has elected to move to the Mercer Yield Curve in place of the Aon Hewitt AA Only Universe Yield Curve. The Company will use separate discount rates for the different benefit plans as well as no rounding of discount rates, for consistency with industry trends. The expected future cash flows underlying the benefit obligations are discounted by the rate on the yield curve corresponding to the cash flow duration. The single discount rate that would yield the same present value as the sum of the discounted cash flows is determined. As of December 31, 2014 and 2013, the combined duration of all plans was 14 years and 14 years, respectively. The nonqualified pension plans have shorter durations than the qualified pension plan and the other postretirement benefit plans.

In 2014 the Society of Actuaries completed a mortality study and issued a new base mortality table (RP-2014) and new mortality improvement scale (MP-2014). The Company has decided to move to the Mercer modified MRP-2007 base mortality table and the Mercer modified MMP-2007 generational projection scale on December 31, 2014. In previous years, the Company used the RP-2000 base mortality table and the Scale AA generational projection scale.

To set the expected return on plan assets for the qualified pension plan, the Company projects returns on each asset class using historical return relationships and making adjustments as necessary, given current market and economic conditions. The projected returns are then applied to the portfolio target asset allocation weightings and result in a projected long-term portfolio rate of return.

(10) A measurement date of December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively, was used for the benefit plans.

(11) The medical trend rate used in determining the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation at December 31:

Health care cost trend rate assumed for next year:
Under age 65	7.9%	8.0%
Age 65 and older	7.9%	8.0%
Rate to which the cost trend rate is assumed to decline (the ultimate trend rate)	4.5%	4.5%
Year that the rate reaches the ultimate trend rate:
Under age 65	2027	2027
Age 65 and older	2027	2027

The above trend rates were used for the PPO plan options. Different rates were used for some post-65 plan options to better model gross costs and expected government subsidies.

(12) Health care cost trend rate assumptions can have a significant effect on the amounts reported for the Retiree Medical Benefits Plan. A one-percentage-point change in assumed health care cost trend rates would have the following effects:

Effect on total of service and interest cost components	$306,291	$(241,521)
Effect on postretirement benefit obligation	$6,758,929	$(5,336,102)

(13) BCBSNC's plan weighted-average asset allocations at December 31, by asset category, are as follows:

The BCBSNC Retirement Plan (Plan) was frozen effective December 31, 2013. The Plan investment strategy has switched from total return to liability matching. The Plans funding ratio exceeded 100% at year end and approximately 50% of the portfolio will be transitioned to a liability driven investment strategy (LDI) in 2014. As the Plans funding ratio grows more investments will be allocated to the LDI strategy.

The Plans investments remain diversified and of high quality. At year end the Plan had investments in funds invested in fixed income, domestic & international equities, real estate, commodities and timber.

The investment fiduciary for the VEBA employs a total return investment approach whereby a mix of equities, fixed income and other investments is used to maximize the long-term return of plan assets for a prudent level of risk. The investment portfolio contains a diversified blend of equity, fixed income and other investments. Investment risk is measured and monitored on an ongoing basis through investment portfolio reviews, annual liability measurements, and periodic asset/liability studies.

The mutual fund investment strategy for the VEBA is market sensitive while remaining consistent with the risk tolerance, tax status, and cash flow requirements. Fund strategies include pursuing and capitalizing on market inefficiencies using duration, yield curve, security selection, geographic concentration, sector and state allocation. Security selection, geographic concentration and sector decisions are based on relative attractiveness, using inputs such as historical spread relationships, the value of state tax exemptions, state/regional economic outlooks, credit outlooks and supply and demand.

(14) Future expected benefit payments and 2014 contributions are as follows:

(15) Effective June 30, 2013, the company amortizes unrecognized losses for the frozen qualified plan and two frozen nonqualified plans over the average future lifetime of all participants. The Company does not use any alternative amortization method to amortize prior service amounts.

(16) The Company did not have a significant benefit increase during the period. Additionally, the Company does not have any substantive commitment, such as a past practice or history of regular benefit increases, used as the basis for accounting for the benefit obligation.

(17) No significant special or contractual termination benefits were recognized during the period.

B. Defined Contribution Plans

BCBSNC has two defined contribution retirement plans qualified under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code, the BCBSNC Retirement Savings Plan and the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan (401(k) Plan). Eligible employees hired after December 31, 2005 may only participate in the 401(k) Plan. Eligible BCBSNC employees hired prior to December 31, 2005 and participating in the Retirement Savings plan were given the option to remain in that plan or enroll in the 401(k) Plan. Each plan is nondiscriminatory. Participant pretax and Roth contributions are matched at the rate of 50% of the first 6% of compensation or 100% of the first 6% of compensation, depending upon the plan, subject to certain limitations. Under the 401(k) Plan, a profit sharing contribution is made by the Company in an amount equal to 3% of eligible compensation. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $31,056,566 and $19,063,127 for the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

In connection with the redesign of the Company's retirement plans, the Retirement Savings Plan will be merged with the redesigned BCBSNC 401(k) Plan effective December 31, 2013. The newly designed 401(k) will be amended to include a new safe harbor matching contribution formula of 100% of the first 4% and 50% of the next 2% of compensation contributed, subject to certain limitations. A profit sharing contribution will be made by the Company in an amount equaling 2% to 5% of eligible compensation, based on the employee's years of service with the Company. Additionally, eligible employees who were participating in the defined benefit pension plan as of December 31, 2013 are also eligible to receive a non-elective contribution ranging from 1% to 8% of eligible compensation for up to 10 years, based on the employee's total years of service with the Company and based on their defined contribution plan participation choice.

The Company also maintains the Restoration Plan, a non-qualified defined contribution plan, to ensure that designated participants receive the full amount of benefits to which they would have been entitled under the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan except for limits on compensation imposed by the Internal Revenue Service. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $1,427,098 and $560,400 for the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

The Company maintains a rabbi trust to account for assets and liabilities under certain of the Company's deferred compensation plan. Certain BCBSNC employees are allowed to defer a portion of their compensation until a future date. The Plan was amended in 2011 to exclude all deferrals through 2012. The deferrals are included in investments with an equal offsetting liability included in accrued other retirement benefits. The National Organization of Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Associations (NOLHGA) is a voluntary organization consisting of the state life and health insurance guaranty associations located throughout the U.S. State life and health insurance guaranty associations, working together with NOLHGA, provide a safety net for their state's policyholders, ensuring that they continue to receive coverage even if their insurer is declared insolvent. The Company is aware that the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner (Insurance Commissioner) has placed Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company and its subsidiary American Network Insurance Company, or collectively Penn Treaty, in rehabilitation, an intermediate action before insolvency. The state court denied the Insurance Commissioner's petition for the liquidation of Penn Treaty and ordered the Insurance Commissioner to file an updated plan of rehabilitation. The Insurance Commissioner has filed a Notice of Appeal asking the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to reverse the order denying the liquidation petition. In the event rehabilitation of Penn Treaty is unsuccessful and Penn Treaty is declared insolvent and placed in liquidation, the Company and other insurers may be required to pay a portion of their policyholder claims through state guaranty association assessments in future periods. Given the uncertainty around whether Penn Treaty will ultimately be declared insolvent and, if so, the amount of the insolvency, the amount and timing of any associated future guaranty fund assessments and the availability and amount of any potential premium tax and other offsets, the Company currently cannot estimate its net exposure, if any, to this potential insolvency. The Company will continue to monitor the situation and may record a liability and expense in future reporting periods, which could be material to its cash flows and results of operations.

The Company is a named defendant in seven of the consolidated cases. Additionally, one of the consolidated cases against the Company makes antitrust allegations based on most favored nations ("MFN") clauses in the Company's provider contracts and seeks reformation of the Company's provider contracts to strike MFN clauses and monetary damages. The case is now in the discovery stage. The Company intends to vigorously defend this litigation.

Additionally, BCBSNC is also involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. However, management believes that proceedings arising in the ordinary course of business and those referenced above will not have a material adverse impact on the financial position of the Company.

Effective as of February 2, 2015, the Company underwent a corporate organizational restructuring. BCBSNC now has three wholly-owned subsidiaries: Corium; Corium II; and NobleHealth, Inc. Cost-sharing reduction payments for benefit year 2014 will be reconciled for settlement in April 2016. The Company is evaluating the impact of this election on its 2015 financial results.

On January 1, 2014, the Company was subject to an annual fee under section 9010 of the Affordable Care Act (ACA). This annual fee is allocated to individual health insurers based on the ratio of the amount of the entity's net premiums written during the preceding calendar year to the amount of health insurance for any U.S. health risk that is written during the preceding calendar year. A health insurance entity's portion of the annual fee becomes payable once the entity provides health insurance for any U.S. health risk for each calendar year beginning on or after January 1, 2014. As of December 31, 2014, the Company has written health insurance subject to the ACA assessment, expects to conduct health insurance business in 2015, and estimates their portion of the annual health insurance industry fee to be payable on September 30, 2015 to be $135,202,257. This amount is reflected in special surplus. This assessment is expected to impact risk based capital by a 4.18% reduction (or a decrease in RBC by 32 percentage points). Reporting the ACA assessment as of December 31, 2014 would not have triggered an RBC action level.

Report of Independent Auditors

The Board of Trustees
Blue Cross Blue Shield North Carolina

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Blue Cross Blue Shield of North Carolina and its subsidiaries, which comprise the consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 2015, and the related consolidated statements of comprehensive income, changes in accumulated capital and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the consolidated financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles; this includes the design, implementation and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free of material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Building a better working world

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina and its subsidiaries at December 31, 2015, and the consolidated results of their operations and their cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Report of Other Auditors on December 31, 2014 and 2013 Financial Statements

The consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 2014, and the related consolidated statements of comprehensive income, changes in accumulated capital and cash flows for each of the two years in the period ended December 31, 2014, were audited by other auditors who expressed an unmodified opinion on those statements on March 2, 2015.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements are prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) in the United States (US). Preparation of the consolidated financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. The Company uses estimates and assumptions based on analytical and/or actuarially accepted quantitative methods in determining contract reserves and claims incurred but not yet reported, valuation of pension and other benefit plans, deferred income taxes, fair value of investments, other-than-temporary impairments and other valuation accruals. Actual results could differ materially from those estimates.

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of BCBSNC and all of its wholly-owned subsidiaries. All significant intercompany transactions and accounts have been eliminated in consolidation.

Certain prior year balances have been reclassified to conform to current year presentation in the accompanying consolidated financial statements. These reclassifications resulted in no change to previously reported amounts of accumulated capital, income before taxes, or net income.

New Accounting Pronouncements

In May 2014, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued guidance that would require an entity to recognize the amount of revenue to which it expects to be entitled for the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. The updated standard will replace most existing revenue recognition guidance in U.S. GAAP, except those related to insurance contracts, when it becomes effective and permits the use of either a full retrospective or retrospective with cumulative effect transition method. Early adoption is not permitted. In July 2015, the FASB deferred the effective date provided in the new revenue guidance by one year. Giving effect to this deferral, the new guidance is effective for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2018. The Company has not yet selected a transition method and is currently evaluating the effect that the updated standard will have on the consolidated financial statements.

In February 2015, the FASB issued consolidation guidance that modifies the evaluation of whether limited partnerships and similar legal entities are variable interest entities or voting interest entities, eliminates the presumption that a general partner should consolidate a limited partnership, and affects the consolidation analysis of reporting entities that are involved with variable interest entities. The new guidance is effective beginning with annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2016, with early adoption permitted. All legal entities are subject to reevaluation under the revised consolidation model. We are currently evaluating the impact, if any, on our consolidated financial statements.

In April 2015, the FASB issued new guidance requiring entities to present debt issuance costs related to a recognized debt liability as a direct deduction from the carrying amount of that debt liability. This standard is effective for us beginning with annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2016. The adoption of the new guidance will not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

In April 2015, the FASB issued new guidance to help entities determine whether a cloud computing arrangement contains a software license that should be accounted for as internal-use software or as a service contract. The guidance is effective for us beginning with annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2016, with early adoption permitted. Upon adoption, an entity has the option to apply the provisions either prospectively to all arrangements entered into or materially modified, or retrospectively. We are currently evaluating the impact, if any, on our consolidated financial statements.

In May 2015, the FASB issued new guidance requiring insurance entities to provide additional disclosures about claim liabilities including paid claims development information by accident year and claim frequency data and related methodologies. The guidance is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2016. We are currently evaluating the impact the new guidance will have on our disclosures.

In November 2015, the FASB issued new guidance which eliminates the current requirement to present deferred tax liabilities and assets as current and noncurrent in a classified balance sheet. Instead, we will be required to classify all deferred tax assets and liabilities as noncurrent. The guidance is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2017. The adoption of the new guidance will not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

In January 2016, the FASB issued new guidance which enhances the reporting model for financial instruments to provide users of financial statements with more decision useful information. The guidance is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2017. The adoption of the new guidance will not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

Risks and Uncertainties

Unfavorable economic conditions could materially and adversely affect our revenues and our results of operations. For example, high unemployment rates could cause lower enrollment or lower rates of renewal in our employer group plans. Unfavorable economic conditions could cause employers to stop offering certain health care coverage as an employee benefit or elect to offer this coverage on a voluntary, employee-funded basis as a means to reduce their operating costs. In addition, unfavorable economic conditions could adversely impact our ability to increase premiums or result in the cancellation by certain customers of our products and services. All of these could lead to a decrease in our membership levels and premium and fee revenues and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Our investment portfolio may suffer losses, which could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Market fluctuations could impair our profitability and capital position. Volatility in interest rates affects our interest income and the market value of our investments in debt securities of varying maturities, which comprise a majority of the fair value of our investments as of December 31, 2015.

We also allocate a proportion of our portfolio to equity and alternative investments, which are subject to greater volatility than fixed income investments. General economic conditions, stock market conditions, and many other factors beyond our control can materially and adversely affect the value of these investments and may result in investment losses.

There can be no assurance that our investments will produce total positive returns or that we will not sell investments at prices that are less than their carrying values. Changes in the value of our investment assets, as a result of interest rate fluctuations, changes in issuer financial conditions, illiquidity or otherwise, could have an adverse effect on our equity. In addition, if it became necessary for us to liquidate our investment portfolio on an accelerated basis, it could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations.

Investments made in healthcare companies are not guaranteed to produce positive results. Our financial results may be impacted by a number of factors including, but not limited to, the failure of companies in which we invest to achieve business and operating plans, failure of these companies to adapt to a rapidly changing healthcare environment, and the inability of these companies to attract and retain key executives and employees. Additionally, negative changes in the financial markets could result in lower valuations (impacting the carrying value of investments already made) and the inability of these companies to access capital or to access capital on favorable terms. The impact of some or all of these risks could result in the impairment of our investment.

We routinely process, store and transmit large amounts of data in our day to day operations. Such data includes sensitive personal, proprietary or confidential information relating to our customers, our business or other third-parties. Some of this data may be processed, stored and transmitted outside of the U.S. because of operational reliance on strategic vendors.

The possibility of security incidents resulting in a breach of our information systems and/or sensitive information are constant risks to our organization. Notwithstanding the proactive and aggressive measures we employ to prevent them, experienced cyber criminals may be able to penetrate our layered security controls and misappropriate or compromise sensitive information given sufficient time and resources. Such attacks could create system disruptions or cause shutdowns, or may result in the deployment of malicious software programs, such as viruses and worms, that could infect our systems or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. Physical attacks and disruptions are also a risk. Our facilities may be subjected to security incidents or security attacks; acts of vandalism or theft; coordinated attacks by activist entities; misplaced or lost data; human errors; or other similar events that could negatively affect our systems and our customers' data.

The costs associated with threat mitigation and vulnerability remediation to prevent a breach or cyber-incident are significant, but potentially much greater when such activities are forced to occur after an event. Such efforts are always impactful and may not always be successful. Service interruptions, delays or complete lack of service resulting in customer dissatisfaction and the loss of existing or new customers are additional impacts associated with these activities. However, breaches of our security measures and the unauthorized disclosure of sensitive information could expose our customers to the risk of medical identity theft or financial harm. Additionally, such breaches could expose us or other third-parties to loss or misuse of sensitive information, resulting in litigation and potential liability for us, damage our brand and reputation, or otherwise harm our business.

Substantially all of the Company's cash and cash equivalents are held in either deposits at financial institutions or in commercial paper with a high quality investment grade rating. Credit losses are not anticipated. All fixed income securities are rated investment grade at the time of purchase by nationally recognized rating agencies, and the credit ratings are continuously reviewed by management. The portfolio is diversified by limiting each individual non-government issuer concentration to no more than 5% of the portfolio.

We are dependent on the success of our relationship with a large vendor for a significant portion of our information system resources and certain other vendors for various other services. We have an agreement with Fujitsu for the operation of our IT systems and are dependent upon them for support functions. We also have agreements with other vendors to provide call center, claims processing, enrollment and billing, and fulfillment support. Additionally, we have vendor dependencies associated with various workflow and transactional systems critical to our operations. Should these vendors be unable to provide their services our operations and financial stability may be significantly impacted, but more importantly we may not be able to meet the demands of our customers.

The inability to bring a scalable and flexible information technology infrastructure to support and deliver on the current and anticipated future needs of the business in an efficient, cost effective and well-controlled manner could impact results of operations, financial position and cash flows. A new core technology suite and business model is intended to provide core operating capabilities including enrollment, claims-processing and customer services with the explicit goals of reducing our operating costs and increasing speed-to-market and market offer flexibility. This core platform has been in service for our small Group market since July 2014, with membership migrating as we add new functionality. We are migrating our Individual under-65 market for January 1, 2016 effective dates and will migrate remaining markets over the next three years. Completion of this program could favorably position the Company to capture and retain attractive business from some of its national competition. However, execution risk exists on a program of this magnitude and complexity, while the business and operating cost value is largely delivered upon completion of the migration.

In addition, federal and state regulatory agencies may further restrict our ability to implement necessary changes in premium rates to earn our target contribution to surplus or impose additional restrictions, under new or existing laws, such as minimum medical loss ratio requirements or restricted definitions of costs to be included when calculating medical loss ratios under such definitions. Our ability to secure sufficient premium rates, including regulatory approval for and implementation of such rates on a timely basis, may be restricted by changes in federal and state regulations or by the application of existing federal and state regulations. A limitation on our ability to increase or maintain our premium rates and more restrictive medical loss ratio requirements could adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

A wide variety of factors could result in volatility of medical losses in any given year. These factors include economic and regulatory risks whereby state and federal budgets could be materially and adversely affected, resulting in reduced reimbursements or payments for federal and state government health care coverage programs, including Medicare, Medicaid and CHIP. A reduction in state reimbursement rates could be implemented retrospectively to payments already negotiated and/or received from the government and could indirectly affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. In addition, the state and federal budgetary pressures could cause the government to impose new or a higher level of taxes or assessments for our commercial programs, such as premium taxes on insurance companies and health maintenance organizations and surcharges or fees on select fee-for-service and capitated medical claims, and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Furthermore, new types of medical treatments or prescription drugs could emerge during the policy period or after the time premiums are established and approved by regulators, resulting in higher medical losses than expected.

Depending on the consolidation and integration of physician groups and hospitals, reimbursement strategies vary across markets. Fee-for-service is our predominant reimbursement methodology for physicians, but we are transitioning to a value-based payment program. More traditional physician fee schedules are developed at the state and regional level based on an assessment of several factors and conditions, including the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (“CMS”), resource-based relative value system, medical practice cost inflation and physician supply. In addition, we have implemented and continue to expand physician incentive contracting, or “pay for performance”, which ties physician payment levels to performance on quality and clinical outcomes. As providers continue to consolidate, we may experience upward pressure on reimbursement amounts and, in turn, our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations may be harmed. Additionally, accountable care organizations; practice management companies (which are companies that aggregate physician practices for administrative efficiency); and other organizational structures that physicians, hospitals and other care providers choose may change the way in which these providers interact with us and may change the competitive landscape. Such organizations or groups of physicians may compete directly with us, which could adversely affect our operations, and our results of operations, financial position and cash flows by impacting our relationships with these providers or affecting the way that we price our products and estimate our costs, which might require us to incur costs to change our operations.

Since 2010, with the passage of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA or health care reform), health insurance issuers have been feeling the far-reaching effects of subsequent guidance and regulations. The law is intended to expand access to health insurance coverage over time by increasing the eligibility thresholds for most state Medicaid programs and providing certain other individuals and small businesses with tax credits to subsidize a portion of the cost of health insurance coverage. The legislation includes a requirement that most individuals obtain health insurance coverage which began on January 1, 2014 and that most large employers offer coverage to their employees beginning in 2015 or be required to pay a financial penalty. In addition, the new laws encompass certain new taxes and fees, including an excise tax on high premium insurance policies, an annual fee to fund comparative effectiveness research, limitations on the amount of compensation that is tax deductible and new fees on companies in our industry, certain of which are not deductible for income tax purposes.

While many of the law's reforms have been in place since January 1, 2014, including the individual mandate, the establishment of federally-facilitated or state-based exchanges, and the three premium stabilization programs ("3R's"), many of the implications of the law will not be seen for years to come.

Federal and state regulatory changes in December 2013 allowed certain individuals to maintain their current pre-ACA plans that are not compliant with health care reform, which led to higher than previously expected retention of existing underwritten health plans. As this was the case with many issuers, across many states, this could result in overall deterioration of the risk pool in ACA compliant plans because more members remain in their current health plans rather than moving to ACA plans on or off the Exchange. These policies can be renewed through October 1, 2016 unless extended.

In addition, the ACA has increased and will continue to increase federal oversight of health plan premium rates and could adversely affect our ability to appropriately adjust health plan premiums on a timely basis. Financing for these reforms comes, in part, from material additional fees and taxes.

As discussed above, implementing regulations and related interpretive guidance continue to be issued on certain provisions of the ACA. Given the breadth of possible changes and the uncertainties of interpretation, implementation, and timing of these changes, the ACA has and will continue to change how we do business, with impacts on pricing, benefit design, product offering, and sales distribution channels. The response of insurance issuers, the market overall, and adjustments to plan offerings could cause significant disruption in health care markets. It is possible that health care reform and related regulations, as well as future legislative and regulatory changes, including legislative restrictions on issuers ability to manage provider networks or otherwise operate business, may have a sustained material adverse effect on our results of operations, financial position, and cash flows.

Federal Congressional activity, budget negotiations, the 2016 presidential campaign, ongoing regulatory changes to health care reform, and litigation challenging aspects of the law continue to create uncertainty about the ultimate impact of the ACA. An example of this uncertainty includes the upcoming federal court case US House of Representatives vs. Secretary Burwell involving the Administration's delayed enforcement of the requirement that large employers provide health coverage to their employers and the administration's funding of a program to reduce the out-of-pocket health care costs of some consumers.

In the 2015 federal budget bill, Congress specified that the ACA's risk corridor program must be budget neutral, with distributions not exceeding collections. In October 2015, CMS announced that they will pay insurers expecting risk corridor payments 12.6% of their requested amount due to a shortfall with insurers having requested $2.87 billion in payments and CMS has received $362 million (in aggregate). The notice repeats CMS' intention to pay the remaining 2014 amounts due out of 2015 and 2016 receivables, as necessary, and in the event of a shortfall in the program after the 2016 benefit year, CMS repeated that they will 'explore other sources of funding for risk corridors payments'. This continued uncertainty makes financial forecasting and reporting increasingly challenging.

Health care reform also presents a challenge to insurers with respect to cash flows. In the pre-health care reform environment, an insurer would collect almost all premiums in advance of paying claims. However, health care reform has created new reimbursement timelines for insurers as government subsidies (which comprise over 90% of on-Exchange premiums) are not paid until more than 20 days into the coverage month. In addition, health care reform-related reimbursement payments to insurers to offset higher-than-expected or higher-than-average risk are not made until the third quarter following the coverage year.

As described above, the Company continues to face uncertainty impacting the health insurance industry with the ultimate impacts of the ACA, including the legislative and regulatory changes to the law. There is significant uncertainty and concern related to whether there will be adequate funding levels for certain programs and our ability to estimate the impact of these programs, which is impacting our financial performance in future periods. The Company will continue to monitor all changes to the implementation requirements or timeline but at this point cannot estimate the ultimate impact of these changes, if any.

The US House of Representatives has filed a lawsuit (US House of Representatives v. Burwell) challenging the ability of the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to make Cost Sharing Reduction (CSR) payments to insurers. CSR plans are available to enrollees at or below 250% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). CSR Plans provide lower deductibles, copayments, coinsurance, and out-of-pocket maximums for enrollees. HHS makes CSR payments directly to BCBSNC as reimbursement for the lower cost-sharing amounts provided in CSR plans.

In the lawsuit, Congress maintains that the funds HHS is using to make CSR payments requires a direct appropriation from Congress. The plaintiffs maintain that as Congress did not provide a specific line item appropriation for CSR payments; HHS has not been granted the right or authority to make a distribution from the Treasury. The Obama administration maintains that CSR payments and the Advance Premium Tax Credit (APTC or subsidies as they are known) are inextricably linked (as eligibility for CSR is triggered by APTC eligibility); thus the appropriation of funds for APTC serves as an appropriation for CSRs as well.

The DC District Court has ruled, initially in June in of 2015 and again in denying an Obama Administration request to dismiss the case in October of 2015, that the House has standing to sue and that the case will proceed on its merits. Oral arguments in the case are expected to take place in the spring or summer of 2016 and a decision could come anytime thereafter. The challenge for BCBSNC is that we are required to offer CSR plans to eligible individuals as part of our Qualified Health Plan (QHP) issuer agreement with the Federal Exchange, and this agreement covers the entire plan year. If the CSR payments from HHS are deemed illegal, CSR payments to BCBSNC could possibly be stopped soon after a ruling but we would still be required to offer CSR plans for the remainder of the plan year, as stipulated in our signed issuer agreement. The timing of a final decision is unknown, but it is not likely that the case will be settled before the 2017 QHP agreements must be signed in late summer. The standing decision is likely to go to the US Supreme Court.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less and not restricted to be cash equivalents. Cash equivalents totaled $55,903 and $5,296 as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. Cash and cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates fair value due to the short maturity of these assets.

Included in other noncurrent assets as of both December 31, 2015 and 2014 are restricted money market funds and bonds of $33,005 and $33,008, respectively, which were on deposit with the state of North Carolina in accordance with contractual requirements.

Investments

All investments are categorized as available-for-sale and are recorded at their fair values as of the balance sheet date. The Company records purchases and sales as of the trade date. Fixed income securities are classified as either current or noncurrent assets based on their contractual maturities as well as management's expectations as to when they will be sold. If the Company does not intend to sell the fixed income security, management considers available evidence to assess whether it is more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before the recovery of its amortized cost basis. Equity securities are primarily classified as current as they are available for use for current operations. Certain securities, which are used to satisfy contractual, regulatory or other requirements, continue to be classified as long-term, without regard to contractual maturity.

Venture capital investments, real estate funds, private equity funds and private equity securities are classified as noncurrent assets.

Realized gains and losses, including other-than-temporary impairments that are determined to be due to credit, are included in income. Unrealized gains, unrealized losses estimated to be temporary in nature and other-than-temporary impairments determined to be non-credit related, net of deferred income taxes, are reflected in accumulated capital as Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income (loss) (AOCI). Realized gains and losses on investments sold are determined on the specific identification basis. Interest and dividend income is recorded on the accrual basis.

Declines in the fair value of invested assets below cost are compiled on a monthly basis and reviewed quarterly to assess whether any other-than-temporary impairment loss should be recorded. Various thresholds are used to identify those securities which are at the greatest risk of an other than temporary impairment. Impairment losses for declines in value of fixed income investments and equity securities below cost attributable to issuer-specific events are based upon all relevant facts and circumstances for each investment and are recognized when appropriate. Some, but not all, of the factors considered in evaluating financial condition are earnings trends, industry outlook, negative cash flows, profitability, capital, the length of time below book value, downgrade of debt ratings and asset quality which could lead to an other-than-temporary impairment of any security. U.S. Treasury securities with unrealized losses are deemed to be temporarily impaired, with unrealized losses due to interest rate changes and not due to credit related factors. For fixed income investments with unrealized losses due to market conditions or industry-related events and where no specific evidence of deterioration of the issuers' credit exists, if the Company does not intend to sell the fixed income security and management does not consider it to be more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before a market recovery or maturity, declines in value below amortized cost are not assumed to be other-than-temporary.

When an other-than-temporary impairment loss is determined to have occurred on equity securities, the losses are recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. The way in which impairment losses on fixed income securities are recognized in the financial statements is dependent on the facts and circumstances related to the specific security. If the Company intends to sell a security or it is more likely than not that we would be required to sell a security before the recovery of its amortized cost, less any current period credit loss, the Company recognizes an other-than-temporary impairment in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income for the difference between amortized cost and fair value. If the Company does not expect to recover the amortized cost basis, does not plan to sell the security and if it is not more likely than not that the Company would be required to sell a security before the recovery of its amortized cost, less any current period credit loss, the recognition of the other-than-temporary impairment is bifurcated. The Company recognizes the credit loss portion in net income and the noncredit loss portion in AOCI.

The credit component of an other-than-temporary impairment is determined by comparing the net present value of projected future cash flows with the amortized cost basis of the fixed income security. The net present value is calculated by discounting our best estimate of projected future cash flows at the effective interest rate implicit in the fixed income security at the date of acquisition. For mortgage-backed and asset-backed securities, cash flow estimates are based on assumptions regarding the underlying collateral including expected prepayments, vintage, type of underlying asset, geographic concentrations, default rates, recoveries and changes in value of the underlying collateral. For all other fixed income securities, cash flow estimates are driven by assumptions regarding probability of default, including changes in credit ratings, and estimates regarding timing and amount of recoveries associated with a default.

Fair value is determined by quoted market prices, where available. For securities not actively traded, fair values were estimated using values obtained from independent pricing services or quoted market prices of comparable instruments. Management judgment is involved in evaluating whether a decline in an investment's fair value is other-than-temporary. The discovery of new information and the passage of time can change these judgments. Impairment judgments are revised when new information becomes known and any resulting impairment adjustments are made at that time.

Ownership in Investee Companies

The Company, through its wholly owned subsidiary, NobleHealth, had ownership in Mosaic Health Solutions which has ownership in several investee companies in the amount of $135,079 and $74,765 as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. Ownership interest amounts ranged from 1% to 45%. These investments are accounted for under the equity method of accounting and the Company has elected the fair value method for such investments.

These investments are included in other assets line item in the Consolidated Balance Sheets and amount to approximately $135,000 and $74,800 as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. These investments make up 4.4% and 2.2% of total invested assets at year end in 2015 and 2014, respectively. Management has elected the fair value option for these investments as they have determined that fair value best reflects the economics of these investments. These investments were valued using quantifiable data from the portfolio company, recent portfolio company financing events, discounted cash flows, and relevant revenue, market, EBITDA, or similar multiples for comparable companies and transactions. Earnings in 2015 and 2014 for these investments were $34,194 and $2,420, respectively, which was recorded in Other income.

Premiums and Other Receivables

Premiums and other receivables include the uncollected amounts due from insured and self-funded customers and the federal government for amounts related to Medicare Advantage. Also, included in other receivables are the uncollected amounts of drug rebates, interest, certain profit sharing arrangements and other miscellaneous receivables. Premiums and other receivables are reported net of any allowance for uncollectible amounts. The allowance for uncollectible receivables is estimated each period and a valuation allowance is recorded based upon the age of unpaid amounts and other information about the customers as well as management's judgment regarding the ability of the customers to pay outstanding amounts. Estimates of uncollectible accounts receivable are revised each period, and changes are reflected in the operating expense line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period they become known. At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company recorded a valuation allowance of $17,402 and $6,280 respectively

The Company's pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) contracts with pharmaceutical manufacturers, some of whom provide rebates based on use of the manufacturers products by the PBM for the Company's insured and self-funded customers. The Company accrues the rebates receivable monthly based on the terms of the applicable contracts. The PBM bills these rebates to the manufacturers on a quarterly basis. The Company is reimbursed either annually or quarterly for these rebates. The Company records the rebates attributable to insured customers as a reduction to claims and medical expenses. The rebates attributable to self-funded customers are accrued as rebates receivable as well as a corresponding payable to self-funded customers in accordance with their contracts.

Affordable Care Act Risk Management Programs

Beginning in 2014, as prescribed by health care reform, three programs, commonly referred to as the 3R's, went into effect to reduce the risk for participating health insurance companies selling coverage on the public exchanges.

A three-year (2014-2016) reinsurance program is designed to provide reimbursement to insurers for high claims dollars resulting from individual business sold on or off the public exchanges. The reinsurance entity established by HHS is funded by a per-customer reinsurance fee assessed on all commercial medical plans, including self-insured group health plans. Only non-grandfathered individual plans are eligible for recoveries if claims exceed a specified threshold, up to a reinsurance cap. Reinsurance contributions associated with non-grandfathered individual plans are reported as a reduction in premium revenue, and estimated reinsurance recoveries are established with an offsetting reduction in medical claims expense. Reinsurance fee contributions for other insured business are reported in other operating expenses. After fully reflecting completed actual claims experience and sufficient claims run-out, development factors were set and used to record the reinsurance receivable. At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company recorded a reinsurance receivable of $235,434 and $247,785, respectively. In 2015, the company collected all reinsurance recoverable submitted to CMS for 2014.

A permanent risk adjustment program reallocates funds from insurers with lower risk populations to insurers with higher risk populations based on the relative risk scores of participants in non-grandfathered plans in the individual and small group markets, both on and off the exchanges. Based on the risk of our members compared to the risk of other members in the same state and market, considering data obtained from industry studies and our proprietary market data, we estimate our year-to-date risk adjustment. The Company records a risk adjustment receivable or payable, with an offsetting adjustment to premium revenue when the amounts are reasonably estimable and collection is reasonably assured. To determine this amount, we relied on 3rd party consultant studies in both years with minor adjustments for known membership changes in 2014. These results were validated with internal actuarial models. At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company recorded a risk adjustment receivable of $98,980 and $43,460 respectively. In 2015, the Company collected the vast majority of the risk adjustment receivable established in 2014.

A three year (2014-2016) risk corridor program is designed to limit insurer gains and losses by comparing allowable costs to a target amount as defined by HHS. This program applies to individual and small group qualified health plans, operating on and off the exchanges. Variances from the target amount exceeding certain thresholds may result in amounts due to or due from HHS. The Company records a risk corridor receivable or payable as an adjustment to premium revenue based on our year-to-date experience when the amounts are reasonably estimable. At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company recorded a risk corridor receivable of $359,722 and $121,600 respectively.

In December, 2014, the 2015 Continuing Resolution Omnibus Bill was approved by Congress and signed into law. Due to the lack of appropriation in the budget for the risk corridor program and the likelihood that payments required to be made by CMS would exceed amounts collected to fund the program, the Company evaluated the collectability of the risk corridor receivable and determined that it was probable that the 2014 amounts due from CMS would not be fully collected and none of the 2015 amounts will be collected. As a result, the Company has recorded a reserve of $301,868 and $60,800 as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

The following is a summary of the 3R's as of December 31, 2015. Amounts are classified as current or long-term in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets based on the timing of expected settlement.

	Reinsurance Recoveries	Risk Adjustment	Risk Corridor
Current assets	$235,434	$98,980	$3,040
Non-current assets	-	-	54,814
Net asset (liability)	$235,434	$98,980	$57,854

The following is a summary of the 3R's as of December 31, 2014.

	Reinsurance Recoveries	Risk Adjustment	Risk Corridor
Current assets	$247,785	$43,460	$3,040
Non-current assets	-	-	57,760
Net asset (liability)	$247,785	$43,460	$60,800

Federal Employee Program

The Company participates in the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program (FEHBP) with other BlueCross BlueShield Plans. This program includes a fully-insured experience-rated contract, commonly known as the Federal Employee Program (FEP), between the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and BCBSA, which acts as an agent for the participating BlueCross BlueShield plans. In addition, each participating plan, including the Company, executes a contract with BCBSA which obligates each participating plan to underwrite FEP benefits in its service area. Premium rates are developed by BCBSA and negotiated with OPM annually. These rates determine the funds that will be available to the participating BlueCross BlueShield plans to provide insurance to Federal employees that enroll with the BlueCross BlueShield FEP. The excess of gross premiums for the life of the program over the charges for the life of the program on an accrual basis is accounted for as a rate stabilization reserve (commonly referred to as the special reserve), as required by the contract between OPM and BCBSA. Each year, OPM also allocates a portion of the premiums to a contingency reserve which may be utilized by the participating plans in the event that annual premiums paid to the insurance carrier are insufficient or the rate stabilization reserve falls below certain levels prescribed by OPM. Premiums paid to the carrier and available to each participating BlueCross BlueShield plan, including the special reserve and the contingency reserve, are held at the U.S. Treasury, including amounts unused from prior periods. Any premiums that remain in the rate stabilization reserve upon termination of the BCBSA contract after the claims run-out and reimbursement of allowable administrative expenses would be returned to OPM for the benefit of the FEHBP. The FEP contract renews automatically each year unless written notice of termination is given by either party.

In accordance with the FEP contract, premium funds that exceed daily operating needs are held on behalf of the Company in letter of credit accounts at the U.S. Treasury to provide funding for claims, administrative expenses, and other charges to the contract. The Company, along with other BlueCross BlueShield plans who participate in the FEHBP contract, has an unrestricted right to draw funds being held in the U.S. Treasury, other than those allocated to the contingency reserve, for any valid claim or expense. If the balance of the special reserve is exhausted or falls below certain prescribed levels, OPM will transfer funds from the contingency reserve to the special reserve to the extent that funds are available in the contingency reserve. Amounts incurred in excess of the total reserves held at the U.S. Treasury for the FEP would not be reimbursed to the Company. The unaudited amounts being held in the special reserve are $5,652,690, $4,542,095 and $5,752,350 as of September 30, 2015, December 31, 2014 and 2013 respectively. The unaudited amounts being held in the contingency reserve are $9,237,555, $10,632,403 and $9,270,691 as of September 30, 2015, December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

The Company has recorded its allocable share of the special reserve funds held in the U.S. Treasury as an asset, with an equivalent amount recorded as a rate stabilization reserve. These amounts are $15,429, $8,129 and $7,626 as of December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively, and are included in other current assets and other current liabilities in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets. Additionally, the Company has recorded a mandatory statutory reserve for its FEP business. These amounts are $30,024, $26,967 and $24,063 as of December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively, and are included in cash and other non-current liabilities in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets.

Concentration of Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of cash equivalents, investments and premium and other receivables. All cash equivalents and investments are managed within established guidelines, which provide us diversity among issuers. Concentrations of credit risk with respect to premium and other receivables are related to our large number of payers comprising our customer base and the federal government.

FEP represented approximately 16.0%, 16.6% and 24.2% of accounts receivable as of December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. ACA receivables represented 40.2%, 39.5% and 0% of accounts receivable as of December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. FEP and ACA receivables represented approximately 56.2%, 56.1% and 24.2% of accounts receivable for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

FEP represented approximately 13.6%, 13.1% and 14.4% of net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively. FEP and ACA revenue represented approximately 41.2%, 44.9% and 32.9% of net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization. Depreciation and amortization is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets, which are 40 to 50 years for buildings, 3 to 10 years for furniture and equipment, and 2 to 10 years for computer equipment and software. Leasehold improvements are amortized using the straight-line method over the shorter of the lease term or estimated useful life of the asset. Upon disposition or retirement, assets and related accumulated depreciation accounts are relieved and any related gain or loss is reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. Property and equipment is evaluated annually for the existence of events or changes in circumstances that indicate the asset might be impaired. Property and equipment retired from use is classified as held for sale and is carried at the lower of its depreciated cost or fair value, less estimated costs to sell. The Company ceases depreciating these assets when they are classified as held for sale.

The Company develops software for internal use. Certain costs associated with the development or purchase of internal-use software are capitalized and amortized over the estimated useful lives of the software. All other development costs are expensed as incurred.

Goodwill and Intangible Assets

Goodwill represents the excess of cost of acquisition over the fair value of net assets acquired. Intangible assets represent the values assigned to acquired subscriber relationships and provider networks. Intangible assets are recognized as assets apart from goodwill because they meet one of two criteria: the contractual-legal criterion or the separability criterion. Goodwill is evaluated for impairment on an annual basis and more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate that the asset might be impaired. The Company first assesses qualitative factors to determine whether it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying amount. If after completing this assessment, it is determined that it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying value, we then proceed to a two-step impairment testing methodology using the income approach (discounted cash flow method). In the first step of this testing methodology, we compare the carrying value of the reporting unit, including goodwill, with its fair value, as determined by its estimated discounted cash flows. If the carrying value of a reporting unit is less than its fair value, no impairment is considered to have occurred and step two of the impairment test is unnecessary. If the carrying value of a reporting unit exceeds its fair value, we then complete the second step of the impairment test to determine the amount of impairment to be recognized. In the second step, we estimate an implied fair value of the reporting unit's goodwill by deducting the fair value of all net assets of the reporting unit (including any unrecognized intangible assets, and excluding the goodwill) from its fair value as determined in the first step. Any remaining fair value after assigning fair value to the reporting unit's net assets represents the implied fair value of the goodwill. If the carrying value of a reporting unit's goodwill exceeds its implied fair value, the Company records an impairment loss equal to the difference in that period.

Intangible assets are amortized over their useful lives. Intangible assets are evaluated annually for the existence of events or changes in circumstances that indicate the asset might be impaired. The Company assesses qualitative factors to determine whether it is more likely than not that the intangible assets' fair value is less than its carrying amount. Based on the results of this assessment, the Company may conduct a quantitative impairment test if the fair value of the intangible assets was determined to be, more likely than not, less than its carrying amount. Recoverability of intangible assets is primarily determined by a comparison of the carrying amount of the assets to future net cash flows before interest expense and income taxes expected to be generated by the assets. Impairment, if any, is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the fair value of the assets.

Medical and Other Benefits Payable

The reserve for medical and other benefits payable includes management's estimate of the ultimate cost of the claims in process of settlement, claims incurred but not yet reported, and claims adjustment expenses needed to settle these claims.

The process of estimating reserves requires a high degree of judgment and a number of factors are taken into consideration. The Company actuarially estimates the liability for claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not reported based on the most current historical claims payment patterns, changes in number of members, changes in products and benefits, and estimates of health care trend changes (cost, utilization, and intensity of services). Management also estimates the amount of claims adjustment expense needed to settle claims by determining the total administrative cost incurred to process claims as a percentage of total insured claims expense and applying that percentage to total claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not yet reported.

Estimates for medical and other benefits payable are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur, and revisions are reflected in the claims and medical expense line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. Changes in medical cost trend and claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of medical and other benefits payable. These estimates may change as actuarial methods change or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based change. There have been no significant changes to the Company's actuarial methods in the last three fiscal years.

Contract Reserves

Contract reserves are established for long duration insurance products where, because of the policy's design, future benefit costs increase because of factors which the plan cannot reflect in the premiums. The liability, established when a portion of the premium collected in years prior to the valuation date is meant to help pay for claim costs arising in later years, represents the present value of future benefits paid to or on behalf of policyholders and related expense less the present value of future net premiums. Contract reserves are actuarially estimated using methods that include locked assumptions such as interest rates, claim trends, persistency, and other assumptions. The assumptions include a provision for possible unfavorable deviation. Contract reserves are established for Blue Advantage, NAIC Medicare Supplement, and individual Blue Options HSA grandfathered products.

The current portion of contract reserves relates to the estimated amount by which the Company expects claims costs to exceed premiums collected over the next twelve months.

Book Overdrafts

Under our cash management system, checks issued but not yet presented to banks frequently result in overdraft balances for accounting purposes and are classified as a current liability in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. Changes in book overdrafts from period to period are reported in the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows as a financing activity.

Bank Overdrafts

Under our cash management system, checks issued and presented to our banks can result in overdraft balances at those banks when immediate funding is not available; an extension of credit from the bank is granted. These amounts are classified as a current liability in the Consolidated Balance Sheets for each of the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014 was $0 and $44,310, respectively. Changes in bank overdrafts from period to period are reported in the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows as a financing activity.

Premium Deficiency

Premium deficiencies are recognized when it is probable that expected future claims and claims adjustment expenses will exceed existing reserves plus anticipated future premiums on existing health benefit contracts with the consideration of investment income and overhead expense allocation. For purposes of premium deficiencies, contracts are deemed to be either short or long duration and are grouped in a manner consistent with the Company's method of acquiring, servicing and measuring the profitability of such contracts. Management determined that no premium deficiency reserve was warranted as of December 31, 2015 and 2014.

Revenue Recognition and Unearned Premiums

Revenue is principally derived from health benefit premiums. Generally, membership contracts have one-year terms. Group contracts are subject to cancellation upon 30 days written notice. Premiums are generally due monthly and are recognized as revenue during the period in which the Company is obligated to provide services or benefits. Amounts that are billed and received but unearned are recorded as unearned premiums. Because employer groups generally provide changes to their eligible member population one month in arrears, each billing includes an adjustment to premiums for the prior month's changes in member status that were not reflected in the original billing. Premium refunds are shown as a reduction in premium.

Our Medicare Advantage premium revenues are subject to periodic adjustment under CMS' risk adjustment payment methodology. The CMS risk adjustment model provides higher per member payments for enrollees diagnosed with certain conditions and lower payments for enrollees who are healthier. The Company and other health care plans collect, capture, and submit available diagnosis data to CMS within prescribed deadlines. CMS uses submitted diagnosis codes, demographic information, and special statuses to determine the risk score for most Medicare Advantage beneficiaries. CMS also retroactively adjusts risk scores during the year based on additional data. The Company estimates Medicare Advantage risk adjustment revenues based upon the data submitted and expected to be submitted to CMS.

Beginning in 2014, HHS pays us a portion of the health care costs for low-income individual members for which we assume no risk in accordance with the Health Care Reform Law. We account for these subsidies as a deposit in our Consolidated Balance Sheets and as a financing activity in our Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows. We do not recognize premiums revenue or benefits expense for these subsidies. Receipt and payment activity is recorded in our Consolidated Balance Sheets in other current assets or accounts payable and accrued expenses depending on the balance at the end of the reporting period. Receipts from HHS associated with these cost sharing subsidies for which we do not assume risk were $55,286 and $54,789 higher than claims payments for the year ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

Administrative fees include revenue from those group contracts that provide for the group to be at risk for all or, in the case of stop-loss agreements, a portion of its claims experience. These self-funded groups are charged an administrative fee that is based upon the number of members in the group and the group's claims experience. In addition, administrative fees include amounts received for the administration of certain other contracts, including cost plus arrangements. Administrative fees are recognized in accordance with the terms of the Company's contractual relationship with the customer. Administrative fees are included in the administrative fees and other revenue in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. All benefit payments, except for those covered by stop-loss agreements, under these self-funded programs are excluded from the claims and medical expenses line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. Reimbursements of all medical benefit payments, except for those covered by stop-loss agreements, under these self-funded programs are also excluded from the operating revenue in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Medicare Part D Prescription Drug Program

The Company serves as a plan sponsor offering Medicare Part D prescription drug insurance coverage under a calendar year contract with CMS. Payments from CMS under this contract include amounts for premiums, risk corridor adjustments, reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies and prospective payments under the coverage gap discount program (CGDP).

The CMS contract is subject to audit and adjustments identified are recognized in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income as they are reviewed and agreed to by the Company. As of December 31, 2015, years 2006 through 2015 remain open to financial examination by CMS.

The payments received monthly from CMS and members represent amounts for providing prescription drug insurance coverage. The Company recognizes premium revenues for providing this insurance coverage ratably over the contract period. Premiums received in advance are recorded in unearned premiums. Pharmacy benefit and administrative costs under the contract are expensed as incurred. As a result of the Medicare Part D product design, the Company incurs a disproportionate amount of benefit costs in the first half of the contract year compared with the last half of the contract year.

The Company's CMS payment is subject to risk sharing through the Medicare Part D risk corridor provisions. The Company recognizes a risk sharing payable or receivable based on year-to-date activity. The risk corridor provisions compare costs targeted in the Company's annual bid to actual prescription drug costs, limited to actual costs that would have been incurred under the standard coverage as defined by CMS. Variances exceeding certain thresholds may result in CMS making additional payments to the Company or require the Company to refund to CMS a portion of what was received. The Company estimates and recognizes an adjustment to premium revenues related to these risk corridor provisions based upon pharmacy claims experience to date as if the annual contract were to terminate at the end of the reporting period. Accordingly, this estimate provides no consideration to future pharmacy claims experience.

In addition, payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursement of prescription drug costs for which the Company is not at risk and is recorded as a payable when received. Reinsurance subsidies represent reimbursements for CMS's portion of prescription drug costs which exceed the member's out-of-pocket threshold, or the catastrophic coverage benefit level. Low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursements from CMS for all or a portion of the deductible, the coinsurance and co-payment amounts from the out-of-pocket threshold for low income beneficiaries. The Company recognizes risk sharing receivable or payable based on year to date activity. Monthly prospective payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies are based on assumptions submitted with the Company's annual bid. This payable is reduced when reinsurance is utilized and subsidies are provided by the Company. This activity is accumulated and when the net balance for each contract is negative, it is recorded as a receivable. The Company does not recognize premium revenues or claims expense for these subsidies as the Company does not incur any risk with this part of the program.

A reconciliation and related settlement of the final risk sharing and low-income cost sharing and reinsurance subsidy amounts is performed following the end of the contract year. As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the net estimated risk sharing payable with CMS was $0 and $0, respectively. The net estimated subsidies receivable from CMS was $9,388 and $22,167 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. Any estimated receivables related to either the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in premiums and other receivables. Any estimated payables related to the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in accounts payable and other accrued expenses.

Accounting for Income Taxes

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the estimated future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases and tax credit carryforwards. A valuation allowance is recorded to reduce the Company's deferred tax asset to the amount the Company believes is more likely than not to be realized. This determination is based upon a number of assumptions, including: the types of deferred tax assets; the expected reversal patterns and periods of the temporary differences; taxes paid in prior periods available for carry-back claims; estimates of future taxable income; and other significant issues or developments likely to impact the realization of the benefits from the deferred tax assets. If facts are ultimately inconsistent with the Company's expectations, an adjustment to the Company's deferred tax asset may be required in the future. Any such adjustment would be charged or credited to income tax expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income in the period the determination is made.

When tax returns are filed, some positions taken will be sustained upon examination by the taxing authorities, while others are subject to uncertainty about the merits of the position taken or the amount of the position that would be ultimately sustained. The benefit of a tax position is recognized in the financial statements in the period during which, based on all available evidence, management believes it is more likely than not that the position will be sustained upon examination, including the resolution of appeals or litigation processes, if any. Tax positions taken are not offset or aggregated with other positions. Tax positions that meet the more-likely-than-not recognition threshold are measured as the largest amount of tax benefit that is more than 50% likely of being realized upon settlement with the applicable taxing authority. The portion of the benefits associated with tax positions taken that exceed the amount measured as described above is reflected as a liability for unrecognized tax benefits in the accompanying Consolidated Balance Sheets along with any associated interest and penalties that would be payable to the taxing authorities upon examination.

Interest and penalties associated with unrecognized tax benefits are charged to income tax expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Employee Benefit Programs

The funded status of the Company's defined benefit pension plans and nonpension postretirement benefit plans is recognized in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. The funded status is measured as the difference between the fair value of plan assets and the benefit obligation at December 31, the measurement date. For defined benefit pension plans, the benefit obligation is the projected benefit obligation, which represents the actuarial present value of benefits expected to be paid upon retirement based on estimated compensation levels and service. For the nonpension postretirement benefit plans, the benefit obligation is the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation, which represents the actuarial present value of postretirement benefits attributed to employee services already rendered.

The fair value of plan assets represents the current fair value of cumulative Company contributions and investment earnings on those contributions less amounts paid out. Overfunded plans, with the fair value of plan assets exceeding the benefit obligation, are aggregated and recorded as a prepaid pension asset equal to this excess. Underfunded plans, with the benefit obligation exceeding the fair value of plan assets, are aggregated and recorded as a pension, postretirement and other retirement benefits liability equal to this excess. The current portion of the pension and nonpension postretirement benefit obligations represents the actuarial present value of benefits payable in the next 12 months exceeding the fair value of plan assets, measured on a plan-by-plan basis. This obligation is recorded in accounts payable and accrued expenses in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. Net periodic pension and nonpension postretirement benefit expense (income) is recorded in operating expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Certain events, such as changes in employee base, plan amendments and changes in actuarial assumptions, result in a change in the benefit obligation which results in corresponding changes in the gains and losses or prior service costs. The result of these events is amortized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income) over the average life expectancy (average working lifetime was used until June 30, 2013) of the participants, provided such amounts exceed certain thresholds which are based upon the benefit obligation or the value of plan assets. (Gains) losses and prior service costs (credits) not recognized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income) in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income as they arise are recognized as a component of gains (losses) and prior service costs (credits) recognized in AOCI in the Consolidated Statements of Changes in Accumulated Capital. Those (gains) losses and prior service costs (credits) are subsequently amortized and recognized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income).

The measurement of benefit obligations and net periodic benefit expense (income) is based on estimates and assumptions approved by the Company's management. These valuations reflect the terms of the plans and use participant-specific information such as compensation, age and years of service, as well as certain assumptions, including estimates of discount rates, expected return on plan assets, rate of compensation increases and mortality rates.

The Company records expense for defined contribution plans for the Company's contribution when the employee renders service to the Company, essentially coinciding with the cash contributions to the plans. The expense is recorded in operating expense in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income.

Subsequent Events

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through February 24, 2016, which is the date that the financial statements were available to be issued, for recognition or disclosure in our consolidated financial statements. All of the effects of subsequent events that provide additional evidence about conditions that existed at the consolidated balance sheet date, including the estimates inherent in the process of preparing the consolidated financial statements, are recognized in the consolidated financial statements. The Company does not recognize subsequent events that provide evidence about conditions that did not exist at the balance sheet date but arose after, but before the financial statements are available to be issued. In some cases, nonrecognized subsequent events are disclosed to keep the financial statements from being misleading.

In January 2016, in transitioning its 2016 individual book of business to a new operating system, the Company experienced several issues that have caused substantial customer dissatisfaction, numerous customer complaints, and inquiries from the North Carolina Department of Insurance and North Carolina Attorney General's office.

The Company is proactively working with members, our vendors, and both of the regulatory agencies noted above, and the Company is using all available resources to address and correct all of these issues at the earliest possible date. However, it is too early to determine the total cost of remediation.

Fixed Income Securities – For both 2015 and 2014, the unrealized losses on the Company's fixed income investments were not the result of any credit related issues. In 2015, the unrealized losses on the Company's fixed income investments were mostly attributable to changes in interest rates. All of the issuers have investment grade credit ratings and therefore, the Company believes each issuer will be able to meet the contractual terms of the obligation. At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company did not have the intent to sell and it was not more likely than not that the Company would be required to sell the investments before the recovery of its amortized cost basis. The Company therefore did not consider the investments at December 31, 2015 and 2014 to be other-than-temporarily impaired.

Equity Securities – For both 2015 and 2014, the Company's investments in equity securities primarily consists of investments in mutual funds. Various investment lots were below cost at December 31, 2015 and 2014 and were primarily in broadly diversified mutual funds, including index funds, the vast majority of which had been in a loss position more than twelve months. The unrealized losses were primarily in emerging market ETF's and equity mutual funds in 2015 and in international equity mutual funds in 2014. The decline in emerging market equity mutual funds in 2015 was due primarily to concerns over growth in China and to weakness in commodity prices while international equity funds declined in 2014 due to concerns regarding the European economy, together with normal market movements. The unrealized losses in emerging market bond ETF's in 2015 were due to uncertainty concerning Fed interest rate actions and changes in commodity prices. The Company believes the declines are short term in nature and are due to the lack of clarity regarding Fed policy and commodity price changes, and not related to increased credit risk.

The Company continues to review its investment portfolios under its impairment review policy. Given the unpredictability of market conditions and the significant judgments involved, there is a continuing risk that declines in fair value may occur and other-than-temporary impairments may be recorded in future periods.

4. Goodwill and Intangible Assets

Amortized intangible assets
Subscriber relationships	$65,881	$37,616	$65,881	$35,066

Less – accumulated depreciation and amortization	(186,507)	(188,630)
	$391,676	$295,921

Depreciation and amortization expense of property and equipment, excluding amortization of intangibles for 2015, 2014 and 2013, was $28,166, $19,153, and $15,450 respectively.

Accumulated amortization for capitalized software and hardware was $137,630 and $131,020 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. Amortization expense, included in depreciation and amortization above, for capitalized software and hardware for 2015, 2014 and 2013 was $21,028, $11,776 and $8,193, respectively.

During 2013, the Company announced its intention to create a central campus and leave the Headquarters building. The Company purchased two buildings in Durham to create this central campus. During 2015, the Company sold its Headquarters property. The gain on Headquarters was $30,937 and is in the Operating Expense line of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. The original cost of the Headquarters property was $16,260 and accumulated depreciation at the date of sale was $13,788.

At December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company capitalized $54,972 and 159,644, respectively of internally developed software related to its core operating platform.

6. Medical and Other Benefits Payable

Activity in the medical and other benefits payable liability is summarized as follows:

	2015	2014
Medical and other benefits payable at beginning of year	$726,684	$469,519
Incurred related to:
Current year	6,577,493	6,453,468
Prior years	(44,640)	52,578
Total incurred	6,532,853	6,506,046
Paid related to:
Current year	5,873,703	5,735,535
Prior years	677,168	513,347
Total paid	6,550,871	6,248,882
Medical and other benefits payable at end of year	708,666	726,684
Liability for claims processing costs	17,304	17,740
Total	$725,970	$744,424

Amounts incurred related to prior years vary from previously estimated liabilities as the claims are ultimately settled. Liabilities at any year end are continually reviewed and re-estimated as information regarding actual claims payments becomes known. This information is compared to the originally established year end liability. The favorable development was the result of actual claim payment patterns and cost trends differing from those assumed at the time the liability was established for the year ended December 31, 2015. The unfavorable development for the year ended December 31, 2014 was partially the result of an increase in claims inventories during the fourth quarter of 2013 that was subsequently paid in 2014, increases related to the FEP line which are pass-through in nature, and actual claim payment patterns and cost trends.

7. Accounts Payable and Accrued Expenses

Accounts payable and accrued expenses consist of the following as of December 31:

	2015	2014
Accounts payable	$71,742	$22,210
Accrued salaries and other benefit expenses	104,921	94,847
Accrued ACA cost sharing reduction	55,286	54,789
Other accrued expenses	341,511	270,885
	573,460	442,731
Less non-current portion	37,882	39,130
Total	$535,578	$403,601

8. Lines of Credit and Long-Term Debt

BCBSNC has established two revolving lines of credit to support its daily working capital requirements providing total borrowing capacity of $200,000 at an interest rate of LIBOR plus 65 basis points for all borrowings.

In November 2013, BCBSNC entered into a revolving line of credit and amended and restated it in July 2015, to increase the borrowing capacity to $150,000, and extend the termination date until July 2017.

In September 2015, BCBSNC entered into a second $50,000 revolving line of credit terminating in September 2017.

Amounts drawn under these revolving lines of credit were $171,851 and $100,000 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

In September 2014, Corium entered into a $165,000 thirty-year, fully amortizing, 4.09% mortgage due 2044 with an unaffiliated lender using eight office buildings as collateral. The mortgage is not callable and can be prepaid at any time subject to a make whole premium due to the lender. This note is classified as long term in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets

Long-term debt	$161,405	$164,296
Less current portion of long-term debt	3,010	2,875
Long-term debt, less current portion	$158,395	$161,421

BCBSNC must maintain certain covenants including limits on indebtedness to capital, indebtedness to EBITDA, risk based capital ratio, liens, and dispositions. As of December 31, 2015 the Company was in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements. As of December 31, 2014 the Company was not in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements; however, our lenders granted us a waiver of the EBITDA calculation. As of December 31, 2013 the Company was in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements.

Future maturities of debt are as follows: 2016, $3,010; 2017, $3,136; 2018, $3,267; 2019, $3,403; 2020, $3,544 and thereafter $145,045.

9. Fair Value Measurements

The carrying amounts reported in the Consolidated Balance Sheets for cash, cash equivalents, premiums and other receivables, Affordable Care Act receivables, income tax receivable, unearned premiums, medical and other benefits payable, accounts payable, other assets and accrued expenses, book overdrafts and payables for securities approximate fair value because of the short term nature of these items.

Certain assets and liabilities recorded at estimated fair value in the Consolidated Balance Sheets are categorized based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure their fair value. Level inputs are defined as follows:

Level Input:	Input Definition:
Level I	Inputs are unadjusted, quoted prices for identical assets or liabilities in active markets at the measurement date.
Level II	Inputs other than quoted prices included in Level I that are observable for the asset or liability through corroboration with market data at the measurement date.
Level III	Unobservable inputs that reflect management's best estimate of what market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date.

Transfers between Levels, if any, are recorded as if they had occurred at the beginning of the reporting period during which the change in method for valuing the underlying assets occurred.

Fair values of fixed income and equity securities are based on quoted market prices, where available. The Company obtains one price for each security primarily from a third-party pricing service (pricing service), which generally uses quoted or other observable inputs for the determination of fair value. The pricing service normally derives the security prices through recently reported trades for identical or similar securities, making adjustments through the reporting date based upon available observable market information. For securities not actively traded, the pricing service may use quoted market prices of comparable instruments or, incorporating inputs that are currently observable in the markets for similar securities. Inputs that are often used in the valuation methodologies include, but are not limited to, benchmark curves, benchmarking of like securities, sector groupings, and matrix pricing. In addition, the pricing service uses model processes such as the Option Adjusted Spread model to assess interest rate impact and develop prepayment scenarios.

We perform monthly analysis on the prices received from third parties for our internally managed portfolios to determine whether the prices are reasonable estimates of fair value. Our analysis includes a comparison of prices received from third parties to prices obtained from other sources.

In instances in which the inputs used to measure fair value fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy, the fair value measurement has been determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value.

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies used by the Company to value assets, including the pension and postretirement assets, measured at fair value:

Major Category	Valued at
Mutual funds	Net asset value (NAV) of shares which are provided by the administrator of the fund.
State and/or U.S. government obligations and common and/or preferred stock.....	Closing price reported in the active market in which the individual security is traded. If in an inactive market, based on quoted market prices, broker or dealer quotations, or alternative pricing sources with reasonable levels of price

	transparency. Securities that trade infrequently and therefore have little or no price transparency are valued using the investment manager's best estimates.
Interest in collective trust funds	NAV of shares which are provided by the administrator of the fund.
Pooled separate accounts	Based on underlying value provided by the fund manager
Partnership and real estate funds	Based on underlying value provided by the fund manager
Private equity funds	Based on underlying value provided by the fund manager
Other investments	Dealer quotes, trade data, two-sided markets institutional bids, comparable trades and/or other news media
Privately held fixed income and equity securities, including venture capital investments	Reviewing the value ascribed to the most recent financing, comparing the security with securities of publicly traded companies in a similar line of business, and/or reviewing the underlying financial performance including estimating discounted cash flows
Fixed income securities including corporate, commercial and residential mortgage backed securities	Closing price reported in the active market in which the bond is traded or based on yields currently available on comparable securities of issuers with similar credit ratings or discounted cash flows approach that maximized observable inputs, such as current yields of similar instruments, but includes adjustments for certain risks that may not be observable, such as credit and liquidity risks

The carrying value of corporate-owned life insurance policies is the cash surrender value as reported by the respective insurer.

The fair value of our long-term debt, included in liabilities on the Consolidated Balance Sheets, is based on current market observable rates estimated to be available to us for debt of similar terms and remaining maturities.

Non-financial assets and liabilities including long-lived assets, goodwill, asset retirement obligations, and certain investments are recognized at fair value when they are considered to be other-than-temporarily impaired. There was no required fair value measurement for assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis.

Non-financial instruments such as property and equipment, other current assets, deferred income taxes and certain financial instruments such as policy liabilities are excluded from the fair value disclosures. Therefore, the fair value amounts cannot be aggregated to determine our underlying economic value.

10. Employee Benefit Programs

BCBSNC has a non-contributory qualified defined benefit retirement plan covering a significant number of employees (excluding employees of ACS). The benefits are based on years of service and the employee's highest sixty consecutive months of earnings in the last one hundred and twenty months of employment.

BCBSNC also provides non-contributory, non-qualified defined benefit supplemental executive retirement plans (SERP) for certain executives. Two of the SERPs have benefits based on years of service, retirement age and certain final average pay calculations. Benefits are offset by benefits payable from other defined benefit retirement plans. An additional SERP has benefits based on years of service and individual agreements that generally require payment of a fixed monthly dollar amount for 15 years upon retirement.

BCBSNC provides certain health care and life insurance benefits for retired employees. Substantially all of BCBSNC's employees who reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 5 years of service may become eligible for health care insurance benefits. In addition, substantially all of those BCBSNC employees hired prior to January 1, 2006, who will reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 15 years of service may become eligible for both a Company subsidy of health care insurance costs and life insurance benefits. BCBSNC funds retiree health care benefits by making contributions to the Voluntary Employees Beneficiary Association (VEBA) administered by the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (Association). The Company did not make a contribution during the years 2012 to 2015 to fund the liability for eligible retired employees.

Effective December 31, 2013, the Company elected to freeze the non-contributory qualified defined benefit plan and two associated non-qualified defined benefit SERPs which ceased all benefit accruals under the Plans as of this date. The Company also elected to add an unlimited lump sum distribution option at termination of employment to the qualified defined benefit plan for any participants who were active as of January 1, 2014. As a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit plan, a curtailment was triggered and a remeasurement of the qualified pension obligations and plan assets occurred as of June 30, 2013. As of the remeasurement, the plan assets had increased in value from the prior measurement date and the liabilities had decreased as a result of the change in discount rate resulting in an increase in the funded status of the plan of $58.6 million. Additionally, the curtailment impact reduced the projected benefit obligation by $86.8 million. Also as a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit pension plan, the amortization period for actuarial gains and losses was changed from the average working life to the average remaining life expectancy of all participants.

In June 2013, the Company offered an Early Retirement Window (ERW) to eligible employees who, as of December 31, 2013 were age 52 or older with a minimum of ten years of service, and with an age plus years of service of at least 75 years. If eligible participants elect to retire at predefined dates in 2014, the ERW provides additional years of service toward eligibility for Company subsidized insurance benefits, additional years of service for pension benefit calculation purposes, and enhanced early retirement factors which, depending on the participant's age, provides a benefit that is unreduced or subject to smaller reductions. The same benefits were provided to eligible participants who retired or notified the Company that they intended to retire in 2013 prior to the window announcement. The ERW enhancements were considered special termination benefits and increased the actuarially determined benefit obligation for the qualified retirement benefit plan and the postretirement benefit plan by approximately $25.0 million and $3.2 million, respectively.

In October 2014, the Company offered a Cash Out Window (COW) to terminated vested participants in the qualified defined benefit plan and, in certain limited situations, the SERP. The COW allowed the participants to elect an immediate lump sum distribution of their benefit in the plan(s). Lump sum payments of $100.2 million were paid from the qualified retirement plan in 2014, with $35.6 million of those lump sum payments attributable to the COW. Because these qualified plan payments exceeded the sum of estimated 2014 service and interest costs, settlement accounting was triggered. As a result, $17.6 million of unrecognized actuarial loss associated with the payments was relieved from AOCI and recognized in income.

	Retirement Benefits

In 2015, 2014 and 2013, the Company recognized the amortization of the cumulative net loss from past experience as measured by comparing the expected position of the plan at year-end (based on the beginning of the year actuarial assumptions and prior year census data) with the actual position of the plan at year-end (based on the end of year actuarial assumptions and current year census data) prior to recognizing any plan provision changes. Effective June 30, 2013, the loss is amortized over the average life expectancy.

The estimated prior service credit and net actuarial loss that will be amortized from AOCI into net periodic benefit expense in 2016 are $(235) and $3,483, respectively.

The accumulated benefit obligation was $498,717 and $517,327 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, for the qualified retirement plan and $56,497 and $62,349 for the non-qualified retirement plans, respectively.

Due to the freeze, there will not be a difference in the accumulated benefit obligation and the projected benefit obligation prospectively.

The following tables present assumptions used in determining the actuarial present value of the benefit obligation and the subsequent year's net periodic benefit cost for the qualified and non-qualified retirement plans as of a measurement date:

As a result of the change in Actuarial Consultants, the Company elected in 2013 to move to the Mercer Yield Curve in place of the Aon Hewitt AA Only Universe Yield Curve. The Company uses separate discount rates for the different benefit plans as well as no rounding of discount rates, for consistency with industry trends. The expected future cash flows underlying the benefit obligations are discounted by the rate on the yield curve corresponding to the cash flow duration. The single discount rate that would yield the same present value as the sum of the discounted cash flows is determined. As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the combined duration of all plans was 13 years and 14 years, respectively. The nonqualified pension plans have shorter durations than the qualified pension plan and the other postretirement benefit plans.

On December 31, 2015 we changed the method we use to estimate the service and interest components of net periodic benefit cost for defined benefit pensions and other postretirement benefits. This new estimation approach discounts the individual expected cash flows underlying the service cost and interest cost using the applicable spot rates derived from the yield curve used to discount the cash flows used to measure the benefit obligation. Historically, we estimated these service and interest cost components utilizing a single weighted-average discount rate derived from the yield curve used to measure the benefit obligation at the beginning of the period.

We have made this change to provide a more precise measurement of service and interest costs by improving the correlation between projected benefit cash flows to the corresponding spot yield curve rates. We have accounted for this change as a change in accounting estimate that is inseparable from a change in accounting principle and accordingly have accounted for it prospectively. The benefit obligation measured under this approach is unchanged as of December 31, 2015. The new approach will be used to measure the service and interest cost for the pension benefits, other postretirement benefits and other postemployment benefits in 2016. Based on current economic conditions, we estimate the service cost and interest cost for those plans will be reduced by approximately $6.4 million in 2016 as a result of the change.

Starting with the 2016 net periodic benefit cost, the Company elected to use a spot discount rate approach to determine the interest cost component of expense and interest on the service cost component. Instead of using a single fixed discount rate, each year's cash flow is discounted at, and then credited with, interest based on the spot rate for that duration. The effective rate for interest on the benefit obligation is the single equivalent rate such that interest on the plan's PBO using the single rate equals the sum of the interest on each year's discounted cash flows determined using the corresponding spot rate along the Mercer Yield Curve. Interest on benefit obligations for purposes of determining the interest cost component of expense is calculated by applying interest to the present value of the payment expected at each payment date. For this purpose, interest is determined using the same spot rate used to determine the present value of the associated payment. In addition to the spot discount rate approach described above, the Company also elected to use split discount rates for the calculation of the PBO and service cost component of expense. The service cost calculation uses the same method as the calculation of the PBO, but is based on expected service cost cash flows only (e.g. expected retiree cash flows are not included).

In 2014, the Society of Actuaries completed a mortality study and issued a new base mortality table (RP-2014) and new mortality improvement scale (MP-2014). The Company has decided to move to the Mercer modified MRP-2007 base mortality table and the Mercer modified MMP-2007 generational projection scale on December 31, 2014. In previous years, the Company used the RP-2000 base mortality table and the Scale AA generational projection scale. This change resulted in an increase of this benefit obligation in 2014.

To set the expected return on plan assets for the qualified pension plan, the Company projects returns on each asset class using historical return relationships and making adjustments as necessary, given current market and economic conditions. The projected returns are then applied to the portfolio target asset allocation weightings and result in a projected long-term portfolio rate of return.

The following table presents assumptions used in determining the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation and the subsequent year's net periodic benefit cost for the other postretirement benefit plans:

To set the expected return on plan assets for the other postretirement benefit plans, historical markets are studied and long-term relationships between equities and fixed income securities indicate that assets with higher volatility generate a greater return over the long run. Current market factors such as inflation and interest rates are evaluated before long-term capital market assumptions are determined. The long-term portfolio return is established with proper consideration of diversification and rebalancing. Peer data and historical returns are reviewed to check for reasonability and appropriateness.

The following table presents the medical trend rate used in determining the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation at December 31 for the other postretirement benefit plans:

Health care cost trend rate assumed for next year:
Under age 65	7.1%	7.9%
Age 65 and older	7.1%	7.9%
Rate to which the cost trend rate is assumed to decline	4.5%	4.5%

	2015	2014
(the ultimate trend rate)
Year that the rate reaches the ultimate trend rate:
Under age 65	2037	2027
Age 65 and older	2037	2027

The above trend rates were used for the PPO plan options. Different rates were used for some post-65 plan options to better model gross costs and expected government subsidies. The health care cost trend rate assumption can have a significant effect on the amounts reported. A one-percentage point change in assumed health care cost trend rates would have the following effects:

	1-Percentage Point Increase	1-Percentage Point Decrease
Effect on total of fiscal 2015 service and interest cost components	$505	$(384)
Effect on the December 31, 2015 postretirement benefit obligation	$6,168	$(4,927)

Future expected benefit payments and 2016 contributions are as follows:

	Retirement Benefits		Other Postretirement Benefits
	Qualified	Non-Qualified
2016	$28,229	$1,851	$3,372
2017	$27,892	$1,877	$3,460

In conjunction with the December 31, 2013 effective dated freeze on the BCBSNC Retirement Plan (Plan) the Company's investment strategy has switched from total return to partial liability matching. The Plan's funding ratio exceeded 100% at year end and approximately 50% of the portfolio was transitioned to a liability driven investment strategy (LDI) in 2014. As the Plan's funding ratio grows more investments will be allocated to the LDI strategy.

The Plan's investments remain diversified and of high quality. At year end the Plan had investments in funds invested in fixed income, domestic & international equities, real estate, commodities and timber.

The investment fiduciary for the VEBA employs a total return investment approach whereby a mix of equities, fixed income and other investments is used to maximize the long-term return of plan assets for a prudent level of risk. The investment portfolio contains a diversified blend of equity, fixed income and other investments. Investment risk is measured and monitored on an ongoing basis through investment portfolio reviews, annual liability measurements, and periodic asset/liability studies.

The mutual fund investment strategy for the VEBA is market sensitive while remaining consistent with the risk tolerance, tax status, and cash flow requirements. Fund strategies include pursuing and capitalizing on market inefficiencies using duration, yield curve, security selection, geographic concentration, sector and state allocation. Security selection, geographic concentration and sector decisions are based on relative attractiveness, using inputs such as historical spread relationships, the value of state tax exemptions, state/regional economic outlooks, credit outlooks selection, geographic concentration, sector and state allocation. Security selection, geographic concentration and sector decisions are based on relative attractiveness, using inputs such as historical spread relationships, the value of state tax exemptions, state/regional economic outlooks, credit outlooks and supply and demand.

Other Employee Benefits

Effective January 1, 2014, BCBSNC sponsors a defined contribution retirement plan qualified under Section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code, the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan (401(k) Plan). Eligible employees may contribute pretax and Roth contributions that are matched at the rate of 100% of the first 4% and 50% of the next 2% of compensation contributed. Additional Company contributions include profit sharing contributions that range from 2% to 5% of eligible compensation, based on the employee's years of service with the Company, and transition contributions that range from 1% to 8% of eligible compensation for eligible employees who were participants in the defined benefit pension plan on December 31, 2013. Employee and Company contributions are subject to certain regulatory limits and service conditions.

Prior to January, 2014, BCBSNC sponsored two defined contribution retirement plans qualified under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code, the BCBSNC Retirement Savings Plan and the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan (401(k) Plan). Eligible employees were permitted to contribute pretax and Roth contributions that were matched at the rate of 50% of the first 6% of compensation contributed or 100% of the first 6% of compensation contributed, depending on the plan. Additional Company contributions to the 401(k) Plan included a profit sharing contribution in an amount equal to 3% of eligible compensation. Employee and Company contributions are subject to certain regulatory limits and service conditions.

The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $31,021, $31,249 and $19,199, for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014, and 2013, respectively.

The Company also maintains the Restoration Plan, a non-qualified defined contribution plan, to ensure that designated participants receive the full amount of benefits to which they would have been entitled under the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan except for limits on compensation imposed by the Internal Revenue Service. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $1,975, $1,427 and $560, for the years ended December 31, 2015, 2014, and 2013, respectively.

11. Income Taxes

BCBSNC files a consolidated federal income tax return with its subsidiaries. Current taxes are allocated among all affiliated companies based on a written tax sharing agreement, primarily on a separate company return basis using a wait-and-see method. These agreements have the effect of crediting each separate company within the consolidated group for the use of its net operating or other losses in the year in which the separate company could utilize the losses on a separate company return basis while charging those companies that previously benefited from use of the losses.

The significant components of income tax expense (benefit) in the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income for the years ended December 31 are as follows:

A valuation allowance is required against deferred tax assets if, based on the weight of available evidence, it is more likely than not that some or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. Based upon all the available evidence, management recorded a valuation allowance of $7,624 and 1,790 as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. The change during the year in the total valuation allowance was an increase of $5,834. Management believes it is more likely than not that the Company will realize its remaining net deferred tax assets as of the respective balance sheet dates.

As of December 31, 2015, we have a federal income tax net operating loss (NOL) carryforward of $152,664 which expires on December 31, 2034 and federal credit carryforwards in the amount of $79,855 which will begin to expire on December 31, 2034. We have $90,374 in state net operating loss carryforwards which will begin to expire in 2017. We have provided a valuation allowance of $5,834 for deferred tax assets related to state net operating loss carryforwards that we do not expect to realize. In addition, we have an AMT credit carryforward in the amount of $1,576 which can be used to offset regular tax in future years without expiration.

As of December 31, 2015, as further described below, certain tax years remain open to examination by the IRS and various state authorities. We have not recorded amounts for uncertain tax positions. The amount of unrecognized tax benefits did not materially change in 2015 and it is not anticipated to change in the next twelve months. However, the ultimate resolution of such items is dependent on a number of factors.

The Company's tax years 2011 through 2014 remain open to examination by the IRS. ACS and NobleHealth tax years 2011 to 2014 remain open to examination by various state Departments of Revenue.

12. Related Party Transactions

In December 2011, BCBSNC established Topaz as a partnership. Its purpose was to develop a technology-enabled and market-competitive business solution to address the individual and small group health insurance markets. The initial focus of Topaz was to deliver a shared technology solution based on The TriZetto Group's software for administering business in the retail marketplace, including individual (less than 65 years old) and small group (defined as up to 100 lives) health insurance products. This solution is anticipated to be expanded to serve all lines of business in the future. Additionally, Topaz may expand the scope of its service offering to include certain health plan operations, such as enrollment, billing, claims administration and other business process services.

Topaz was owned by MHSI and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas City ("BCBSKC"). The initial capital contribution of MHSI was $5,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The initial capital contribution of BCBSKC's subsidiary was $5,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The Company and BCBSKC were funding Topaz and its development of a software infrastructure. The Company and BCBSKC planned to become customers of Topaz as software was placed in service. Topaz was a variable interest entity because its capital contributions were not sufficient to fund the development of its software infrastructure. Funding sources other than capital contributions were required to accomplish this endeavor. Additional funding was in the form of investments in research and development. The Company anticipates it will recover these additional investments through reduced billings from Topaz when it becomes operational. Through January 23, 2014, the Company has concluded that it was not the primary beneficiary of Topaz, because it did not hold the power to direct the activities that most significantly impact Topaz, since it shared a voting interest on a 50% - 50% basis with BCBSKC. Accordingly, the investment in Topaz was accounted for as an equity method investment for the years ended December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2012.

During 2013 the Company and BCBSKC entered into discussions regarding the withdrawal of BCBSKC from Topaz as an owner and customer. These discussions culminated in a Settlement Letter Agreement and Release that became effective January 23, 2014. As a result of this transaction, MHSI acquired the 50% voting interest from BCBSKC and prospectively, the Company consolidated the operations of Topaz based on its 100% ownership. The Company intends to continue funding the development of Topaz.

Effective January 23, 2014, The Company acquired the BCBSKC investment interest by assuming certain liabilities valued at approximately $11.5 million. As a result, the Company recognized the following assets acquired and liabilities assumed related to Topaz: cash $4.3 million, accounts receivable $31.8 million, prepaid expenses $0.2 million, internally developed software $52.9 million, prepaid software licenses $15.2 million, accounts payable $15.2 million, and research and development liability $66.1 million. Additionally, the Company's existing investment in Topaz was revalued to fair value at the date of acquisition. This resulted in the recognition of a $20.1 million gain recorded in Other income of the Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income. Had Topaz been consolidated with the Company for the years ended December 31, 2013 and 2012, the Topaz revenues included would have totaled $0.1 million and $0.0 million, respectively, and the net loss included would have totaled $10.9 million and $29.4 million, respectively.

13. Commitments and Contingencies

Leases

The Company leases office space and certain computer equipment under non-cancelable operating leases. Related lease expense for 2015, 2014 and 2013 was $4,161, $2,591 and $2,567, respectively.

At December 31, 2015, future lease payments for operating leases with initial or remaining non-cancelable terms of one year or more consisted of the following: 2016, $3,980; 2017, $4,000; 2018, $3,595; 2019, $1,645; and 2020, $1,447 and thereafter $286.

Commitments

The Company has a long-term debt obligation due September 2044, future interest payments on this debt obligation are as follows: 2016, $6,545; 2017, $6,420; 2018, $6,289; 2019, $6,153; 2020, $6,001 and thereafter $81,905.

The Company has a commitment to Trizetto to develop a claims processing system. Related funding for 2015, 2014 and 2013 were $32,578, $24,673 and $23,521 respectively.

At December 31, 2015, expected future costs to BCBSNC related to a purchase obligation for stated service fees with non-cancelable terms with Fujitsu for outsourced IT infrastructure are estimated as follows: 2016, $112,388; 2017, $28,097; 2018, $0; 2019, $0; and 2020, $0.

Litigation against the Company

We are regularly involved in litigation, both as a defendant and as a plaintiff, but primarily as a defendant. Litigation naming us as a defendant ordinarily arises out of our business operations as a health services organization and our investment activities. Some of the lawsuits may be class actions, or purport to be, and some may include claims for unspecified or substantial punitive and treble damages.

We may discuss such litigation in one of three ways. We accrue a charge to income and disclose legal matters for which the chance of loss is probable and for which the amount of loss can be reasonably estimated. We may disclose contingencies for which the chance of loss is reasonably possible and provide an estimate of the possible loss or range of loss or a statement that such an estimate cannot be made. Finally, we may voluntarily disclose loss contingencies for which the chance of loss is remote in order to provide information concerning matters that potentially expose us to possible losses.

The Company is involved in litigation (In Re: Blue Cross Blue Shield Antitrust Litigation (United States District Court, Northern District of Alabama) which is a multi-district case that consolidates multiple state and national class actions against various of the Company, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association and multiple other Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. The Company is a named defendant in fifteen of the consolidated cases. The cases all allege an ongoing conspiracy in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act among the Blues and BCBSA and seek (1) a permanent injunction prohibiting enforcement of any agreements which restrict BCBSA member operating territories; (2) treble damages for (a) alleged artificially inflated premiums in the case of subscribers and (b) alleged suppressed provider compensation in the case of providers and (3) attorneys' fees and costs. Additionally, one of the consolidated cases against the Company makes antitrust allegations based on most favored nations ("MFN") clauses in the Company's provider contracts and seeks reformation of the Company's provider contracts to strike MFN clauses and monetary damages. The case is now in the discovery stage. The Company intends to vigorously defend this litigation.

The Company is also involved in litigation (In re: Anthem Data Breach Litigation) pending in United States District Court for the Northern District of California. The case is a Federal, multi-district case that consolidates multiple state and national class actions against various of the Company, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association and multiple other Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans, arising out of a cyber attack perpetrated against Anthem, Inc. in December, 2014 and January, 2015. The case seeks certification of a class of all Blue plan insured members and alleges various negligence and breach of contract claims and violations of consumer protection laws and seeks injunctive relief and compensatory and punitive damages. The Company is vigorously defending the case.

The Company is also a defendant in litigation (Susan Sykes d/b/a Advanced Chiropractic, et al. v. BCBSNC, et al). This class action was filed May 22, 2015 against BCBSNC and other carriers, CIGNA, Medcost and Healthgram who use Health Network Solutions, Inc. ("HNS") to provide their chiropractic network. The complaint alleges a purported plaintiff class of all chiropractors who practiced in North Carolina from 2005 to the present and asserts claims for (1) declaratory judgment invalidating the agreements between HNS and the individual carriers; (2) price fixing, monopsony and monopoly; (3) unfair and deceptive trade practices; (4) illegal conspiracy in restraint of trade; (5) breach of fiduciary duty; and (6) punitive damages. Generally, the plaintiffs contend that the carriers' agreements with HNS result in underpayment to chiropractors and/or illegal exclusion of chiropractors from the carriers' provider networks. The case was originally filed in North Carolina state court, but has been transferred to the North Carolina Business Court to be consolidated with a prior pending action by the same plaintiffs against HNS. All defendants filed Motions to Dismiss on September 25, 2015 which are currently pending. The Company is vigorously defending the case.

Additionally, BCBSNC is also involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. However, management believes that proceedings arising in the ordinary course of business and those referenced above will not have a material adverse impact on the financial position of the Company.

Other Contingencies

The National Organization of Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Associations (NOLHGA) is a voluntary organization consisting of the state life and health insurance guaranty associations located throughout the U.S. State life and health insurance guaranty associations, working together with NOLHGA, provide a safety net for their state's policyholders, ensuring that they continue to receive coverage even if their insurer is declared insolvent. The Company is aware that the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner (Insurance Commissioner) has placed Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company and its subsidiary American Network Insurance Company, or collectively Penn Treaty, in rehabilitation, an intermediate action before insolvency. The state court denied the Insurance Commissioner's petition for the liquidation of Penn Treaty and ordered the Insurance Commissioner to file an updated plan of rehabilitation. The Insurance Commissioner has filed a Notice of Appeal asking the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to reverse the order denying the liquidation petition. In the event rehabilitation of Penn Treaty is unsuccessful and Penn Treaty is declared insolvent and placed in liquidation, the Company and other insurers may be required to pay a portion of their policyholder claims through state guaranty association assessments in future periods. Given the uncertainty around whether Penn Treaty will ultimately be declared insolvent and, if so, the amount of the insolvency, the amount and timing of any associated future guaranty fund assessments and the availability and amount of any potential premium tax and other offsets, the Company currently cannot estimate its net exposure, if any, to this potential insolvency. The Company will continue to monitor the situation and may record a liability and expense in future reporting periods, which could be material to its cash flows and results of operations.

16. Supplemental Statutory Financial Information

The Company is required to file unconsolidated financial statements with, and is subject to exam by, the North Carolina Department of Insurance (NCDOI). These financial statements are presented on the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the NCDOI.

The NCDOI recognizes only Statutory Accounting Practices prescribed or permitted by the state of North Carolina for determining and reporting the financial condition and results of operations of an insurance company, for determining its solvency under the North Carolina Insurance Law. The NAIC's Accounting

Practices and Procedures manual has been adopted as a component of prescribed or permitted practices by the state of North Carolina.

The NAIC adopted the RBC for Health Organizations Model Act in 1998. The NCDOI subsequently adopted this act in 2001. Under this act, a company's risk-based capital (RBC) is calculated by applying certain factors to various asset, premium and reserve items. If a company's calculated RBC falls below certain thresholds, regulatory intervention or oversight is required. BCBSNC's RBC level, calculated in accordance with the NAIC's RBC instructions, exceeded all RBC thresholds as of December 31, 2015 and 2014. The Company is also subject to insurance laws and regulations of the State of North Carolina that include but are not limited to restrictions on dividends, types of investments that insurers are allowed to invest in, and the amount of capital and surplus.

☐ The Actuarial Memorandum includes "Deviation from Standard" wording regarding conformity with an Actuarial Standard of Practice

I, Patrick Getzen, Vice-President & Chief Actuary, am an employee of Blue Cross Blue Shield of North Carolina and a member of the American Academy of Actuaries. I was appointed on December 1, 2009 in accordance with the requirements of the annual statement instructions. I meet the Academy qualification standards for rendering the opinion.

I have examined the assumptions and methods used in determining loss reserves, actuarial liabilities and related items listed below, as shown in the annual statement of the organization as prepared for filing with state regulatory officials, as of December 31, 2015.

A.	Claims unpaid (Page 3, Line 1);	$684,240,465
B.	Accrued medical incentive pool and bonus payments (Page 3, Line 2);	$0
C.	Unpaid claims adjustment expenses (Page 3, Line 3);	$17,303,350
D.	Aggregate health policy reserves (Page 3, Line 4) including unearned premium deficiency reserves, and additional policy reserves from the Underwriting and Investment Exhibit – Part 2D;	$273,058,231
E.	Aggregate life policy reserves (Page 3, Line 5);	$0
F.	Property/casualty unearned premium reserves (Page 3, Line 6);	$0
G.	Aggregate health claim reserves (Page 3, Line 7);	$0
H.	Any other loss reserves, actuarial liabilities, or related items presented as liabilities in the annual statement; and
	1) ACA – Cost Sharing Reduction (CSR) Payable (Page 3, Line 9)	$55,286,162
	2) Risk Adjustment Payable (Large Group) (Page 3, Line 23)	$3,232,634
	3) Part D Risk Corridor	$6,007,756
	4) ACA- Risk Corridor Receivable Allowance (Net Page 2, Line 15.3)	$301,910,938
I:	Specified actuarial items presented as assets in the annual statement:
	1) ACA - Risk Corridor Receivable (U65) (Net Page 2, Line 15.3)	$304,539,266
	2) ACA - Risk Adjustment Receivable (U65 and Small Group) (Page 2, line 25)	$98,979,644
	3) ACA - Reinsurance Receivable (U65) (Page 2, Line 16.1)	$211,062,490
	4) MA Risk Adjustment (Page 2, Line 15.1)	$33,010,339

My examination included such review of the actuarial assumptions and actuarial methods and of the underlying basic liability records and such tests of the actuarial calculations as I considered necessary. I also reconciled the underlying basic liability records to the Underwriting and Investment Exhibit Part - 2B of the company's current annual statement.

In my opinion, the amounts carried in the balance sheet on account of the items identified above:

A. Are in accordance with accepted actuarial standards consistently applied and are fairly stated in accordance with sound actuarial principles,

B. Are based on actuarial assumptions relevant to contract provisions and appropriate to the purpose for which the statement was prepared,

C. Meet the requirements of the Insurance Laws and regulations of the state of North Carolina,

D. Make good and sufficient provision for all unpaid claims and other actuarial liabilities of the organization under the terms of its contracts and agreements,

E. Are computed on the basis of assumptions and methods consistent with those used in computing the corresponding items in the annual statement of the preceding year-end,

F. Include appropriate provision for all actuarial items that ought to be established.

The Underwriting and Investment Exhibit – Part 2B was reviewed for reasonableness and consistency with the applicable Actuarial Standards of Practice.

Actuarial methods, considerations, and analyses used in forming my opinion conform to the relevant Standards of Practice as promulgated from time to time by the Actuarial Standards Board, which standards form the basis of this statement of opinion.

A material change in assumptions and methods were made during the past year, but such change accords with accepted actuarial standards. These changes relate to Affordable Care Act (ACA) listed in H and I above. These were new programs last year and guidance has evolved throughout the year and continues into 2016, including the NAIC non-admittance of a portion of the Risk Corridor receivable worth $ 56,135,782.

1. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A. Accounting Practices

The financial statements of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina (BCBSNC or the Company) have been prepared in conformity with accounting practices and procedures prescribed by the North Carolina Department of Insurance (NCDOI).

The NCDOI recognizes only Statutory Accounting Practices (SAP) prescribed or permitted by the State of North Carolina for determining and reporting the financial condition and results of operations of an insurance company, and for determining its solvency under the North Carolina Insurance laws, regulations and general administrative rules. The NCDOI has adopted the National Association of Insurance Commissioners' (NAIC) Accounting Practices and Procedures manual (NAIC SAP) as a component of prescribed or permitted practices by the State of North Carolina (NC SAP). There is no deviation from the NAIC SAP. There were no differences between the statutory practices prescribed or permitted by the State of North Carolina and those prescribed or permitted by NAIC SAP which would materially affect the statutory basis net income or surplus.

A reconciliation of the Company's net income and capital and surplus between NAIC SAP and practices prescribed and permitted by the State of North Carolina is show below:

B. Use of Estimates in the Preparation of the Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with SAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. The Company uses estimates and assumptions based on analytical and/or actuarially accepted quantitative methods in determining contract reserves and claims incurred but not yet reported, valuation of pension and other benefit plans, deferred income taxes, fair value of investments, other-than-temporary investments, and other valuation accruals. Actual results could differ materially from those estimates.

C. Accounting Policies

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments purchased with an original maturity of three months or less and not restricted to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates fair value due to the short maturity of these assets.

BCBSNC maintains a general depository account into which certain subsidiaries and BCBSNC receipts are deposited and upon which disbursements are drawn. The net activity is netted with amounts receivable from subsidiaries in the Statements of Assets, Liabilities, Capital and Surplus.

Short-Term Investments

Short-term investments consist of readily marketable securities with maturities greater than three months but less than one year at the time of purchase. These investments are recorded at amortized cost.

Investments

Bonds rated 1 and 2 by the NAIC are stated at cost adjusted for amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts using the scientific amortization method. Bonds rated 3 through 6 are carried at the lower of amortized cost or fair value with the change recorded in capital and surplus, net of applicable taxes. Common and Preferred stocks, excluding common stock of subsidiaries, are stated at the estimated market value provided by the Securities Valuation Office (SVO) of the NAIC or are based on quoted market prices. Estimated SVO market values are based on published quotations of the SVO. However, for certain investments for which the SVO does not provide a value, BCBSNC uses the amortized cost amount as its estimate of market value in accordance with prescribed guidance. Mortgage-backed and other asset-backed securities rated 1 and 2 by the NAIC are adjusted for unamortized premiums and discounts, which are amortized using the scientific method over the estimated remaining term of the securities, adjusted retrospectively for changes in anticipated prepayments. Prepayment assumptions are determined by using broker data. Common stocks of subsidiaries are stated in accordance with SSAP 97. The Company has no derivative instruments. The Company does not have any mortgage loans.

Realized gains and losses are included in income, net of tax and net unrealized gains and losses on securities are reflected in capital and surplus, net of tax. Realized gains and losses on investments sold are determined on the specific identification basis. Interest and dividend income is recorded on the accrual basis.

Declines in the fair value of invested assets below cost are compiled on a monthly basis and reviewed quarterly to assess whether any other-than-temporary impairment loss should be recorded. Various thresholds are used to identify those securities which are at the greatest risk of an other than temporary impairment. Impairment losses for declines in value of fixed income investments and equity securities below cost attributable to issuer-specific events are based upon all relevant facts and circumstances for each investment and are recognized when appropriate. Some, but not all, of the factors considered in evaluating financial condition are earnings trends, industry outlook, negative cash flows, profitability, capital, the length of time below book value, downgrade of debt ratings and asset quality which could lead to an other-than-temporary impairment of any security. U.S. Treasury securities with unrealized losses are deemed to be temporarily impaired, with unrealized losses due to interest rate changes and not due to credit related factors. For fixed income investments with unrealized losses due to market conditions or industry-related events and where no specific evidence of deterioration of the issuers' credit exists, if the Company does not intend to sell the fixed income security and management does not consider it to be more likely than not the Company will be required to sell the security before a market recovery or maturity, declines in value below amortized cost are not assumed to be other-than-temporary.

If any investment security experiences an other-than-temporary decline in fair value, a realized loss is recorded in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses. Fair value is determined by quoted market prices where available. For securities not actively traded, fair values are estimated using values obtained from independent pricing services or quoted market prices of comparable instruments. Management judgment is involved in evaluating whether a decline in an investment's fair value is other-than-temporary. The discovery of new information and the passage of time can change these judgments. Impairment judgments are revised when new information becomes known and any resulting impairment adjustments are made at that time.

For loan-backed or structured securities, factors considered by management in determining whether an other-than-temporary impairment exists include the Company's stated intent to not sell, the Company's ability to hold such investments until the fair value recovers, and the discounted cash flows of the security based on the yield at the date of acquisition. If the Company intends to sell or if the Company does not have the ability and intent to hold the security for a period of time sufficient to recover its amortized cost basis, an other-than-temporary impairment exists, and the security is written down to fair value with the amount of the write-down recorded as a realized loss. If the Company does not intend to sell the security and has the ability and intent to hold the security for a period of time sufficient to recover the amortized cost basis, the Company calculates the cash flows expected to be collected. In this calculation, the Company compares the present value of cash flows expected to be collected, discounted at the security's effective interest rate at date of purchase, to the amortized cost basis. If the present value of cash flows is less than the amortized cost basis, a realized loss is recorded for the difference. The present value of cash flows then becomes the new cost basis.

BCBSNC's investments in its wholly-owned unconsolidated subsidiaries are recorded at BCBSNC's equity, adjusted to statutory basis if applicable, plus the remaining unamortized goodwill balance in the underlying net assets, with the net income or losses of the subsidiaries recorded directly to unassigned surplus.

Real Estate and Electronic Data Processing Equipment

Real estate and electronic data processing (EDP) equipment and software are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and encumbrances. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets: 5 to 40 years for buildings and leasehold improvements and 3 years for data processing equipment.

Market values for real estate reported in Schedule A are based on recent appraisals. Property and equipment retired from use is classified as held for sale and is carried at the lower of its depreciated cost or fair value, less estimated costs to sell. The Company ceases depreciating these assets when they are classified as held for sale.

Revenue Recognition (Premium Income, Uncollected Premiums and Unearned Premiums)

Premiums written are earned over the period of coverage on a pro rata basis. Premiums billed to policyholders are recorded as uncollected premiums when the coverage period begins. Payments received in advance of coverage are recorded as premiums received in advance until earned. Delinquent uncollected premiums are charged directly to reserves and unassigned funds once delinquent for 30 days and 90 days for non-group and group subscribers, respectively.

The Company participates in the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program (FEHBP) with other Blue Cross Blue Shield plans. This program includes a fully-insured experience-rated contract, commonly known as the Federal Employee Program (FEP), between the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) and Blue Cross Blue Shield Association (BCBSA), which acts as an agent for the participating Blue Cross Blue Shield plans. In addition, each participating plan, including the Company, executes a contract with BCBSA which obligates each participating plan to underwrite FEP benefits in its service area. Premium rates are developed by BCBSA and negotiated with OPM annually. These rates determine the funds that will be available to the participating Blue Cross Blue Shield plans to provide insurance to Federal employees that enroll with the Blue Cross Blue Shield FEP. The excess of gross premiums for the life of the program over the charges for the life of the program on an accrual basis is accounted for as a rate stabilization reserve (commonly referred to as the special reserve), as required by the contract between OPM and BCBSA. Each year, OPM also allocates a portion of the premiums to a contingency reserve which may be utilized by the participating plans in the event that annual premiums paid to the insurance carrier are insufficient or the rate stabilization reserve falls below certain levels prescribed by OPM. Premiums paid to the carrier and available to each participating Blue Cross Blue Shield plan, including the special reserve and the contingency reserve, are held at the U.S. Treasury, including amounts unused from prior periods. Any premiums that remain in the rate stabilization reserve upon termination of the BCBSA contract after the claims run-out and reimbursement of allowable administrative expenses would be returned to OPM for the benefit of the FEHBP. The FEP contract renews automatically each year unless written notice of termination is given by either party.

In accordance with the FEP contract, premium funds that exceed daily operating needs are held on behalf of the Company in letter of credit accounts at the U.S. Treasury to provide funding for claims, administrative expenses, and other charges to the contract. The Company, along with other Blue Cross Blue Shield plans who participate in the FEHBP contract, has an unrestricted right to draw funds being held in the U.S. Treasury, other than those allocated to the contingency reserve, for any valid claim or expense. If the balance of the special reserve is exhausted or falls below certain prescribed levels, OPM will transfer funds from the contingency reserve to the special reserve to the extent that funds are available in the contingency reserve. Amounts incurred in excess of the total reserves held at the U.S. Treasury for the FEP would not be reimbursed to the Company. Amounts incurred in excess of the total reserves held at the U.S. Treasury for the FEP would not be reimbursed to the Company. The unaudited amounts being held in the special reserve are $5,652,689,891 $4,542,094,984 as of September 30, 2015 and December 31, 2014, respectively. The unaudited amounts being held in the contingency reserve are $9,237,554,757 and $10,632,403,324 as of September 30, 2015 and December 31, 2014, respectively.

The Company has recorded its allocable share of the special reserve funds held in the U.S. Treasury as an asset, with an equivalent amount recorded as a rate stabilization reserve. These amounts are $15,429,321 and $8,128,629 as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, and are included in assets and liabilities in the accompanying Statement of Assets, liabilities, Capital and Surplus. Additionally, the Company has recorded a mandatory statutory reserve for its FEP business. These amounts are $30,023,572 and $26,966,534 as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, and are included in cash and liabilities in the accompanying Statement of Assets, liabilities, Capital and Surplus.

FEP represented approximately 76.0% and 65.8% of accounts receivable as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. FEP represented approximately 14.4%.and 13.9% of net revenue for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

The Company serves as a plan sponsor offering Medicare Part D prescription drug insurance coverage under a calendar year contract with the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). Payments from CMS under this contract include amounts for premiums, risk corridor adjustments, reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies and prospective payments under the coverage gap discount program (CGDP).

The CMS contract is subject to audit and adjustments identified are recognized in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses as they are reviewed and agreed to by the Company. As of December 31, 2015, years 2006 through 2015 remain open to financial examination by CMS.

The payments received monthly from CMS and members represent amounts for providing prescription drug insurance coverage. The Company recognizes premium revenues for providing this insurance coverage ratably over the contract period for providing insurance coverage. Pharmacy benefit and administrative costs under the contract are expensed as incurred. As a result of the Medicare Part D product design, the Company incurs a disproportionate amount of benefit costs in the first half of the contract year compared with the last half of the contract year.

Funds received as “Reinsurance Payments” and “Low Income Subsidy (cost-sharing portion)” are accounted for as reimbursements (or advance payments) for uninsured claims under a partially uninsured plan in accordance with SSAP No. 47, and hence are not recognized as premiums. These funds are amounts paid by the Government for a portion of claims above the out-of-pocket threshold or relate to the prescription drug plan (PDP) payments for all or a portion of the deductible, the coinsurance and the co-payment amounts for low-income beneficiaries.

The Company’s CMS payment is subject to risk sharing through the Medicare Part D risk corridor provisions. The Company recognizes a risk sharing payable or receivable based on year-to-date activity. The risk corridor provisions compare costs targeted in the Company’s annual bid to actual prescription drug costs, limited to actual costs that would have been incurred under the standard coverage as defined by CMS. Variances exceeding certain thresholds may result in CMS making additional payments to the Company or require the Company to refund to CMS a portion of what was received. The Company estimates and recognizes an adjustment to premium revenues related to these risk corridor provisions based upon pharmacy claims experience to date as if the annual contract were to terminate at the end of the reporting period. Accordingly, this estimate provides no consideration to future pharmacy claims experience.

In addition, payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursement of prescription drug costs for which the Company is not at risk and is recorded as a payable when received. Reinsurance subsidies represent reimbursements for CMS’s portion of prescription drug costs which exceed the member’s out-of-pocket threshold, or the catastrophic coverage benefit level. Low-income cost sharing subsidies represent reimbursement from CMS for all or a portion of the deductible, the coinsurance and co-payment amounts from the out-of-pocket threshold for low income beneficiaries. The Company recognizes risk sharing receivable or payable based on year to date activity. Monthly prospective payments from CMS for reinsurance and low-income cost sharing subsidies are based on assumptions submitted with the Company’s annual bid. This payable is reduced when reinsurance is utilized and subsidies are provided by the Company. This activity is accumulated and when the net balance for each contract is negative, it is recorded as a receivable. The Company does not recognize premium revenues or claims expense for these subsidies as the Company does not incur any risk with this part of the program.

A reconciliation and related settlement of the final risk sharing and low-income cost sharing and reinsurance subsidy amounts is performed following the end of the contract year. The Company did not have a risk sharing payable at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. The net estimated subsidies receivable from CMS was $9,388,118 and $22,167,107 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. Any estimated receivables related to either the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in amounts receivable related to uninsured plans. Any estimated payables related to the CMS risk sharing or subsidies are included in liability for amounts held under uninsured plans.

Claims Payable

Claims and claims adjustment expenses are expensed as incurred. The claims unpaid liability includes management's estimate of the ultimate cost of the claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not yet reported.

The process of estimating reserves requires a high degree of judgment and a number of factors are taken into consideration. The Company actuarially estimates the liability for claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not reported based on the most current historical claims payment patterns, changes in number of members, changes in products and benefits, and estimates of health care trend changes (cost, utilization, and intensity of services). Management also estimates the amount of claims adjustment expense needed to settle claims by determining the total administrative cost incurred to process claims as a percentage of total insured claims expense and applying that percentage to total claims in process of settlement and claims incurred but not yet reported.

Estimates for the claims unpaid liability are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur, and revisions are accordingly reflected in the hospital and medical expense line of the Statement of Revenue and Expenses in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. Changes in the medical cost trend and claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of claims unpaid and unpaid claims adjustment expense. These estimates may change as actuarial methods change or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based change. There have been no significant changes to our actuarial methods in the last two fiscal years.

Income Taxes

Income taxes are computed in accordance with SSAP No. 101. The amount reported in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses as income tax expense represents an estimate of taxes due or refundable after computing the current year's tax return filing. This amount may also reflect impacts from prior years, which are properly reported through the Statement of Revenue and Expenses. Also, deferred income taxes are recorded for temporary differences between the admitted basis of assets and liabilities and the respective tax basis. The change in gross deferred income tax, excluding deferred taxes related to unrealized gains (losses) and additional minimum pension is reported as a separate component of surplus. Gross deferred income tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance if the Company determines it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the gross deferred tax assets will not be realized. Finally, as discussed in more detail below, the gross deferred tax asset is subject to an admissibility standard, which requires an annual computation of the admitted gross deferred tax asset. All computations are made on a separate company basis.

Adjusted deferred income tax assets are limited to (1) the amount of federal income taxes paid in prior years that can be recovered through loss carrybacks for existing temporary differences that reverse during a timeframe corresponding with IRS tax loss carryback provisions, not to exceed three years, plus (2) the lesser of the remaining gross deferred income tax assets expected to be realized within three years of the balance sheet date or 15% of capital and surplus (subject to certain limitations), excluding any net deferred income tax assets, electronic data processing equipment and operating software and any net positive goodwill, plus (3) the amount of remaining gross deferred income tax assets that can be offset against existing deferred income tax liabilities. The remaining deferred income tax assets in excess of the above are non-admitted. Deferred income taxes do not include amounts for state taxes.

Retirement Plans

Pension costs are accrued in accordance with SSAP No. 102, Accounting for Pensions and SSAP No. 92, Accounting for Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pension. Under these SSAPs, the statutory accounting standards will be similar to U.S. GAAP accounting standards. These SSAPs will require the pension and other postretirement benefit liabilities to include the unfunded projected benefit obligation and unfunded accumulated postretirement benefit obligation, respectively, including non-vested participants. These new requirements are effective January 1, 2013.

Certain events, such as changes in employee base and changes in actuarial assumptions, result in a change in the benefit obligation which results in a corresponding change in the gains and losses. The result of these events is amortized as a component of net periodic benefit expense (income) over the average life expectancy (average working lifetime was used until June 30, 2013) of the participants, provided such amounts exceed thresholds which are based upon the benefit obligation or the value of plan assets. Plan amendments impact prior service cost and are amortized over the average remaining lifetime of all plan participants.

The measurement of benefit obligations and net periodic benefit expense (income) is based on estimates and assumptions approved by the Company's management. These valuations reflect the terms of the plans and use participant-specific information such as compensation, age and years of service, as well as certain assumptions, including estimates of discount rates, expected return on plan assets, rate of compensation increases and mortality rates.

The Company records expense for defined contribution plans for the Company's contribution when the employee renders service to the Company, essentially coinciding with the cash contributions to the plans. The expense is recorded as general administrative expense.

Risks and Uncertainties

Unfavorable economic conditions could materially and adversely affect our revenues and our results of operations. For example, high unemployment rates could cause lower enrollment or lower rates of renewal in our employer group plans. Unfavorable economic conditions could cause employers to stop offering certain health care coverage as an employee benefit or elect to offer this coverage on a voluntary, employee-funded basis as a means to reduce their operating costs. In addition, unfavorable economic conditions could adversely impact our ability to increase premiums or result in the cancellation by certain customers of our products and services. All of these could lead to a decrease in our membership levels and premium and fee revenues and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows.

Our investment portfolio may suffer losses, which could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Market fluctuations could impair our profitability and capital position. Volatility in interest rates affects our interest income and the market value of our investments in debt securities of varying maturities, which comprise a majority of the fair value of our investments as of December 31, 2015.

We also allocate a proportion of our portfolio to equity and alternative investments, which are subject to greater volatility than fixed income investments. General economic conditions, stock market conditions, and many other factors beyond our control can materially and adversely affect the value of these investments and may result in investment losses.

There can be no assurance that our investments will produce total positive returns or that we will not sell investments at prices that are less than their carrying values. Changes in the value of our investment assets, as a result of interest rate fluctuations, changes in issuer financial conditions, illiquidity or otherwise, could have an adverse effect on our equity. In addition, if it became necessary for us to liquidate our investment portfolio on an accelerated basis, it could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations.

Investments made in healthcare companies are not guaranteed to produce positive results. Our financial results may be impacted by a number of factors including, but not limited to, the failure of companies in which we invest to achieve business and operating plans, failure of these companies to adapt to a rapidly changing healthcare environment, and the inability of these companies to attract and retain key executives and employees. Additionally, negative changes in the financial markets could result in lower valuations (impacting the carrying value of investments already made) and the inability of these companies to access capital or to access capital on favorable terms. The impact of some or all of these risks could result in the impairment of our investment.

We routinely process, store and transmit large amounts of data in our day to day operations. Such data includes sensitive personal, proprietary or confidential information relating to our customers, our business or other third-parties. Some of this data may be processed, stored and transmitted outside of the U.S. because of operational reliance on strategic vendors.

The possibility of security incidents resulting in a breach of our information systems and/or sensitive information are constant risks to our organization. Notwithstanding the proactive and aggressive measures we employ to prevent them, experienced cyber criminals may be able to penetrate our layered security controls and misappropriate or compromise sensitive information given sufficient time and resources. Such attacks could create system disruptions or cause shutdowns, or may result in the deployment of malicious software programs, such as viruses and worms, that could infect our systems or otherwise exploit any security vulnerabilities. Physical attacks and disruptions are also a risk. Our facilities may be subjected to security incidents or security attacks; acts of vandalism or theft; coordinated attacks by activist entities; misplaced or lost data; human errors; or other similar events that could negatively affect our systems and our customers' data.

The costs associated with threat mitigation and vulnerability remediation to prevent a breach or cyber-incident are significant, but potentially much greater when such activities are forced to occur after an event. Such efforts are always impactful and may not always be successful. Service interruptions, delays or complete lack of service resulting in customer dissatisfaction and the loss of existing or new customers are additional impacts associated with these activities. However, breaches of our security measures and the unauthorized disclosure of sensitive information could expose our customers to the risk of medical identity theft or financial harm. Additionally, such breaches could expose us or other third-parties to loss or misuse of sensitive information, resulting in litigation and potential liability for us, damage our brand and reputation, or otherwise harm our business.

Substantially all of the Company's cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments are held in either deposits at financial institutions or in commercial paper with a high quality investment grade rating. Credit losses are not anticipated. All fixed income securities are rated investment grade at the time of purchase by nationally recognized rating agencies, and the credit ratings are continuously reviewed by management. The portfolio is diversified by limiting each individual non-government issuer concentration to no more than 5% of the portfolio.

We are dependent on the success of our relationship with a large vendor for a significant portion of our information system resources and certain other vendors for various other services. We have an agreement with Fujitsu for the operation of our IT systems and are dependent upon them for support functions. We also have agreements with other vendors to provide call center, claims processing, enrollment and billing, and fulfillment support. Additionally, we have vendor dependencies associated with various workflow and transactional systems critical to our operations.

Should these vendors be unable to provide their services our operations and financial stability may be significantly impacted, but more importantly we may not be able to meet the demands of our customers.

The inability to bring a scalable and flexible information technology infrastructure to support and deliver on the current and anticipated future needs of the business in an efficient, cost effective and well-controlled manner could impact results of operations, financial position and cash flows. A new core technology suite and business model is intended to provide core operating capabilities including enrollment, claims-processing and customer services with the explicit goals of reducing our operating costs and increasing speed-to-market and market offer flexibility. This core platform has been in service for our small Group market since July 2014, with membership migrating as we add new functionality. We are migrating our Individual under-65 market for January 1, 2016 effective dates and will migrate remaining markets over the next three years. Completion of this program could favorably position the Company to capture and retain attractive business from some of its national competition. However, execution risk exists on a program of this magnitude and complexity, while the business and operating cost value is largely delivered upon completion of the migration.

In addition, federal and state regulatory agencies may further restrict our ability to implement necessary changes in premium rates to earn our target contribution to surplus or impose additional restrictions, under new or existing laws, such as minimum medical loss ratio requirements or restricted definitions of costs to be included when calculating medical loss ratios under such definitions. Our ability to secure sufficient premium rates, including regulatory approval for and implementation of such rates on a timely basis, may be restricted by changes in federal and state regulations or by the application of existing federal and state regulations. A limitation on our ability to increase or maintain our premium rates and more restrictive medical loss ratio requirements could adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations.

A wide variety of factors could result in volatility of medical losses in any given year. These factors include economic and regulatory risks whereby state and federal budgets could be materially and adversely affected, resulting in reduced reimbursements or payments for federal and state government health care coverage programs, including Medicare, Medicaid and CHIP. A reduction in state reimbursement rates could be implemented retrospectively to payments already negotiated and/or received from the government and could indirectly affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. In addition, the state and federal budgetary pressures could cause the government to impose new or a higher level of taxes or assessments for our commercial programs, such as premium taxes on insurance companies and health maintenance organizations and surcharges or fees on select fee-for-service and capitated medical claims, and could materially and adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flows. Furthermore, new types of medical treatments or prescription drugs could emerge during the policy period or after the time premiums are established and approved by regulators, resulting in higher medical losses than expected.

Depending on the consolidation and integration of physician groups and hospitals, reimbursement strategies vary across markets. Fee-for-service is our predominant reimbursement methodology for physicians, but we are transitioning to a value-based payment program. More traditional physician fee schedules are developed at the state and regional level based on an assessment of several factors and conditions, including the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (“CMS”), resource-based relative value system, medical practice cost inflation and physician supply. In addition, we have implemented and continue to expand physician incentive contracting, or “pay for performance”, which ties physician payment levels to performance on quality and clinical outcomes. As providers continue to consolidate, we may experience upward pressure on reimbursement amounts and, in turn, our business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations may be harmed.

Additionally, accountable care organizations; practice management companies (which are companies that aggregate physician practices for administrative efficiency); and other organizational structures that physicians, hospitals and other care providers choose may change the way in which these providers interact with us and may change the competitive landscape. Such organizations or groups of physicians may compete directly with us, which could adversely affect our operations, and our results of operations, financial position and cash flows by impacting our relationships with these providers or affecting the way that we price our products and estimate our costs, which might require us to incur costs to change our operations.

Since 2010, with the passage of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA or health care reform), health insurance issuers have been feeling the far-reaching effects of subsequent guidance and regulations. The law is intended to expand access to health insurance coverage over time by increasing the eligibility thresholds for most state Medicaid programs and providing certain other individuals and small businesses with tax credits to subsidize a portion of the cost of health insurance coverage. The legislation includes a requirement that most individuals obtain health insurance coverage which began on January 1, 2014 and that most large employers offer coverage to their employees beginning in 2015 or be required to pay a financial penalty. In addition, the new laws encompass certain new taxes and fees, including an excise tax on high premium insurance policies, an annual fee to fund comparative effectiveness research, limitations on the amount of compensation that is tax deductible and new fees on companies in our industry, certain of which are not deductible for income tax purposes.

While many of the law’s reforms have been in place since January 1, 2014, including the individual mandate, the establishment of federally-facilitated or state-based exchanges, and the three premium stabilization programs (“3R’s”), many of the implications of the law will not be seen for years to come.

Federal and state regulatory changes in December 2013 allowed certain individuals to maintain their current pre-ACA plans that are not compliant with health care reform, which led to higher than previously expected retention of existing underwritten health plans. As this was the case with many issuers, across many states, this could result in overall deterioration of the risk pool in ACA compliant plans because more members remain in their current health plans rather than moving to ACA plans on or off the Exchange. These policies can be renewed through October 1, 2016 unless extended.

In addition, the ACA has increased and will continue to increase federal oversight of health plan premium rates and could adversely affect our ability to appropriately adjust health plan premiums on a timely basis. Financing for these reforms comes, in part, from material additional fees and taxes.

As discussed above, implementing regulations and related interpretive guidance continue to be issued on certain provisions of the ACA. Given the breadth of possible changes and the uncertainties of interpretation, implementation, and timing of these changes, the ACA has and will continue to change how we do business, with impacts on pricing, benefit design, product offering, and sales distribution channels. The response of insurance issuers, the market overall, and adjustments to plan offerings could cause significant disruption in health care markets. It is possible that health care reform and related regulations, as well as future legislative and regulatory changes, including legislative restrictions on issuers' ability to manage provider networks or otherwise operate business, may have a sustained material adverse effect on our results of operations, financial position, and cash flows.

Federal Congressional activity, budget negotiations, the 2016 presidential campaign, ongoing regulatory changes to health care reform, and litigation challenging aspects of the law continue to create uncertainty about the ultimate impact of the ACA. An example of this uncertainty includes the upcoming federal court case US House of Representatives vs. Secretary Burwell involving the Administration's delayed enforcement of the requirement that large employers provide health coverage to their employers and the administration's funding of a program to reduce the out-of-pocket health care costs of some consumers.

In the 2015 federal budget bill, Congress specified that the ACA's risk corridor program must be budget neutral, with distributions not exceeding collections. In October 2015, CMS announced that they will pay insurers expecting risk corridor payments 12.6% of their requested amount due to a shortfall with insurers having requested $2.87 billion in payments and CMS has received $362 million (in aggregate). The notice repeats CMS' intention to pay the remaining 2014 amounts due out of 2015 and 2016 receivables, as necessary, and in the event of a shortfall in the program after the 2016 benefit year, CMS repeated that they will 'explore other sources of funding for risk corridors payments'. This continued uncertainty makes financial forecasting and reporting increasingly challenging.

Health care reform also presents a challenge to insurers with respect to cash flows. In the pre-health care reform environment, an insurer would collect almost all premiums in advance of paying claims. However, health care reform has created new reimbursement timelines for insurers as government subsidies (which comprise over 90% of on-Exchange premiums) are not paid until more than 20 days into the coverage month. In addition, health care reform-related reimbursement payments to insurers to offset higher-than-expected or higher-than-average risk are not made until the third quarter following the coverage year.

As described above, the Company continues to face uncertainty impacting the health insurance industry with the ultimate impacts of the ACA, including the legislative and regulatory changes to the law. There is significant uncertainty and concern related to whether there will be adequate funding levels for certain programs and our ability to estimate the impact of these programs, which is impacting our financial performance in future periods. The Company will continue to monitor all changes to the implementation requirements or timeline but at this point cannot estimate the ultimate impact of these changes, if any.

The US House of Representatives has filed a lawsuit (US House of Representatives v. Burwell) challenging the ability of the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to make Cost Sharing Reduction (CSR) payments to insurers. CSR plans are available to enrollees at or below 250% of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). CSR Plans provide lower deductibles, copayments, coinsurance, and out-of-pocket maximums for enrollees. HHS makes CSR payments directly to BCBSNC as reimbursement for the lower cost-sharing amounts provided in CSR plans.

In the lawsuit, Congress maintains that the funds HHS is using to make CSR payments requires a direct appropriation from Congress. The plaintiffs maintain that as Congress did not provide a specific line item appropriation for CSR payments; HHS has not been granted the right or authority to make a distribution from the Treasury. The Obama administration maintains that CSR payments and the Advance Premium Tax Credit (APTC or subsidies as they are known) are inextricably linked (as eligibility for CSR is triggered by APTC eligibility); thus the appropriation of funds for APTC serves as an appropriation for CSRs as well.

The DC District Court has ruled, initially in June in of 2015 and again in denying an Obama Administration request to dismiss the case in October of 2015, that the House has standing to sue and that the case will proceed on its merits. Oral arguments in the case are expected to take place in the spring or summer of 2016 and a decision could come anytime thereafter. The challenge for BCBSNC is that we are required to offer CSR plans to eligible individuals as part of our Qualified Health Plan (QHP) issuer agreement with the Federal Exchange, and this agreement covers the entire plan year. If the CSR payments from HHS are deemed illegal, CSR payments to BCBSNC could possibly be stopped soon after a ruling but we would still be required to offer CSR plans for the remainder of the plan year, as stipulated in our signed issuer agreement. The timing of a final decision is unknown, but it is not likely that the case will be settled before the 2017 QHP agreements must be signed in late summer. The standing decision is likely to go to the US Supreme Court.

Contract Reserves

Contract reserves are established for policies where, because of the policy's design, future benefit costs increase because of factors which the plan cannot reflect in the premiums. The liability, established when a portion of the premium collected in years prior to the valuation date is meant to help pay for claim costs arising in later years, represents the present value of future benefits paid to or on behalf of policyholders and related expense less the present value of future net premiums. Contract reserves are actuarially estimated using methods that include assumptions such as interest rates, claim trends, persistency, and other assumptions based upon experience modified as necessary to reflect anticipated trends. The assumptions include a provision for possible unfavorable deviation. Contract reserves are established for Blue Advantage, NAIC Medicare Supplement, and individual Blue Options HSA products.

These estimates may change as actuarial methods and/or as underlying facts upon which these estimates are based, change. The net level premium methodology is used. There were no significant changes to our actuarial methods in the last two fiscal years. Included in aggregate policy reserves are the contract reserves and unearned premiums on these policies. Aggregate policy reserves also include the liability for Federal Employee Program (FEP) rate stabilization reserve.

Estimates for contract reserves are continually reviewed and revised as changes in experience and other factors occur. Changes to the valuation basis are reflected in capital and surplus in the period in which the change in estimate is identified. . Changes in the medical cost trend or in claims payment patterns used in estimating reserves would impact the balance of contract reserves and would be recognized in the Statement of Revenue and Expenses. During 2015 and 2014, the Company adjusted contract reserves through capital and surplus by $18,814,434 and $83,636,008, respectively, as a result of updated experience and a refinement of assumptions.

Pharmaceutical Rebate Receivables

The Company's pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) contracts with pharmaceutical manufacturers, some of whom provide rebates based on the use of the manufacturers products by the PBM for the Company's insured and self-funded customers. The Company accrues the rebates receivable monthly based on the terms of the applicable contracts. The PBM bills these rebates to the manufacturers on a quarterly basis. The Company is reimbursed primarily quarterly. The Company records the rebates attributable to insured customers as a reduction to claims and medical expense. The rebates attributable to self-funded customers are accrued as rebates receivable as well as a corresponding payable to self-funded customers in accordance with their contracts. Of these receivables, $52,405,540 and $38,249,122 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, were nonadmitted because they were outstanding in excess of 90 days.

Affordable Care Act Assessments

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) imposes a nondeductible assessment on entities that issue health insurance for each calendar year beginning on or after January 1, 2014. The liability related to the Section 9010 ACA assessment shall be estimated and recorded in full once the entity provides qualifying health insurance (typically January 1) in the applicable calendar year in which the assessment is paid (fee year) with a corresponding entry to expense. The Section 9010 ACA assessment shall be recognized in full on January 1 of the fee year, in the operating expense category of Taxes, Licenses and Fees. On January 1, 2015 and 2014, the Company recognized in full $135,202,257 and $75,000,000 related to the Section 9010 ACA assessment. At September 30, 2015, the Company adjusted our initial amount for 2015 by ($3,618,340), based on the final fee calculation from the Internal Revenue Service. At September 30, 2015 and 2014, the Company paid $131,583,917 and $79,491,486, based on the final fee calculation from the Internal Revenue Service, respectively.

Liability recognition of the Section 9010 fee is not required in the data year. In the data year, the reporting entity is required to reclassify from unassigned surplus to special surplus an amount equal to its estimated subsequent fee year assessment. This segregation in special surplus is accrued monthly throughout the data year. The reclassification from unassigned surplus to special surplus does not reduce total surplus. On January 1 of the fee year, the prior year segregation in special surplus is reversed and the full current fee year assessment liability shall be accrued. As of December 31, 2015, the Company's segregated amount of special surplus is $138,472,491.

On October 1, 2015, Health and Human Services announced proration results of 12.6% for the 2014 risk corridor payments. Guidance required non-admittance of the 2014 risk corridor amounts in excess of the 12.6% proration amount which has not been written off for impairment, and has a reasonable expectation of delayed recovery. The Company non-admitted $55,225,869 of our risk corridor receivable.

The Company has evaluated our risk corridor receivable as required by INT 15-01, and believes no additional impairment is required as of December 31, 2015.

There was a significant change to income taxes in 2015 compared to 2014 because of the increase in nondeductible expenses due to the implementation of ACA.

In addition, ACS paid BCBSNC $13,899 and $13,843 as additional amounts due under an administrative services agreement and BCBSNC paid ACS $573,884 and $1,634,910 for electronic data interchange services. In 2014, the agreement between BCBSNC and ACS to administer health reimbursement Account (HRA) and Flexible Spending Account (FSA) was discontinued. Also, BCBSNC paid ACS $353,837 for Health Reimbursement Account (HRA) and $94,139 for Flexible Spending Account (FSA) fund administration for BCBSNC's Blue branded HRA/FSA services to BCBSNC for the period ended December 31, 2014.

G. The Company is organized as a taxable not-for-profit insurance company; therefore, no outstanding shares exist at December 31, 2015 and 2014.

H. The Company had no ownership in any upstream intermediate entities or ultimate parent companies owned.

I. The Company owns 100% interest in Corium, Corium II, and Noble whose carrying values are less than 10% of the Company's admitted assets. The Company carries Noble at GAAP audited equity. Corium and Corium II are recorded on a consolidated basis.

J. The Company did not recognize any impairment write down for its investments in subsidiaries, controlled or affiliated companies for the periods ended December 31, 2015 and 2014.

K. The Company has no investment in a foreign insurance subsidiary.

L. The Company has no investment in a downstream non-insurance holding company for which the look-through method is used.

In December 2011, BCBSNC established Topaz as a partnership. Its purpose was to develop a technology-enabled and market-competitive business solution to address the individual and small group health insurance markets. The initial focus of Topaz was to delivery of a shared technology solution based on The TriZetto Group's software for administering business in the retail marketplace, including individual (less than 65 years old) and small group (defined as up to 100 lives) health insurance products. This solution is anticipated to be expanded to serve all lines of business in the future. Additionally, Topaz may expand the scope of its service offering to include certain health plan operations, such as enrollment, billing, claims administration and other business process services.

Topaz was owned by MHSI and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas City ("BCBSKC"). The initial capital contribution of MHSI was $5,000,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The initial capital contribution of BCBSKC's subsidiary was $5,000,000 in exchange for 100 units and a 50% voting interest. The Company and BCBSKC were funding Topaz and its development of a software infrastructure. The Company and BCBSKC planned to become customers of Topaz as software was placed in service. Topaz was a variable interest entity because its capital contributions were not sufficient to fund the development of its software infrastructure. Funding sources other than capital contributions were required to accomplish this endeavor. Additional funding was in the form of investments in research and development. The Company anticipates it will recover these additional investments through reduced billings from Topaz when it becomes operational. Through January 23, 2014, the Company has concluded that it was not the primary beneficiary of Topaz, because it did not hold the power to direct the activities that most significantly impact Topaz, since it shared a voting interest on a 50% - 50% basis with BCBSKC. Accordingly, the investment in Topaz was accounted for as an equity method investment for the years ended December 31, 2013 and December 31, 2012.

During 2013 the Company and BCBSKC entered into discussions regarding the withdrawal of BCBSKC from Topaz as an owner and customer. These discussions culminated in a Settlement Letter Agreement and Release that became effective January 23, 2014. As a result of this transaction, MHSI acquired the 50% voting interest from BCBSKC and prospectively, the MHSI consolidated the operations of Topaz based on its 100% ownership. The Company intends to continue funding the development of Topaz.

Effective January 23, 2014, MHSI acquired the BCBSKC investment interest by assuming certain liabilities valued at approximately $11,500,000. As a result, MHSI recognized the following assets acquired and liabilities assumed related to Topaz: cash $4,300,000, accounts receivable $31,800,000, prepaid expenses $200,000, internally developed software $52,900,000, prepaid software licenses $15,200,000, accounts payable $15,200,000 million, and research and development liability $66,100,000 million. Additionally, MHSI's existing investment in Topaz was revalued to fair value at the date of acquisition. This resulted in the recognition of a $20,100,000 gain recorded by MHSI. Had Topaz been consolidated with MHSI for the years ended

December 31, 2013 and 2012, the Topaz revenues included would have totaled $100,000 and $0, respectively, and the net loss included would have totaled $10,900,000 and $29,400,000, respectively.

11. Debt

A. BCBSNC has established two revolving lines of credit to support its daily working capital requirements providing total borrowing capacity of $200,000,000 at an interest rate of LIBOR plus 65 basis points for all borrowings.

In November 2013, BCBSNC entered into a revolving line of credit and amended and restated it in July 2015, to increase the borrowing capacity to $150,000,000 and extend the termination date until July 2017.

Amounts drawn under these revolving lines of credit were $121,859,000 and $100,000,000 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

In September 2014, the Company entered into a $165,000,000 thirty-year, fully amortizing, 4.09% mortgage due 2044 with an unaffiliated lender using eight office buildings as collateral. The mortgage is not callable and can be prepaid at any time subject to a make whole premium due to the lender.

BCBSNC must maintain certain covenants including limits on indebtedness to capital, indebtedness to EBITDA, risk based capital ratio, liens, and dispositions. As of December 31, 2015 the Company was in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements. As of December 31, 2014 the Company was not in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements; however, our lenders granted us a waiver of the EBITDA calculation. As of December 31, 2013 the Company was in compliance with the covenants and requirements outlined in these agreements.

B. FHLB (Federal Home Loan Bank) Agreements

The Company did not have any FHLB Agreements at December 31, 2015 and 2014.

12. Retirement Plans, Deferred Compensation, Post-Employment Benefits and Compensated Absences and Other Postretirement Benefit Plans

A. Defined Benefit Plan

The Company has a non-contributory qualified defined benefit retirement plan covering a significant number of employees. No new participants are allowed into the plan. In addition, certain participants have no additional service accrual based on a defined contribution plan participation choice. The benefits are based on years of service and the employee's highest sixty consecutive months of earnings in the last one hundred and twenty months of employment.

The Company also provides non-contributory non-qualified defined benefit supplemental executive retirement plans (SERP) for certain executives. Two of the SERPs have benefits based on years of service, retirement age and certain final average pay calculations. Benefits are offset by benefits payable from other defined benefit retirement plans. An additional SERP has benefits based on years of service and individual agreements that generally require payment of a fixed monthly dollar amount for 15 years upon retirement.

BCBSNC provides certain healthcare and life insurance benefits for retired employees. Substantially all of BCBSNC's employees who reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 5 years of service may become eligible for healthcare insurance benefits. In addition, substantially all of those BCBSNC employees hired prior to January 1, 2006, who will reach retirement age while working at BCBSNC with at least 15 years of service may become eligible for both a Company subsidy of healthcare insurance costs and life insurance benefits. BCBSNC funds retiree healthcare benefits by making contributions to the Voluntary Employees Beneficiary Association (VEBA) administered by the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association (Association). The Company did not make a contribution in 2012 and 2014 to fund the liability for eligible retire employees.

Effective December 31, 2013, the Company has elected to freeze the non-contributory qualified defined benefit plan and two associated non-qualified defined benefit SERPs which ceased all benefit accruals under the Plans as of this date. As a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit plan, a curtailment was triggered and a remeasurement of the qualified pension obligations and plan assets occurred as of June 30, 2013. As of the remeasurement, the plan assets had increased in value from the prior measurement date resulting in an increase in the funded status of the plan of $58,595,458. Additionally, the curtailment impact reduced the projected benefit obligation by $86,836,489. Also as a result of freezing the qualified defined benefit pension plan, the amortization period for actuarial gains and losses was changed from the average working life to the average remaining life expectancy of all participants.

In June 2013, the Company offered an Early Retirement Window (ERW) to eligible employees who, as of December 31, 2013 are age 52 or older with ten years of service, and with an age plus years of service of at least 75 years. If eligible participants elect to retire at predefined phases in 2014, the ERW provides additional years of service toward eligibility for Company subsidized insurance benefits, additional years of service for pension benefit calculation purposes, and enhanced early retirement factors which, depending on the participant's age, provides a benefit that is unreduced or subject to smaller reductions. The same benefits were provided to eligible participants who retired or notified the Company that they intend to retire, in 2013 prior to the window announcement. The ERW enhancements are considered special termination benefits and they will increase the actuarially determined benefit obligation for the qualified retirement benefit plan and the postretirement benefit plan by an estimated $25,004,314 and $3,200,000, respectively.

In October 2014, the Company offered a Cash Out Window (COW) to terminated vested participants in the qualified defined benefit plan and SERP. The COW allowed the participants to elect an immediate lump sum distribution of their benefit in the plan(s). Lump sum payments of $100,219,684 were paid from the qualified retirement plan. Lump sum payments of $30,454 were paid from the SERP.

During 2014 related to the qualified retirement plan, lump sum payments of $100,219,684 were paid. Because these payments exceeded the sum of estimated 2014 service and interest costs, settlement accounting was triggered. As a result, $18,135,922 of unrecognized actuarial loss associated with the payments was relieved from equity and recognized in income.

A summary of assets, obligations and assumptions of the Retirement and Other Postretirement Plans, are as follows at December 31, 2015 and 2014:

In 2015 and 2014, BCBSNC recognized the amortization of the cumulative net loss from past experience as measured by comparing the expected position of the plan at year-end (based on the beginning of the year actuarial assumptions and prior year census data) with the actual position of the plan at year-end (based on the end of year actuarial assumptions and current year census data) prior to recognizing any plan provision changes. The loss is amortized over the average life expectancy of plan participants.

(8) As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, BCBSNC recorded additional liability for pension benefits in the amount of $166,178,477 and $149,139,517, respectively. These events resulted in charges being recorded to accumulated capital net of income tax as a component of surplus in the amount of ($11,075,324) during 2015 and ($41,556,436) during 2014.

(9) The following table presents assumptions used in determining the actuarial present value of the benefit obligation and the subsequent year's net periodic benefit cost for the qualified, non-qualified and other postretirement plans:

On December 31, 2015 we changed the method we use to estimate the service and interest components of net periodic benefit cost for defined benefit pensions and other postretirement benefits. This new estimation approach discounts the individual expected cash flows underlying the service cost and interest cost using the applicable spot rates derived from the yield curve used to discount the cash flows used to measure the benefit obligation. Historically, we estimated these service and interest cost components utilizing a single weighted-average discount rate derived from the yield curve used to measure the benefit obligation at the beginning of the period.

We have made this change to provide a more precise measurement of service and interest costs by improving the correlation between projected benefit cash flows to the corresponding spot yield curve rates. We have accounted for this change as a change in accounting estimate that is inseparable from a change in accounting principle and accordingly have accounted for it prospectively. The benefit obligation measured under this approach is unchanged as of December 31, 2015. The new approach will be used to measure the service and interest cost for the pension benefits, other postretirement benefits and other postemployment benefits in 2016. Based on current economic conditions, we estimate the service cost and interest cost for those plans will be reduced by approximately $6,400,000 in 2016 as a result of the change.

Starting with the 2016 net periodic benefit cost, the Company elected to use a spot discount rate approach to determine the interest cost component of expense and interest on the service cost component. Instead of using a single fixed discount rate, each year's cash flow is discounted at, and then credited with, interest based on the spot rate for that duration. The effective rate for interest on the benefit obligation is the single equivalent rate such that interest on the plan's PBO using the single rate equals the sum of the interest on each year's discounted cash flows determined using the corresponding spot rate along the Mercer Yield Curve. Interest on benefit obligations for purposes of determining the interest cost component of expense is calculated by applying interest to the present value of the payment expected at each payment date. For this purpose, interest is determined using the same spot rate used to determine the present value of the associated payment. In addition to the spot discount rate approach described above, the Company also elected to use split discount rates for the calculation of the PBO and service cost component of expense. The service cost calculation uses the same method as the calculation of the PBO, but is based on expected service cost cash flows only (e.g. expected retiree cash flows are not included).

In 2014, the Society of Actuaries completed a mortality study and issued a new base mortality table (RP-2014) and new mortality improvement scale (MP-2014). The Company has decided to move to the Mercer modified MRP-2007 base mortality table and the Mercer modified MMP-2007 generational projection scale on December 31, 2014. In previous years, the Company used the RP-2000 base mortality table and the Scale AA generational projection scale. This change resulted in an increase of this benefit obligation in 2014.

To set the expected return on plan assets for the qualified pension plan, the Company projects returns on each asset class using historical return relationships and making adjustments as necessary, given current market and economic conditions. The projected returns are then applied to the portfolio target asset allocation weightings and result in a projected long-term portfolio rate of return.

(10) A measurement date of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, was used for the benefit plans.

(11) The medical trend rate used in determining the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation at December 31:

	2015	2014
Health care cost trend rate assumed for next year:
Under age 65	7.1%	7.9%
Age 65 and older	7.1%	7.9%
Rate to which the cost trend rate is assumed to decline (the ultimate trend rate)	4.5%	4.5%
Year that the rate reaches the ultimate trend rate:
Under age 65	2037	2027
Age 65 and older	2037	2027

The above trend rates were used for the PPO plan options. Different rates were used for some post-65 plan options to better model gross costs and expected government subsidies.

(12) Health care cost trend rate assumptions can have a significant effect on the amounts reported for the Retiree Medical Benefits Plan. A one-percentage-point change in assumed health care cost trend rates would have the following effects:

	1-Percentage Point Increase	1-Percentage Point Decrease
Effect on total of service and interest cost components	$505,251	$(383,643)
Effect on postretirement benefit obligation	$6,167,818	$(4,927,353)

(13) BCBSNC's plan weighted-average asset allocations at December 31, by asset category, are as follows:

The BCBSNC Retirement Plan (Plan) was frozen effective December 31, 2013. The Plan investment strategy has switched from total return to liability matching. The Plans funding ratio exceeded 100% at year end and approximately 50% of the portfolio will be transitioned to a liability driven investment strategy (LDI) in 2014. As the Plans funding ratio grows more investments will be allocated to the LDI strategy.

The Plans investments remain diversified and of high quality. At year end the Plan had investments in funds invested in fixed income, domestic & international equities, real estate, commodities and timber.

The investment fiduciary for the VEBA employs a total return investment approach whereby a mix of equities, fixed income and other investments is used to maximize the long-term return of plan assets for a prudent level of risk. The investment portfolio contains a diversified blend of equity, fixed income and other investments. Investment risk is measured and monitored on an ongoing basis through investment portfolio reviews, annual liability measurements, and periodic asset/liability studies.

The mutual fund investment strategy for the VEBA is market sensitive while remaining consistent with the risk tolerance, tax status, and cash flow requirements. Fund strategies include pursuing and capitalizing on market inefficiencies using duration, yield curve, security selection, geographic concentration, sector and state allocation. Security selection, geographic concentration and sector decisions are based on relative attractiveness, using inputs such as historical spread relationships, the value of state tax exemptions, state/regional economic outlooks, credit outlooks and supply and demand.

B. Defined Contribution Plans

BCBSNC has two defined contribution retirement plans qualified under Section 401(k) of the Internal Revenue Code, the BCBSNC Retirement Savings Plan and the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan (401(k) Plan). Eligible employees hired after December 31, 2005 may only participate in the 401(k) Plan. Eligible BCBSNC employees hired prior to December 31, 2005 and participating in the Retirement Savings plan were given the option to remain in that plan or enroll in the 401(k) Plan. Each plan is nondiscriminatory. Participant pretax and Roth contributions are matched at the rate of 50% of the first 6% of compensation or 100% of the first 6% of compensation, depending upon the plan, subject to certain limitations. Under the 401(k) Plan, a profit sharing contribution is made by the Company in an amount equal to 3% of eligible compensation. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $30,794,362 and $31,056,566 for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

In connection with the redesign of the Company's retirement plans, the Retirement Savings Plan will be merged with the redesigned BCBSNC 401(k) Plan effective December 31, 2013. The newly designed 401(k) will be amended to include a new safe harbor matching contribution formula of 100% of the first 4% and 50% of the next 2% of compensation contributed, subject to certain limitations. A profit sharing contribution will be made by the Company in an amount equaling 2% to 5% of eligible compensation, based on the employee's years of service with the Company. Additionally, eligible employees who were participating in the defined benefit pension plan as of December 31, 2013 are also eligible to receive a non-elective contribution ranging from 1% to 8% of eligible compensation for up to 10 years, based on the employee's total years of service with the Company and based on their defined contribution plan participation choice.

The Company also maintains the Restoration Plan, a non-qualified defined contribution plan, to ensure that designated participants receive the full amount of benefits to which they would have been entitled under the BCBSNC 401(k) Plan except for limits on compensation imposed by the Internal Revenue Service. The Company's contributions to the plans totaled $1,974,567 and $1,427,098 for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

A. Contingent Commitments

The Company has a long-term debt obligation due September 2044, future interest payments on this debt obligation are as follows: 2016, $6,545,000; 2017, $6,420,000; 2018, $6,289,000; 2019, $6,153,000; 2020, $6,001,000 and thereafter $81,905,000.

The Company has a commitment to Trizetto to develop a claims processing system. Related funding for 2015 and 2014 were $32,257,766 and $24,672,878, respectively.

At December 31, 2015, expected future costs to BCBSNC related to a purchase obligation for stated service fees with non-cancelable terms with Fujitsu for outsourced IT infrastructure are estimated as follows: 2016, $112,387,935; 2017, $28,096,984; 2018, $0; 2019, $0 and 2020, $0.

The National Organization of Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Associations (NOLHGA) is a voluntary organization consisting of the state life and health insurance guaranty associations located throughout the U.S. State life and health insurance guaranty associations, working together with NOLHGA, provide a safety net for their state's policyholders, ensuring that they continue to receive coverage even if their insurer is declared insolvent. The Company is aware that the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner (Insurance Commissioner) has placed Penn Treaty Network America Insurance Company and its subsidiary American Network Insurance Company, or collectively Penn Treaty, in rehabilitation, an intermediate action before insolvency. The state court denied the Insurance Commissioner's petition for the liquidation of Penn Treaty and ordered the Insurance Commissioner to file an updated plan of rehabilitation. The Insurance Commissioner has filed a Notice of Appeal asking the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to reverse the order denying the liquidation petition. In the event rehabilitation of Penn Treaty is unsuccessful and Penn Treaty is declared insolvent and placed in liquidation, the Company and other insurers may be required to pay a portion of their policyholder claims through state guaranty association assessments in future periods. Given the uncertainty around whether Penn Treaty will ultimately be declared insolvent and, if so, the amount of the insolvency, the amount and timing of any associated future guaranty fund assessments and the availability and amount of any potential premium tax and other offsets, the Company currently cannot estimate its net exposure, if any, to this potential insolvency. The Company will continue to monitor the situation and may record a liability and expense in future reporting periods, which could be material to its cash flows and results of operations.

B. Assessments

As of December 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company is not aware of any assessments against the Company.

C. Gain Contingencies

The Company does not have any material gain contingencies as of December 31, 2015 and 2014.

D. Claims related extra contractual obligation and bad faith losses stemming from lawsuits

The Company did not pay any amounts to settle claims related to extra contractual obligations or bad faith claims stemming from lawsuits.

E. Joint and Several Liabilities

The Company did not have joint and several liabilities as of December 31, 2015 and 2014.

F. All Other Contingencies

We are regularly involved in litigation, both as a defendant and as a plaintiff, but primarily as a defendant. Litigation naming us as a defendant ordinarily arises out of our business operations as a health services organization and our investment activities. Some of the lawsuits may be class actions, or purport to be, and some may include claims for unspecified or substantial punitive and treble damages.

We may discuss such litigation in one of three ways. We accrue a charge to income and disclose legal matters for which the chance of loss is probable and for which the amount of loss can be reasonably estimated. We may disclose contingencies for which the chance of loss is reasonably possible and provide an estimate of the possible loss or range of loss or a statement that such an estimate cannot be made. Finally, we may voluntarily disclose loss contingencies for which the chance of loss is remote in order to provide information concerning matters that potentially expose us to possible losses.

The Company is involved in litigation (In Re: Blue Cross Blue Shield Antitrust Litigation (United States District Court, Northern District of Alabama) which is a multi-district case that consolidates multiple state and national class actions against various of the Company, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association and multiple other Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans. The Company is a named defendant in fifteen of the consolidated cases. The cases all allege an ongoing conspiracy in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act among the Blues and BCBSA and seek (1) a permanent injunction prohibiting enforcement of any agreements which restrict BCBSA member operating territories; (2) treble damages for (a) alleged artificially inflated premiums in the case of subscribers and (b) alleged suppressed provider compensation in the case of providers and (3) attorneys' fees and costs. Additionally, one of the consolidated cases against the Company makes antitrust allegations based on most favored nations ("MFN") clauses in the Company's provider contracts and seeks reformation of the Company's provider contracts to strike MFN clauses and monetary damages. The case is now in the discovery stage. The Company intends to vigorously defend this litigation.

The Company is also involved in litigation (In re: Anthem Data Breach Litigation) pending in United States District Court for the Northern District of California. The case is a Federal, multi-district case that consolidates multiple state and national class actions against various of the Company, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association and multiple other Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans, arising out of a cyber-attack perpetrated against Anthem, Inc. in December, 2014 and January, 2015. The case seeks certification of a class of all Blue plan insured members and alleges various negligence and breach of contract claims and violations of consumer protection laws and seeks injunctive relief and compensatory and punitive damages. The Company is vigorously defending the case.

The Company is also a defendant in litigation (Susan Sykes d/b/a Advanced Chiropractic, et al. v. BCBSNC, et al). This class action was filed May 22, 2015 against BCBSNC and other carriers, CIGNA, Medcost and Healthgram who use Health Network Solutions, Inc. ("HNS") to provide their chiropractic network. The complaint alleges a purported plaintiff class of all chiropractors who practiced in North Carolina from 2005 to the present and asserts claims for (1) declaratory judgment invalidating the agreements between HNS and the individual carriers; (2) price fixing, monopsony and monopoly; (3) unfair and deceptive trade practices; (4) illegal conspiracy in restraint of trade; (5) breach of fiduciary duty; and (6) punitive damages. Generally, the plaintiffs contend that the carriers' agreements with HNS result in underpayment to chiropractors and/or illegal exclusion of chiropractors from the carriers' provider networks. The case was originally filed in North Carolina state court, but has been transferred to the North Carolina Business Court to be consolidated with a prior pending action by the same plaintiffs against HNS. All defendants filed Motions to Dismiss on September 25, 2015 which are currently pending. The Company is vigorously defending the case.

Additionally, BCBSNC is also involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. However, management believes that proceedings arising in the ordinary course of business and those referenced above will not have a material adverse impact on the financial position of the Company.

(2) Method of Estimating Utilization of Remaining Transferable and Non-transferable State Tax Credits

The Company estimated the utilization of the remaining transferable and non-transferable state tax credits by projecting future premium taking into account policy growth and rate changes, projecting future tax liability based on projected premium, tax rates and tax credits, and comparing projected future tax liability to the availability of remaining transferable and non-transferable state tax credits.

(3) Impairment Loss

The Company recognized an impairment loss of $0 related to the write-down as a result of impairment analysis of the carrying amount for state transferable and non-transferable tax credits.

(4) State Tax Credits Admitted and Non-admitted

	Total Admitted	Total Non-admitted

G. Retained Assets

The Company did not have any retained assets at December 31, 2015 or 2014.

22. Events Subsequent

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through February 27, 2016, which is the date that the financial statements were available to be issued, for recognition or disclosure in our statutory statements. Effective as of February 2, 2015, the Company underwent a corporate organizational restructuring. BCBSNC now has three wholly-owned subsidiaries: Corium; Corium II; and NobleHealth, Inc. (“Noble”), formerly known as MHSI. Corium owns, operates, and manages financed office buildings of the Company. Corium II owns, operates, and manages unencumbered office buildings of the Company. Noble holds non-controlling strategic investments in certain health services companies and has three wholly owned subsidiaries: Mosaic Group; Mosaic Health Solutions, LLC (“Mosaic Health Solutions”); and Topaz. Mosaic Health Solutions has one wholly-owned subsidiary, ACS and also holds non-controlling strategic investments in certain health services companies.

In January 2016, in transitioning its 2016 individual book of business to a new operating system, the Company experienced several issues that have caused substantial customer dissatisfaction, numerous customer complaints, and inquiries from the North Carolina Department of Insurance and North Carolina Attorney General's office. The Company is proactively working with members, our vendors, and both of the regulatory agencies noted above, and the Company is using all available resources to address and correct all of these issues at the earliest possible date. However, it is too early to determine the total cost of remediation.

On January 1, 2016, the Company will be subject to an annual fee under section 9010 of the Affordable Care Act (ACA). This annual fee is allocated to individual health insurers based on the ratio of the amount of the entity's net premiums written during the preceding calendar year to the amount of health insurance for any U.S. health risk that is written during the preceding calendar year. A health insurance entity's portion of the annual fee becomes payable once the entity provides health insurance for any U.S. health risk for each calendar year beginning on or after January 1, 2016. As of December 31, 2015, the Company has written health insurance subject to the ACA assessment, expects to conduct health insurance business in 2016, and estimates their portion of the annual health insurance industry fee to be payable on September 30, 2016 to be $138,472,491. This amount is reflected in special surplus. This assessment is expected to impact risk based capital by a 4.3% reduction (or a decrease in RBC by 31 percentage points). Reporting the ACA assessment as of December 31, 2015 would not have triggered an RBC action level.

Cost containment expenses are included in the operating expense ratio and excluded from the medical loss ratio. Premium taxes are included in the operating expense ratio. Ratios and certain dollar amounts below were calculated based on amounts obtained from within the Annual Statement filing.
